The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library Act 1965, Section 30A, amended 1994. It includes New Zealand and Tokelau books, serials, newspapers, music, maps, videos, sound recordings, kits, and pictures. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The catalogue records produced meet international standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of January 2018. The items are grouped under the main subject schedules of the Dewey Decimal Classification system. Within each subject grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

Author  Zwier, Gerard, 1948- author.

ISBN  0473394197

Publishing Details  Matakana, Auckland, New Zealand : Awanui Publishing Limited, [2017]

Physical Details  239 pages ; 21 cm

Summary  "The traditional model of how the universe and life came about has some very serious gaps in it which many scientists of all persuasions tend to ignore. In my view, the idea of a physical reality being created out of nothing is a bizarre notion. Instead, I suggest that in contrast to an understanding of the world in which the evolution of Homo sapiens is almost incidental to 'the way things really are’, knowledge is always the product of a living entity and its perceived environment. This means that awareness, thinking and knowing things are not just the prerogative of human beings, but of all beings, whether they are micro-organisms or plants, trees, insects, fish or mammals. My conclusion is that all living beings have the ability not only to grow, metabolise nutrients and reproduce, but also to know the appropriate responses to problematic situations. We are all 'knowing beings' within our own reality"--Back cover.

Pursuing peace in Godzone: Christianity and the peace tradition / edited by Geoffrey Troughton and Philip Fountain.

ISBN 9781776561827

This is a book about peace; specifically, the ways that Christian communities have engaged with peacemaking in New Zealand. Following on from Saints and Stirrers, which examined Christian peacemaking and opposition to war in the period from 1814 to 1945, the focus of Pursuing Peace in Godzone is on the period from the Second World War to the present - the period in which New Zealand's peaceable image and reputation as 'God's Own Country' grew and flourished. Peace has motivated New Zealand Christians in compelling ways, resulting in some remarkable stories. Some of these stories, such as the protests against war, nuclear testing and the Waihopai surveillance base, have grabbed media attention and attained a degree of notoriety. Others, such as the efforts of various churches to heal rifts in their communities or aid those affected by conflict, have been virtually invisible to all but those most immediately affected. Taken together they reveal a multifaceted but deeply influential thread of Christian peacemaking within New Zealand culture."--Publisher information.

Branson with Lisa Morresey -- Penny Deane: transformative leader / Deborah Fraser -- "I wasn't really a decile 10 person": deliberate enactment of social justice leadership in a high-needs context / Michele Morrison -- In search of equity and excellence: a story of leadership from a rural school community / Mere Berryman and Zac Anderson -- When the odds are stacked against: leadership decisions that shift the odds / Jeanette Clarkin-Phillips -- Moriah Kindergarten: a turnaround leadership story from survival to success / Debbie Ryder -- Holistic leadership in a high-needs early childhood centre / Ross Notman -- Leading a school merger in a high-needs setting / Sylvia Robertson -- Transcending the personal and political: provocations / Michele Morrison, Ross Notman, and Rachel McNaee.

Summary "Early childhood and school leaders are key members of our society, charged with one of the most important roles we can give a profession—the education, achievement and care of our children and young people. This book presents 10 inspirational case studies of how centre leaders, principals and leadership teams in high-needs New Zealand educational settings have enacted leadership towards a more equitable and democratic society. These stories share experiences of challenging leadership in diverse urban and rural contexts across early childhood, primary, intermediate and secondary schools. The research base of this book is taken from an international 20-country research study into how "social justice" and "high needs" are defined in different countries and how we might better prepare educators to lead for social justice in an increasingly complex world. Typically, such needs are defined within the concepts of social/economic disadvantage and ethnic groupings; however, New Zealand findings showed the definition of high needs to be much broader than expected. This book is written for early childhood, primary, intermediate and secondary school leaders and teachers; providers of educational leadership professional programmes and tertiary courses; and education system leaders"—Back cover.

Summary "In 2012 the Riddet Institute introduced 'A Call to Arms', a strategy document for the New Zealand food industry, developed by a partnership between industry and academic independents. Four strategic directions for the industry were outlined in that document. One of them was: Develop value chains that enhance the integrity, value and delivery of New Zealand products and increase profits to producers, processors and exporters. This document addresses that strategy in terms of likely developments in digital technologies over the next 5-10 years"--Introduction.

Summary  This book begins with a review of New Zealand's trade aims and institutions and concludes with lessons for negotiators distilled from a half-century of successful trade diplomacy. New Zealand has been a leader in trade liberalisation since negotiating privileged entry to the European Economic Community in 1971. Its Closer Economic Relations link Australia in 1983 was the world's first and still best bilateral free trade agreement (FTA). This book traces New Zealand's successful FTA initiatives with Singapore, Malaysia, Brunei, Thailand, ASEAN, South Korea and Chile and its achievement of trade 'firsts' with China, Hong Kong and Taiwan. After reviewing New Zealand's participation in the World Trade Organisation, speculation is offered regarding seven pending FTAs, the suspended Trans-Pacific Partnership, and the prospective Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership."--Back cover.

Author  Hirsh, Walter, author.

ISBN  9780473397685

Edition  Second edition

Physical Details  142 pages : colour illustrations; 21 x 21 cm

Summary  "Wally (Walter) Hirsh O.B.E; JP is a keen potter, tramper, environmentalist, author, adventurer and tour leader. He has been an educator for most of his life but is probably better known in New Zealand for his work in the very high profile position of Race Relations Conciliator and Human Rights Commissioner. He has had a lifetime of involvement in ethnic affairs and community work and still, in his 80s, is a Trustee of several community based trusts. In association with his wife Adele, he still plans and leads educational travel tours for senior citizens, in New Zealand, Australia, The Pacific and South East Asia. Like so many people in this era Wally was encouraged to write his story. His has been a very diverse life. It began in Mönchengladbach in 1936, continued in Milton New Zealand from 1938 and has flourished in this land of milk and manuka honey ever since. In writing the story of his life, Wally acknowledges his many forebears who were denied the fulfillment of their lives in the worst chapter of man's inhumanity to man in our history, the Holocaust; while also writing of the energy put into rebuilding a united family spread over five continents. Wally and Adele live in Stonefields Auckland. They have three adult children and seven grandchildren, and a large extended family living in New Zealand, Australia, England, Scotland, the United States of America, Israel, France, and South Africa"--Back cover.

“This handbook engages key debates in Australian and New Zealand criminology over the last 50 years. In six sections, containing 56 original chapters, leading researchers and practitioners investigate topics such as the history of criminology; crime and justice data; law reform; gangs; youth crime; violent, white collar and rural crime; cybercrime; terrorism; sentencing; Indigenous courts; child witnesses and children of prisoners; police complaints processes; gun laws; alcohol policies; and criminal profiling. Key sections highlight criminological theory and, crucially, Indigenous issues and perspectives on criminal justice. Contributors examine the implications of past and current trends in official data collection, crime policy, and academic investigation to build up an understanding of under-researched and emerging problem areas for future research. An authoritative and comprehensive text, this handbook constitutes a long-awaited and necessary resource for dedicated academics, public policy analysts, and university students"--Back cover.

Summary  "This book is written for teachers of young children aged from 5 to 12 years in primary schools who want to support students' English vocabulary. Most of these children will be native speakers of English, although the increasing cultural and linguistic diversity of our communities suggests a significant number will be from homes where other languages are used dominantly, or at least interwoven with English. 'Knowing your learners' should underpin teachers' pedagogical decisions and the pathways of learning followed in the classroom. When learners are not native speakers of English—in the strict sense of using English as the only or dominant language in the family—this needs to be taken account of in approaches to develop learners' vocabulary knowledge. The book draws strongly on research, but it is written in a non-academic way so that teachers are given clear, direct advice on teaching vocabulary. Each chapter ends with a discussion of relevant and useful research so that teachers can read more deeply on topics that interest them. This book contains many resources for teachers, such as a Picture Vocabulary Size Test, ready-to-use activities for word consciousness-raising, and information about word parts"--Back cover.

Author  O'Dea, D. J. (Desmond James), 1942- author.

ISBN  0478296355 book

Summary  This report was commissioned by the Ministry of Health to inform discussion on the proposed New Zealand all-ages suicide prevention strategy 'A Life Worth Living'. It includes economic and non-economic costs, including services used in cases of suicide and attempted suicide, lost production from exit or absence from the workforce, lost years of disability-free life, and grief of family, whanau and friends. The report updates and extends the work undertaken by Coggan et al (1995) and cross-checks the results with the international literature. Approximately 500 New Zealanders commit suicide each year, and a substantial additional number attempt suicide or to otherwise harm themselves.

ISBN: 9780473374600

Physical Details: 1 volume (unpaged) : colour illustrations ; 25 cm

Language: In English with some Māori.

Summary: A retelling of the traditional story of Uenuku and Hine-pūkohurangi. Uenuku falls in love with Hine-pūkohuru-rangi, a beautiful mist maiden from the supernatural realm. He tries to contain her in the darkness of his house sealed with mud, but she escapes, and dissolves in the heat of the sun, to live in the sky forever. Uenuku ages and pines without her, until the gods take pity on him, and raise him to the sky, where he is reunited with his beloved. He cries with joy, and a rainbow appears from his tears.

Title: The extra mile : the first seventy years of Southern Transport / edited by Clive Lind ; with contributions by Ken Bell, Hamish Petrie and Simon Vincent.

Author: Lind, Clive A., author, editor.

ISBN: 9780473376529

Physical Details: 207 pages : illustrations (some colour) ; 30 cm

Summary: "Southern Transport was born out of financial necessity in 1946 when a timber company found itself in difficulties. It became the formidable business it remains today when 20-year-old Bill Richardson took charge in 1960. Seeking opportunities wherever they offered, by initiative, ingenuity and hard work, he built a transport company of such strength that it became the springboard for the formation of the HW Richardson Group. That, in turn, became one of New Zealand's largest privately-owned companies with a hugely diverse range of interests from the bottom of the country to the top, and across the Tasman as well. All that enterprise began with Southern Transport and the down-to-earth philosophy of its managing director, Bill Richardson, whose autobiography, Wheels and Deals, became a best-seller when published in 1999. Bill Richardson died in 2005 but he and the people who have run the company since lived by one indisputable truth. Great staff and the service they give make great companies or, as Southern Transport has shown, a willingness to go The Extra Mile. This is the inspirational story of the people who have proudly done that for the past seventy years"--Back cover.

Summary  "Many years after dreaming of a simple life close to the land, Marnie Rutherford finally took the plunge and bought a smallholding in rural New Zealand. The reality turned out to be more mud and cow poo than fluffy lambs and flower meadows, but the reward have been well worth the effort. Sometimes funny, sometimes sad, but always with a sense of a job well done, the stories in Over the Fence describe the ups and downs of learning to look after the land, the livestock and the garden, in an effort to find a more self-sufficient and satisfying way of living"--Back cover.

Physical Details  298, 20 unnumbered pages : colour illustrations ; 25 cm

Summary  "For many people, deciding what to eat is often filled with confusion, fuelled by temptation or convenience and leaves them begging the question, “So, what am I supposed to eat?” From knowing how much, what kind, to whether the latest food trend is ‘the one’ we need to follow, food has become overwhelming. And then there are those moments when you feel like no amount of food could satisfy your hungry heart. This book is a fork in the road when it comes to better understanding your food, your body, your appetite and what you are supposed to eat. Dr Libby pours her two decades of knowledge, research and clinical experience into comprehensive and easy to-read articles, step-by-step guides, worksheets and real-life examples"--Back cover.

Summary: "One of Aotearoa New Zealand's most perceptive artists, Laurence Aberhart is a photographer who makes images of the vanishing past in an accelerating world. It was Christchurch where he developed his eye for the scenes that later brought his work to international attention. These early photographs of ordinary suburban houses, abandoned shops, masonic lodges and long-lost fast-food joints--some of them now iconic, others unseen or little known--depict a city and a way of life that no longer exists. They also reveal a young artist training himself to see critical moments of transition in the everyday world around him, working his way slowly towards his big subject--the passing of time"--Publisher description.

Set in 1869, Te Kooti Arikirangi te Turuki is founder of the Ringatu religion and the commander of the deadliest Maori guerilla force of the nineteenth century. Te Urewera is the battleground: a wilderness of forest and bird, mountain and waterway. A war fought with a ruthlessness and ferocity that even Vietnam, one hundred years later cannot surpass. Kupapa warrior and colonist trooper pitted against Tuhoe toa and Ringatu land-grunt. Crow of Whareatua seeks to bring life to a one month period of a bitter four year war.

Summary  "This photobook portrays Kashgar, the westernmost city in China and once considered one of the best preserved examples of a traditional Islamic city in Central Asia. With a renewal project, a large portion of old houses have been replaced with new ones that just look sufficiently old to make a visitor feel in a fictional world of Kashgar's maze-like urban pattern with narrow alleyways and tunnels. This book offers a visual engagement with Kashgar in 13 sections, each with their own stories and themes based on a series of specific content ranging from historical architecture to people of Kashgar and from black-and-white urban scenes to 3D digital reconstructions"--Back cover.

Summary Wood carving is one of the supreme expressions of New Zealand identity. Beginning with carving's mythical origins, Te Toi Whakairo explores the evolution of styles and techniques through the four main artistic periods to the present day, and provides detailed explanations of carving styles in different parts of the country, using examples from meeting houses and leading artists. Later chapters delve into the main structures, forms and motifs, and the role of the woodcarver, and explore the status of the art in contemporary New Zealand. Practical guidance is given for use of materials, tools, techniques, surface and background decoration, the human figure, and carving poupou.

Summary  "Two Wings to Fly is an amazing sum of reflections, research and experiments in the field of education in art and creativity. When Alice Milne talks about education, instead of a step-by-step approach, she presents a holistic vision, not only of education, but also of organisation. When she speaks of art and creativity, she considers every aspect (physical, cognitive, social, ecological, spiritual, economic and community-building). She includes everyone involved in the educational process: students, tutors and administrators"--Front flap.

Summary  Victorian Vocalists is a masterful collection of biographies of some of the stars, secrets, and forgotten names of the British musical halls. Kurt Ganzl, among the world's leading authorities on popular musical theatre, paints a vivid picture of the world of Victorian musical theatre. Revealing the backgrounds, journeys, successes and sometimes misdemeanours of one hundred singers, this volume is not only an outstanding reference work for anyone interested in vocalists of the late 19th century, but also a compelling, meticulously researched chronicle of life on the Victorian stage.

Summary
Hupara were an important resource for ancient Maori which were utilised in social protocols, game play, skill, strength and conditioning exercises. They were also used by tribes in psychological healing practices and as spiritual sanctuaries. Because of their relevance today, in a world which is increasingly searching for alternatives to mining and fossil fuel-based products, hupara are enjoying a profound renaissance around the country in playgrounds, outdoor classrooms, and in recreation and leisure centres. Hupara are an important teaching resource which can inspire intellectual inquiry, create social harmony, encourage artistic expression, promote conservation, empower concepts of kaitiakitanga and augment physical education & wider school curricula development. "Te Mara Hupara" is ideally suited for educationalists, developers of parks and reserves, conservationists, promoters of Maori cultural heritage and provides teachers and students with power-packed information from which to develop cross-curricula studies through the arts, technology, maths, HPE, science and social studies.

Summary
Sir Richard Hadlee's father, Walter, captained the New Zealand Cricket Team on the 1949 Tour of England. This was the New Zealand team that prompted the rest of the cricketing world to sit up and take notice; enjoying great success, and promoting several players to world-class status. The Skipper's Diary brings to life again, not just the rich tapestry of post-war cricket in England, but also the adventure and experiences of a journey that included a match in occupied Germany, and a 36-day return voyage - taking the squad through the Panama Canal, into the Pacific Ocean and home via Pitcairn Island. In The Skipper's Diary, read about Walter's thoughts on team selection, from the controversy at home over the omission of Otago's George Mills, to the early tour concerns over the form of Bert Sutcliffe, and the decision to replace the well-performed Brun Smith with youngster John Reid for the third Test at Old Trafford. Enjoy Walter's accounts of meeting with royalty, the speeches he wrote for various VIP functions, and his post-tour reflections on each of the squad members. A man of detail, Walter also offers a sample of costs and expenditure of the time, and reveals the tour contract - signed by all team members before departure.

Summary: "Art director, Dani Barker, lives life on the edge and getting into a fight in a lesbian leather bar on a Friday night isn't an unusual occurrence. Camila Callaghan, finance director for a large company, feels satisfied with her life in most respects. She enjoys her job and thinks it's necessary to stay in the closet to maintain the position she's worked hard to achieve. When Dani and Camila meet, they both sense an attraction, but is it merely curiosity with each other's contrasting lives? Dani hopes that Camila can be the partner she has longed for since her earliest forays into SM. The boundaries of Camila's settled world start to blur as she questions her own feelings for Dani and what she represents. Will their differences make a long-term relationship achievable? A change of perspective for both women is needed if they are to reach this goal"--Back cover.

Summary  "Former rugby star Isaac Ngata was New Zealand’s golden boy until five years ago when a tragic accident took the life of his friend and team mate. Now he’s a pariah with a screwed up knee and a burden of guilt toward his friend’s wife and daughter. Best thing for him to do is sink into the anonymous safety of his hometown. An even better thing to do would be to stop picturing Natalie in his arms. For someone who doesn’t know a dummy pass from a drop kick, Natalie Fisher just wants to keep her late husband’s passion for sport in the past. But their teenage daughter’s rugby team is in desperate need of a coach and the man she can’t stand to be around has volunteered. A long buried attraction flares to life between Natalie and Isaac, one they can’t run far or fast enough to avoid. Soon rugby fever isn’t the only thing heating up Bounty Bay. Crossing the line never had such high stakes"--Back cover.

Summary Dr Augusta Stuart has devoted her adult life to supporting the mental health of disadvantaged children. A lonely move to head a new clinic in San Antonio prompts her to realize she should do something to build her own romantic well-being too. Her foray into the widely variable world of Internet dating contradicts her hopes of finding a reasonable happy-ever-after partner, so she lets a friend set her up instead. That date, with the very contrary Callia Alexana, proves to be the most vexing of all. Their prickly debates are somehow as unexpectedly fascinating as playing with matches, and Gus is forced to consider what preconceptions she is willing to burn to find true love. But will she get burnt instead?"—Back cover.

Summary: In the chaos of World War II, Polish teenagers Helena and Luzyna Grabowski have lost everything. Without parents or a home, they are shipped to a refugee camp in Persia, where the days ahead hold only darkness. When they hear that orphans are being selected for relocation to New Zealand, Helena is filled with hope, until the officials say they have a place only for her younger sister. On the morning she is to be transported, Luzyna fails to join the chosen group, and Helena takes her place. But the horrors of war, and her guilt at abandoning her sister, follow Helena on the journey across the sea, as a man from her past preys on her fear and remorse. Though the people in New Zealand embrace her, the traumas Helena has suffered threaten her peace and blind her to the devotion of James, a charming, heroic young Allied pilot. If Helena can let go and dare to hope again, she may finally step out of the long shadow of her past to find a future made whole, a new community, a new family, a new love.

Title  How is the river? : a Takaka Valley history / Jane McDonald.
Author  McDonald, Jane 1951- author.
ISBN  9780994123428
©2017
Physical Details  248 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm
Contents  The emigrants -- The journey to New Zealand -- A home by the river -- Early days in Massacre Bay -- A political voice -- George Sparrow, JP and coroner -- Country vet and stock inspector -- Keeping the faith -- The battle with nature -- The Takaka tramway -- Life in the valley -- Education and advancement -- Charlotte's diaries -- The sheep industry -- The marble industry -- Men at war -- The last years -- In their footsteps.
Summary  "When the Sparrow family landed at Waitapu in 1857 they camped under a tarpaulin and wondered what they had done. It took three days to reach their newly-purchased 300 acres of uncleared land, several more to build a first rough whare on it. The Takaka Valley was worlds away from their civilised home in England, but to university-trained veterinarian George Sparrow and his wife Harriet it offered a future for their three sons. Latin grammars were swapped for axes as the boys took on responsibilities beyond their years while George became active in public affairs and Harriet managed an isolated bush home. Floods and washouts were frequent, travel was weather-dependent and throughout the family's 160-year history in Golden Bay the big question was, 'How is the river?' This is the story of a district and its people told through family diaries and daybooks. It covers the rise and fall of the timber and marble industries, the development of farming, the exploration of the hinterlands, the building of homes, churches, roads and bridges, and the everyday lives and relationships of pioneer settlers in the Takaka Valley."--Back cover.

Author  Ruka, J. Jay, 1975- author.
ISBN  9781877487996
Physical Details  xvii, 180 pages : illustrations ; 20 cm
Summary  "Huia e huia, tangata kotahi! Huia, your destiny is to bring everyone together! Once the sacred guardian of New Zealand’s native forests, the huia was a symbol of the land’s unique beauty and spirituality. The rare bird’s tragic extinction in the early 1900s represents a shot to the heart of Aotearoa and is a potent metaphor for a country’s conflicted history. Using the story of the untimely extinction of the huia, Jay Ruka offers a fresh perspective on the narrative of Aotearoa; a tale of two cultures, warring worldviews, and the things we lost in translation. Revisiting the early missionaries, the transformative message of the gospel and the cultural missteps of the Treaty of Waitangi, Huia Come Home invites us to reconnect with the unique story offered by the indigenous Māori lens. In relearning the history that lies in the soil of Aotearoa, we might just find a shared hope for the future and a recovery of national treasures once thought to be extinct"--Back cover.

Author: Willoughby, Genevieve, 1951- author.

Physical Details: 255 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm

Contents: Stokes, Butler and Haast: Finding Mt. Cook -- The climbing vicar and other early explorers -- Huddleston's Hermitage: Building the first hotel -- Fyfe, Clarke and Graham: The race to the top -- Adventurous women, climbers and cyclists: The tourist age comes to Mount Cook -- Freda Du Faur -- Pursuing the tourist adventure: The Wigley vision -- The second Hermitage years -- The people's hut: Skiing and climbing at the Ball Hut -- The era of the great guides -- The third Hermitage years.

Summary: "This book brings to life the stories of those who lived and worked in the Mt. Cook area and explored the magnificent mountains surrounding it. The themes and issues that dominate the development of Mt. Cook are uncovered in the book. The mountains have great spiritual significance for Maori and the early trailblazers appreciated their grandeur and the challenges they presented. Life at the Top covers stories of the early explorers and their hair-raising adventures as they surveyed, photographed, mapped and climbed in the area. It also captures the stories of the settlers who struggled to eke out an existence in this inhospitable country. Early visitors returned home with tales of an extraordinary alpine wilderness. Transport links were soon developed as tourist numbers increased and the first Hermitage was built to cater for them. Over time, with more people arriving the need for better accommodation and infrastructure increased. Life at the Top describes the building of the three Hermitage hotels and tells the stories of those who worked or stayed there. Fascinating characters fill the book including the Reverend Green, who came all the way from Ireland in a failed attempt to conquer Mt. Cook. Women feature highly; the courageous Freda du Faur who against all odds became the first female to climb Mt. Cook, and Ruth Adams, who was the subject of a renowned rescue which took an exhausting week. The book outlines the dedicated work of the Graham and Wigley families who made a long-lasting contribution to climbing and tourism. Many of the stories told in Life at the Top are gathered from descendants of the pioneers and many of the photographs included are drawn from family archives. These stories, from the past and present, illustrate Mt. Cook's tremendous magnetism which, throughout the history of New Zealand, has brought people from all over the world."--Back cover.

Summary  "Phoney Wars looks at the lives of New Zealanders during the greatest armed struggle the world has ever seen: the Second World War. It is not a political, economic or military history; rather it explores what life was like during the war years for ordinary people living under the New Zealand flag. It questions the war as a story of ‘good’ against ‘bad’. All readers know that the Axis powers behaved ruthlessly, but how many are aware of the brutality of the Allied powers in bombing and starving ‘enemy’ towns and cities? New Zealand colluded in and even carried out such brutal aggressions. Were we, in going to war, really on the side of the angels? Contrary to the propaganda of the time – and subsequent memory – going to war did not unite New Zealanders: it divided them, often bitterly. People disagreed over whether or not we should fight, what we were fighting for and why, who was fighting, who was paying, and who was dying"--Back cover.

Zealand and emergence as a feted hero for every Auckland citizen, this gifted man has left a record unparalleled in any colonial settlement in New Zealand. His writings demonstrate his humanity, his adventurous spirit and his commercial abilities in adversity and good fortune. He always wrote with wit, grace and erudition but in a lively and most readable style. Over 300 paintings, engravings and photographs including rare works from the Cornwall Park Trust, Auckland Museum, Auckland Libraries and the Auckland Art Gallery. They follow Campbell's whole life from his childhood in Scotland, travel to Australia and New Zealand, his numerous trips to Europe and his final return to Auckland. Summary  "Bounded by the wild waves of the Pacific on the east, and the more sheltered harbour on the west, the Otago Peninsula is a remarkable landscape that has undergone dramatic changes since it first attracted human settlement. In The Face of Nature: An environmental history of the Otago Peninsula Jonathan West explores what people and place made of one another from the arrival of the first Polynesians until the end of the nineteenth century. The peninsula has always been one of the places in Otago most important to Māori. In 1844 they reluctantly agreed to split it with the British, but the land Māori retained has remained at the core of their history of the region. The British settlers divided their part of the peninsula into small farms whose owners transformed it from native forest into cow country that fed a booming Dunedin, at that point New Zealand's leading commercial city. This local history documents the rapid environmental change that ensued. It incorporates a rich array of maps, paintings and photographs to illustrate the making, and unmaking, of this unique landscape. In doing so it illustrates with the Otago Peninsula is an ideal location through which to understand the larger environmental history of the islands"--Jacket.

Summary "Ten years ago, a deadly virus wiped out the majority of the human race, with the exception of an unlucky few with a natural immunity to the plague. Sandy McDermott is one of them, a solitary survivor who has braved the last decade alone. Now, finally, she's found something she truly cares about. After years of loneliness, she has a new family. Just when things seem to be going so well, tragedy strikes again. Sandy is forced to make a decision that will affect her entire family, and perhaps humanity as a whole. Things can't continue the way they have been. Somehow, some way, they must find a way to rebuild"--Back cover.

Summary "As a child, Leon is found on the beach in the kingdom of West Axum after his father's failed raiding attempt. Sold into slavery and trained as a gladiator, he has become the champion of the city of Navio. With dreams of freedom and living a peaceful life with his lover, he finds himself in the deadliest fight of his life. His forbidden love has not gone unnoticed and will trigger a series of events that will throw the kingdom into chaos. His people are descended from the "god slayer" and his invincible berserkers who massacred the gods three thousand years ago. Leon has to fight an internal struggle as his ancestors' magic flows through his veins. What price will he and the ones he cares for have to pay for their freedom?"

Summary: "A heart prepared to die that has never lived or loved...Born with fragile health, Dawn Uxbridge has lived a sheltered existence. Her lonely days are filled by drawing fanciful landscapes and nurturing plants. When tragedy strikes, she finds herself alone and penniless with only one talent – a green thumb. Jasper, the Earl of Seton, is in need of a gardener to reclaim his derelict estate in the remote west of England. He expected a robust commoner, not a fragile young woman. With the next train a week away, Dawn has one chance to change the earl’s mind and earn her place. But all is not as it seems at the ancestral manor. The estate is full of secrets, ravens cluster on the parapets, and a ghostly young woman cries out at night. This garden conceals a rotten heart, and it plans to squeeze the last beat from Dawn’s..."--Back cover.

Laura and Eddie both resist being constrained by the timetables of office or school. They want the freedom to design their own days. Laura, an IT specialist, craves domesticity. Eddie resents being moved to High School in Wellington. Laura's husband, Matt, begins to behave curiously. Jim, a writer of sorts and a 'house-husband', meets Laura in the little park where they take their children to play. Their life in the park and in the neighbouring streets is enriched by an old man, Hugh, walking his dog. By the end of the year Laura's carefully woven routine has unravelled. He's London's ogre. Major Nicholas Reynolds returns from the Battle of Waterloo a hero. He's had enough of soldiering; all he wants now is a bride ... but his scarred face sends young ladies fleeing - literally. When a slip of her tongue brands the major an ogre - and his chances of marriage disintegrate - Isabella sets out to undo the harm she inadvertently caused. How better to revive the major's marriage prospects than for the two of them to indulge in a make-believe flirtation? They both know it's not real, so where's the danger? Summary "Many New Zealand men and women served in World War II. There were some however who refused to fight, believing it wasn't right to kill fellow human beings. They were called conscientious objectors and were treated harshly by the authorities and by the public, being sent to detention camps and, in some cases prison. Their families also suffered scorn. Joan Braddock examines what happened to one particular family. This is a fictional narrative strongly based on fact and personal information. It is a heart-rending eye-opening story set in 1942 at the height of the invasion scare"--Back cover.

Author Thomas, Julie, 1959- author.

ISBN 9781775540922

Projected Publication Date 1806

Physical Details pages cm

Summary "Levi's War follows on from The Keeper of Secrets and Rachel's Legacy, tracing the story of the eldest Horowitz son, Levi, who is smuggled out of Berlin to London the day after the Kristallnacht in 1938, where he makes the momentous decision to be parachuted back behind enemy lines where his musical skills see him playing the piano for Hitler before he escapes to Italy to join the Partisans, culminating in the vital role he plays in saving the Jews of Assisi. What family Levi Horowitz has left after the Holocaust assume that their silent observer spent WW2 interred in a camp for 'foreign aliens' on the Isle of Man and that his experience was so different from Simon's in Dachau, that shame kept him quiet. These assumptions could not be further from the truth. Enraged by what he sees The Third Reich doing to his homeland, Levi volunteers for a program that uses his language skills and his musical ability but demands tremendous courage. He is parachuted into Germany in late 1940 and becomes a trusted confidant to the Fuhrur and top Nazi officials. Risking his life every day, he sends coded messages back to his English spy masters. Life and his darkest secret intervene and he is forced to flee to Italy. There he joins a brigade of Partisans in the mountains before making his way south to become a lynch-pin in one of the most incredible true stories of the Second World War. This comes as a complete surprise to his surviving family, as does the way the British government want to honour him"--Publisher information.

Summary
"Tomorrow. For ten long years, that was a word that no one was willing to say. The virus took so many, and the few left behind lived a hollow life, scrounging in the ruins of a dead society. Now, that is finally beginning to change. More and more people are flocking to Sandy McDermott's banner, and with each new soul the group becomes stronger and more self-reliant. The virus still lingers, though. In the air, the water, the food they eat, and even inside their own bodies. Only their meagre immunity stands between them and the walking dead. They live with the constant fear that the virus could mutate at any time, or that their own children may not inherit the gene that grants them immunity"--Back cover.

Summary  "The world changed overnight. A deadly virus struck, killing billions outright and reducing many more to harmless, hapless zombies. Only a handful of unlucky souls were spared, thanks to a rare genetic immunity. Now, a decade after the virus devastated humanity, cities that once teemed with life are empty, the streets silent and crumbling. Those few who survived are alone in the world. Completely, utterly alone. Sandy McDermott is one of those survivors, a solitary woman alone in a world without rules. The last decade has not been kind to her. She struggles to balance the unbearable pain of isolation with the perils of this bold new world, without losing her humanity along the way"--Back cover.

Title  Telling the real story : genre and New Zealand Literature / Erin Mercer.
Author  Mercer, Erin, 1977- author.
ISBN  177656085X 9781776560851
Physical Details  386 pages ; 21 cm
Contents  'Back towards the middle-of-the-road' -- The 'Relentless "middling" of our literature' -- 'Manuka bushes covered with thick spider webs': Realism and Gothicism in Frank Sargeson and Katherine Mansfield -- Showing things as they really are: Realism and romance in John Mulgan's Man Alone -- 'Unrestrained exercise of personal fantasy': Women's writing, the melodramatic and the imaginary -- The 'provincial period': Realism, romance and the great unread New Zealand novel -- 'An inbuilt point of crisis': Breaking the restrictions of realism -- 'Something that described the real New Zealand': Keri Hulme's The Bone People and Witi Ihimaera's The Matriarch -- 'Maybe it would work in New York': The problems of place and genre -- 'Curnow's rundown homestead': Answering a realist tradition.
Summary  "Telling the Real Story interrogates the relationships between genre and New Zealand literature. What modes of writing have been deemed more appropriate than others at particular times, and why? Why have some narratives been interpreted as realist when significant aspects of them relate to genres such as romance, science fiction and Gothic? What meanings are generated by the meeting points in a text where one mode meets another? What is at stake in writing, for example, a New Zealand vampire novel or an art world thriller? By rereading canonical texts and exploring writers who have been sidelined for their use of non-realist elements, Telling the Real Story exposes the interplay of realism, Gothic, fantasy, romance and melodrama within New Zealand narratives and demonstrates that the apparently realist monolith of the national literature is infinitely more diverse and exciting than it may seem. Frank Sargeson, Sylvia Ashton-Warner, Keri Hulme, Elizabeth Knox and Eleanor Catton are among the major New Zealand writers whose work is seen in fresh and exciting ways"--Back cover.

Things go badly wrong from the outset. Shelley Hawthorne, a GCSB analyst, becomes aware of their activities and is intrigued. She discovers that a veteran CIA operative has arrived in the country and is looking for them. His intentions aren't good. A cat and mouse game ensues and Shelley finds herself increasingly entangled in the affair. In a desperate attempt to save themselves, they make contact with a splinter group of Anonymous, four slightly deranged geeks calling themselves The Wise Guys. Having made their fortune from crypto-currency mining, they have set up a para-military unit on a remote farm and have an arsenal of hi-tech weaponry at their disposal. Summary: "Emily Lewis lives in an extraordinarily beautiful place. Her family home looks on to dunes running down across the golden sand into a shore where gently rolling waves swing in melodically from the Pacific Ocean. Emily is instead drawn to the harbour hidden behind high-rises and multi-stories houses growing around the one tiny beach-side settlement. The waves of the open sea cannot wash away the secret Emily tries to hide in the mud of her life, until the truth surfaces when her mother is found with a knife in her back"--Back cover.

Physical Details: 354 pages ; 22 cm
Summary: "Jim Stevens is the principal of a successful tourist industry consulting business in New Zealand. He has worked hard and built success; that has left him as a single man in his mid-thirties, outwardly happy with his life. But, to date, he hasn't seriously considered his future. Short and unfulfilling romances were filling the gaps in his life that he hadn't realised existed until the business trip that was to change everything. Without warning, without premeditation, he stumbles into a life changing experience and a baffling mystery. The Painter is a story of lost and found, of the incredible yet credible, of sadness and of joy. A story of destiny"--Back cover.

Summary: "An Angel in the Undergrowth: The Rebirth is set in two conflicting realms, a Dark Realm and a Light Realm. Lucia Puccini is born a golden Angel and is part mortal and part mythical. Legend says Lucia's fate is that she will die, but her mother's beliefs differ and she gives her daughter to the undergrowth where she will be safe. Sixteen years later, Lucia is rebirthed and faces many challenges in adjusting to her new life. Chello Barleti is also mortal and mythical and is a guardian of the Dark Realms. His ancestors and family are trapped by a curse and to release the curse he must become a gothic knight. Chello lives in a 17th Century church ruin sanctuary where his ancestors and living family visit. Otto, an ogre and Chello's companion helps with the rebirthings and Chello's tasks. Mythicals living in the Dark Realm are given the opportunity to choose to live as a mortal on the Light side or remain as a mythical on the Dark side. If they stay there are rules and consequences if the rules are broken"--Back cover.

Contents To my room nineteen -- Where people are -- Wo de tian a! -- They say you're Japanese -- Everything congee -- My Korean is better -- It's late -- On the sliding rack -- And I leaned my head. I, too, had praise for your book -- Swooping down from the clouds -- Stock in trade -- Some notes on shopping and present giving -- A writing exercise -- 道 -- On the first day -- Nan Lian Garden -- What is it makes the stranger? -- Interference -- Walking the dark hall -- Of our lucky eight -- The Anthology of Women's Poetry -- Banquet -- Morning after: Morning before -- 101 snapshots.

Summary "As one of eight writers, poet Janet Charman was invited in 2009 to take part in a hectic, immersive literary residency in Hong Kong. Written out of this time of stimulating buzz, 仁 surrender chronicles the tensions, translations and literary crushes that ensue, with ever-present comedy. From this intense hothouse and these privileged constraints flow narrative poems that capture the creative and cultural dislocation of travel, with its petty irritants and constant surprises"--Back cover.

Summary  "Art director, Dani Barker, lives life on the edge and getting into a fight in a lesbian leather bar on a Friday night isn't an unusual occurrence. Camila Callaghan, finance director for a large company, feels satisfied with her life in most respects. She enjoys her job and thinks it's necessary to stay in the closet to maintain the position she's worked hard to achieve. When Dani and Camila meet, they both sense an attraction, but is it merely curiosity with each other's contrasting lives? Dani hopes that Camila can be the partner she has longed for since her earliest forays into SM. The boundaries of Camila's settled world start to blur as she questions her own feelings for Dani and what she represents. Will their differences make a long-term relationship achievable? A change of perspective for both women is needed if they are to reach this goal"--Back cover of print version.

<td>&quot;From war to economic collapse, the deaths of presidents and princesses to new waves of music, art, architecture and political ideas, the tumultuous events of the twentieth century all leave their mark in some fashion upon the house and the people who call it home. Unfolding within its rooms are lives of event and emotional upheaval. A lot happens. Meanwhile, a few meters away, another creature follows a different, slower rhythm. And beneath them all, the planet moves to its own immense geological time&quot;--Publisher information.</td>

| Summary                | "This photobook portrays Kashgar, the westernmost city in China and once considered one of the best preserved examples of a traditional Islamic city in Central Asia. With a renewal project, a large portion of old houses have been replaced with new ones that just look sufficiently old to make a visitor feel in a fictional world of Kashgar's maze-like urban pattern with narrow alleyways and tunnels. This book offers a visual engagement with Kashgar in 13 sections, each with their own stories and themes based on a series of specific content ranging from historical architecture to people of Kashgar and from black-and-white urban scenes to 3D digital reconstructions"--Back cover. |

Levi's War follows on from The Keeper of Secrets and Rachel's Legacy, tracing the story of the eldest Horowitz son, Levi, who is smuggled out of Berlin to London the day after the Kristallnacht in 1938, where he makes the momentous decision to be parachuted back behind enemy lines where his musical skills see him playing the piano for Hitler before he escapes to Italy to join the Partisans, culminating in the vital role he plays in saving the Jews of Assisi.

What family Levi Horowitz has left after the Holocaust assume that their silent observer spent WW2 interned in a camp for 'foreign aliens' on the Isle of Man and that his experience was so different from Simon's in Dachau, that shame kept him quiet. These assumptions could not be further from the truth. Enraged by what he sees The Third Reich doing to his homeland, Levi volunteers for a program that uses his language skills and his musical ability but demands tremendous courage. He is parachuted into Germany in late 1940 and becomes a trusted confidant to the Fuhrur and top Nazi officials. Risking his life every day, he sends coded messages back to his English spy masters. Life and his darkest secret intervene and he is forced to flee to Italy. There he joins a brigade of Partisans in the mountains before making his way south to become a lynch-pin in one of the most incredible true stories of the Second World War. This comes as a complete surprise to his surviving family, as does the way the British government want to honour him"—Publisher information.

Summary "A zoologist travels in Charles Darwin's footsteps, and in search of the meaning of life. In one of the most inhospitable places on Earth, zoologist Lloyd Spencer Davis comes face to face with an enraged leopard seal. Towering ice cliffs, a ferocious creature of the deep, and the extreme Antarctic environment all turn Davis's world view on its head. 'What the hell am I doing here?' This question sets Davis on a quest for insight and meaning in a world that still pitches theories of evolution against belief in a Creator; the science of natural selection against a faith that asserts our world was crafted by Intelligent Design"--Publisher information.

Summary: "This report covers seven claims in Muriwhenua, the country’s most northerly district ... Its southern end is fixed by a line from Whangape Harbour in the west to north of Whangaroa in the east, following the Maungataniwha Range. Since Māori hapū or tribes were not generally defined by land boundaries in the manner of states, and were mobile, this boundary is chosen for reasons of geography only. ... claims for the principal hapū aggregations of Ngati Kuri, Te Aupouri, and Ngai Takoto ... Te Rarawa ... Ngati Kuri ... ."— P. xix.

Summary  "Learn how to lead the way in your family without using fear or aggression. Find out how to be clear and calm, firm and yet fair in all your dealings with others. Learn how to be confident and sensitive to those around you, and how to make decisions for the good of everyone. As Dan says, this book is not rocket science, it's a very practical and straightforward book with clear examples and lots of anecdotes that will change the way you think about your interactions with your children and, in fact, any other people."--Publisher's description.
