The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library (Te Puna Mātauranga o Aotearoa) Act 2003. It contains New Zealand and Tokelau resources, both physical and digital, including books, serials, newspapers, maps, music, websites and podcasts. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The records are created in accordance with international cataloguing standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of Feburary 2021. The items are grouped by format and then separated into digital and physical. Within each format grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

<td>&quot;Change Maker was formed by a group of friends seeking meaningful employment and a better life. We are Janie, Nathan, Neville and Cameron and we are people with varied abilities. We are also people with a whole lot of passion for beer; making it, drinking it and sharing it. We don’t pretend to be master brewers. We have passion but not expertise. So we have partnered with award winning breweries to create exciting limited edition beers that we know you will love. We want to share our passion for beer with the world, both brewers and yourself get to experiment, play, taste and explore. Change Maker is our aspiration - the creation of world class beer, making life a whole lot better for us, and for you&quot;--about page.</td>

Title  Husna's story / my wife, the Christchurch Massacre & my Journey to forgiveness / Farid Ahmed ; read by Hazem Shammas.

Creator  Ahmed, Farid, 1962-

Publishing Details  [Tullamarine, Victoria, Australia] : Bolinda Audio, [2020]

Format  9 CDs (approximately 10 hr., 25 min.) : digital ; 12 cm

Summary  "Husna's Story is written by Husna's husband Farid Ahmed. They were praying at El Noor Mosque in Christchurch when a gunman burst in and shot and killed 51 people and injured many others in a terrorist attack. This book tells Husna's story, describing the day of the attack - in all of its normal, mundane detail up until the tragedy, and then the horrendous tragedy of what followed. Interwoven with this is the story of Husna's life, telling of the selflessness and bravery with which she lived her life. As well as looking after her paraplegic husband, Husna was an important member of the community, helping women when they were giving birth, running classes for children and helping many others. Her last selfless act was going back into the mosque to look for her husband on that fateful day. She had already led the other women and children to safety. Tragically she was shot. Husna's husband, Farid Ahmed, quite incredibly, forgives the alleged killer. His remarkable philosophy of forgiveness, peace and love is an example of how religion and faith, through personal application, can be a tool for navigating the most horrific of tragedies"--Publisher's description.

Title  Automatic fire sprinkler systems.
Creator  Standards New Zealand.
ISBN  9781776860302 print
9781776860319 PDF
Format  1 online resource : illustrations
Summary  "NZS 4541 provides an integrated set of rules for the design, installation, and maintenance of sprinkler systems, so that systems reliably protect against the loss of life and minimise property damage from fire by controlling the fire: within a specified area, and to allow escape before levels of toxic by-products of combustion become life-threatening. This standard is used extensively across the fire protection industry. New Zealand has one of the highest recorded successful operations of fire sprinkler systems, which can be attributed to the rigorous standards and associated legislation to which systems are installed and maintained. The revised standard addresses the following areas: Fire protection of tall (>25 meters) and large (>11,000 square meters) buildings, Seismic restraint of pipework to align with NZS 1170.5 Structural design actions; Part 5 Earthquake actions - New Zealand, Inclusion of new technologies for car stackers and in-rack sprinkler systems for warehouses, editing of the standard and inclusion of the errata collected since the last revision in 2013.--Publisher description.

Summary  "Within this series of books Astro-photography and astro-theology we reveal ancient mysteries. The purpose is to convince the reader the metaphysical expansion exists within the universe. By providing this evidence we identify this reality as Fringe reality theory. In this work we use the telescope images to attempt to discover the lost Rock of Mithra. In our journey of discovery, we hope to identify ancient Mithraic culture and to quantify and confirm the lost rock of Mithra has been correctly identified"--Page 4.

Summary "On a beach clean-up, thirteen-year-old Charlie and his brother, Robbie, find a ponaturi, a mermaid, washed up on a beach. An ancient grudge between the Māori gods Tane and Tangaroa has flared up because a port being built in the bay is polluting the ocean and creatures are fleeing the sea. This has reignited anger between the gods, which breaks out in storms, earthquakes and huge seas. The ponaturi believes Charlie is the only one who can stop the destruction. So begins Charlie's journey to find a way to reunite the gods and discover why he is the one for the task"--Publisher information.

Title Evaluation indicators for ECE reviews : ERO’s conceptual framework: Ngā Pou Here, a commentary from a Pacific perspective: te pou matauranga me tikanga whakaako / Dr Ali Glasgow ; prepared for the Education Review Office.
Creator Glasgow, Ali.
Format 1 online resource
Summary "The purpose of this commentary is to provide a Pacific perspective on how ERO’s Ngā Pou Here Framework and indicators, particularly as they relate to the Pou Mātauranga and Tikanga Whakaako, could be revised. Drawing on the research evidence, I begin by discussing the conceptual framework, noting the cultural connection between Māori and Pacific values and knowledge in the Ngā Pou Here model. I then provide background context to the wider issues of Pacific education"--Introduction.

Facial recognition technology in New Zealand: towards a legal and ethical framework / Nessa Lynch, Liz Campbell, Joe Purshouse, Marcin Betkier.

Summary

"We are a project team with extensive expertise in the theory and practice of biometrics, data privacy and state surveillance, with established collaborative relationships and a track record of impactful co-authored publications. Our experience extends to bridging the gap between academic scholarship and policy and practice, including comparative insight into ethical issues, governance and regulation in this space. The methodology for this project used a combination of literature review, legal reasoning, analysis of theoretical frameworks and stakeholder consultation and interviews to produce an accessible but insightful analysis of the use of FRT in New Zealand, the risks and benefits of the technology, and the options for regulation, governance and oversight"—Introduction.

Summary When the serial killer Casper Caruso, known as The Ghost of East Texas, was sent to death row, Agent Blair Cooper was adamant that there were more victims of his killing spree. As his execution day approaches, Casper reaches out to Blair. If she agrees to a face-to-face meeting, he will give the whereabouts of 10 additional bodies left in his wake. Is his request an act of remorse for his ruthless killings, or is there something sinister lurking in his dark mind? Blair and Tally must piece together the clues to bring closure for some of the victim’s families. However, when you bargain with the devil, there is always a price to be paid

"Ten days after the devastating attack of 15 March 2019, the Government announced that a Royal Commission of Inquiry, generally reserved for matters of the gravest public importance, would be established to investigate and report on what had happened. The terrorist attack was carried out by Brenton Harrison Tarrant, who has since been convicted of terrorism, the murder of 51 people and attempted murder of 40 people. He is now serving a sentence of life imprisonment without parole. We generally refer to him in our report as "the individual". His name will not appear again. The Terms of Reference set by the Government directed us to investigate three broad areas - the actions of the individual, the actions of relevant Public sector agencies and any changes that could prevent such terrorist attacks in the future. This required a detailed, forensic examination of evidence. It also led us to expansive thinking about the systems and institutions set up to protect and connect New Zealanders"--Executive summary.

Part 1 of this report presents the new evidence gathered, in addition to the insights from the first report, that led us to our conclusion. We used the insights generated in report one to inform a second round of interviews with a new group of whānau, as well as midwives, community support people, and Oranga Tamariki staff. We also deepened our understanding of the data and conducted an environmental scan of relevant rangahau and mātauranga Māori (research and indigenous knowledge). Publishing Details [Auckland] : [AIS St Helens, Centre for Research in International Education], 2005.

Series Research paper series (AIS St Helens (Organisation). Centre for Research in International Education) ; no. 10.
Summary "This paper explores the concept of learning strategies through a prototype perspective. It is argued that “learning strategy” is not a clearly definable concept, because strategies differ from each other in terms of “family resemblance” or “graded degrees of membership”. The prototypical core of a strategy is a dynamic process with problem solving as its central aim. It involves selective attention, analysis of task, choice of decisions, execution of plan, monitoring of progress and/or modification of plan, and evaluation of result. A strategy varies in terms of prototypicality along the following dimensions: 1) intentionality, 2) self-initiation, 3) metacognitive regulation, 4) sequentiality of activities, 5) chunking of activities, and 6) automaticity in strategy execution. In addition, a “learner-task-context-strategy” framework is presented to provide the “learning” dimensions of learning strategies. It is hoped that the perspectives presented in this article will open up a new agenda on language learning strategy research"--page 1.

<td>&quot;In a small village, there are whispers in the market square that William is not who he says he is. They say he skinny-dips and talks to trees. He was once a doctor, but now he only prescribes books -- for Emily, Marco and James, whose lives have become entangled with his. Emily is in a troubled relationship and has spent most of her life sheltering in the library. James is coming undone as he struggles to live up to his father's expectations. While Marco, who measures his self-worth by the size of his bank account, has returned to the village with nothing. They have all been thrown into a liminal space and can no longer stay as they are. This is a tale about the power of stories -- especially the ones we tell ourselves&quot;--Publisher's website.</td>

Subject "It's the last hoorah for the Harpy, but things are looking pretty grim. With near to a thousand sleek-looking alien battleships massing beyond the Belt, Kael and the crew have a fight on their hands. But when an opportunity presents itself for an infiltration of the alien space station producing the drones bombing Zenthian planets, Kael dons his Deep Space Operative hat again and does what he does best. Blowing things up with a little help from his friends. Outgunned and outnumbered, facing two wars on two different fronts, and a courting process that includes a fight to the death; you'd think Kael would have enough to worry about. But there's something else. Zentia's past is coming back to haunt it, and their ghosts aren't opposed to using whatever they need to achieve their objectives — including New Earth. Either Kael and his crew come up with a miracle to stop one war and win the other. Or all is lost. No one ever said life in the stars would be easy, but does it have to be this hard?"--Publisher's description.

Summary "Anna takes us on a walk through the Bible, alert to the mentions and glimpses of the Holy Spirit along the way. She considers what it means to be three-in-one, and how we experience the divine presence in Father, Son and Holy Spirit — but though it has real depth of reflection, this book is not hard work to read. Anna's special gift lies in helping us see how daily life and family relationships are alight with the loving presence of God. The world shines with the beauty of creation, and love watches over us everyday"--Page 7.

Summary
"The superwoman survival guide is a guide to surviving your own expectations. Learning to overcome overwhelm, balance our busy lives, believe in our own abilities and understand how to be amazing, just as you are. This book is not about changing who you are it's about changing the way you think about who you are. Freeing yourself from the pursuit of a superwoman ideal that's unrealistic and is making so many of us unhappy. This sense of not measuring up, the need to be more and do more keeps us constantly striving for something that'll always be out of reach – it exists only in the movies. It's what I refer to as the superwoman complex"--https://www.jessstuart.co.nz/superwoman.

Summary  This report, the Roadmap for Action, is the final work product of Aotearoa New Zealand’s Sustainable Finance Forum (SFF). This report represents the collective, and voluntary, efforts of the SFF undertaken from January 2019 to November 2020. It complements and builds on the SFF’s Interim Report, which was published in October 2019. Taking rapid action on this Roadmap for Action strategically positions Aotearoa New Zealand both domestically and internationally, where international markets are rapidly embracing similar recommendations. Implementing this Roadmap for Action will enable Aotearoa New Zealand to maintain our global reputation and market presence”--Page 3.

Format 1 online resource
Summary Te Mana o te Wai refers to the vital importance of water. When managing freshwater, it ensures the health and well-being of the water is protected and human health needs are provided for before enabling other uses of water. It expresses the special connection all New Zealanders have with freshwater. By protecting the health and well-being of our freshwater we protect the health and well-being of our people and environments. Through engagement and discussion, regional councils, communities and tangata whenua will determine how Te Mana o te Wai is applied locally in freshwater management.

Summary  "The purpose of this evidence brief is to provide a description of ‘therapeutic care’ and outline essential aspects of the therapeutic care environment. This includes evidence and insights across several related therapeutic care levels (settings, models, and interventions). This evidence brief does not attempt to gather all the available evidence on therapeutic interventions to assess their effectiveness. Rather, it starts with a fundamental question: what is common to good practice therapeutic care?"--Page 6.

Summary  Thirteen days is a first-hand account of 13 days working in the Kaikoura Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) immediately after the November 2016 Kaikoura, New Zealand magnitude 7.8 earthquake. This book presents a unique and often humorous, behind the scenes story of the human dramas, events and rapid-fire decisions from within the emergency response. Written as an eye witness account, Thirteen Days will leave readers fascinated and enthralled, not only at the workings of emergency management, but at the real life events and incidents that could normally only be scripted in a block buster movie. The book provides a window into the multi-agency, national response that spanned military, emergency services, volunteers, and a fleet of air support. The lessons learned in the Kaikoura earthquake went on to help shape New Zealand's national response to the COVID 19 pandemic.

Summary
"When the Canterbury Earthquakes destroyed their city, Natalie and her friends were only ten years old. Too old to forget, but too young to be heard, they have never told their stories. Until now. Ten years after the earthquakes, Natalie returns to her home town with a plan. To show how the earthquakes shaped her generation, she wants to curate her fellow students' stories into a special edition of the student magazine. Her project is well-received by all, but one: her self-proclaimed nemesis Josh. From the start, Josh goes out of his way to get the project cancelled. Natalie is determined to see her vision through, yet when she finally uncovers the reason behind Josh's actions, she finds herself questioning everything she's been working towards."--Publisher information.

Title: What drives learning in the senior secondary school?
ISBN: 9780478438772 online
Format: 1 online resource
Summary: "The scope of the findings is limited to identifying how secondary schools provide a coherent senior curriculum and the steps taken to align NZC and NCEA. This report describes the practice in the schools visited by ERO. The findings about these schools contribute to the wider review of NCEA. This report provides examples of how the vision, policy, structures and curriculum provision of these schools have aligned with the requirements of NZC. It considers how these schools developed their curriculum and the extent to which they have balanced assessment requirements at the senior level with the requirement to implement NZC"--Page 6.

Title  Year 9 Plus : 2016 – the first year (Year 9).

Format  1 online resource

Summary  "Year 9 Plus is an educational concept developed by the Ministry of Education (the Ministry) to improve the chances of educational success of one cohort of participating students, and better their future life opportunities. A champion, employed by the Ministry and with strong contacts in the local community, works alongside each student and their whānau, to support them and their school in actions aimed at keeping them at school, and progressing and achieving. Champions’ support for participants started early in 2016 and continues while the student is enrolled in secondary schooling in the Wairoa/Gisborne/East Coast region ... The report discusses the influence that the champions have had on these students first year at secondary school, and the lessons that can be taken from this concept trial to improve schools’ responsiveness to similar students in the future."--Executive summary.

Edition  [Second edition].
Publishing Details  [Kerikeri] : Ross Lockyer, [2020]
Format  252 pages : illustrations (some colour) ; 21 cm
Summary  "It is 1961 in Taranaki, New Zealand. A naïve teenager, Ross Lockyer leaves school with no idea what he wants to do with his life. He only knows that the outdoors is his element, and that he feels truly at home in his own skin when he is hiking, hunting, fishing, and trapping in the back of beyond. A chance newspaper advertisement and the persuasion of a friend who recognises that Ross was never made for a life in an office launch Ross into a career that will take him through many adventures over four decades, through 42 countries, and innumerable close shaves. An Accidental Bushman sometimes reads like a hilarious instruction book of what not to do, with many of Ross’s ill-fated adventures stemming from what simply seems like a good idea at the time-like his disastrous introduction to boating with no experience, no safety gear, and ultimately no working engine! Ross makes a habit of crashing vehicles, manufactures cyanide possum bait (and lives to tell the tale), gets seriously lost in the bush, spends a night in a haunted hut, gets marooned on an island amidst swirling floodwaters, contracts hypothermia, and survives some memorable culinary disasters. It’s clear that without his uncanny knack of always falling on his feet, Ross wouldn’t be with us to tell these stories today. Ross also shares yarns of the colourful bunch of larrikins with whom he trained, worked, and socialised, regaling us with tales of interrupted trysts, foul revenge, forest fires, thieving wildlife, crippling hangovers, poaching, parties, and motorised mayhem. In An Accidental Bushman (the prequel to Cannibals, Crocodiles and Cassowaries, published in 2019), Ross tells about how it all came to be-and about some of the incorrigible hard-cases, precarious predicaments, and hair-raising exploits that shaped his training and early career as a Forest Ranger in New Zealand. Ross has a way of telling a story that draws you into the moment and sweeps you along with the action. There are plenty of laughs (some at Ross’s expense) and enough scrapes and shenanigans to make you wonder how Ross ever survived to write the book! Settle in for another book of rip-roaring adventures that’s as hard to put down as the last one!"–https://www.rosslockyer.co.nz.

Summary  "During the [Khmer Rouge] regime, precious objects were closely guarded out of fear. Some were wrapped in plastic and buried underground, others were carefully hidden within household utility objects like pots or kettles, in the hope that they would not be found until reaching safety. Alive is an ongoing project by Cambodian artist Kim Hak that brings these objects into close view, exploring the stories of conflict and personal tragedy they carry with them. For the project Hak, who is based in Phnom Penh, met 12 families who came to New Zealand as refugees in the 1970s and 1980s. He documented the objects that travelled with them as they moved through border camps, refugee centres and ultimately as they settled to start new lives in Auckland ... This exhibition is the third iteration of Alive with previous chapters shown in Cambodia and Australia"--Objectspace website.

Format: 90 pages : illustrations ; 30 cm.

Series: Phytotaxa ; 412.

Summary: "Abstract: The Majella National Park is located in Abruzzo region (Central Italy) and covers an area of 740 Km2. An updated checklist of the vascular plants growing in the park is here presented on the basis of extensive field surveys carried out from 1982 to 2018, analysis of relevant literature and review of herbarium specimens kept in APP, FI, NAP, RO, and Herb. Magellense. The park's flora amounts to 2,286 specific and subspecific taxa (including 11 hybrids), belonging to 118 families and 694 genera. According to our results, 201 taxa are endemic to Italy; 136 taxa are reported for the first time in the park, of which two taxa are new for Abruzzo region; 73 taxa have not been confirmed in recent times and 42 are doubtfully occurring taxa. The Park represents the southern or northern border of their Italian distribution of 137 taxa. Moreover, Poa ligulata is confirmed for the flora of Italy. The non-native flora amounts to 110 taxa. The number of taxa recorded in the Majella National Park is one of the highest in a protected area within the Mediterranean Basin. Keywords: Abruzzo, conservation, endemics, hotspot, taxonomy, vascular flora"--Page 3.

Summary  "For the first time, New Zealand's most popular cookbook author writes about her remarkable life and how food has shaped it, highlighting some of the recipes that have resonated most strongly with her over the years. From her childhood fascination with cooking to a teenage flirtation as a Maoist hippie, to possum trapping and living off the land as a hunter and forager, to travelling and starting her own croissant business in Brazil, Annabel's life has always been centred on food and nature. Out of this came an obsession with creating cookbooks, introducing a generation of cooks to her simple recipes for delicious, stylish meals. Annabel has lived a huge and varied life, and she writes vividly about her many adventures. From throughout this rich life in food she has chosen 60 key recipes, created with her signature style and flair that make cooking easy for everyone, sharing them in this beautifully photographed book"--Back cover.

Summary "In 1981, a group of people in Glen Eden, Auckland, began to talk about something positive they could do to meet the needs of their community. One idea was to establish a drop-in centre in the dilapidated local railway station which they were able to rent for a dollar a year. This is the story of a 30-year journey of adventure that began with a small group of people, a one-dollar note, and a vision and passion to do something positive within the Glen Eden community. It is a journey of many small steps that have culminated in a multi-million-dollar Trust that has been used to transform the lives of individuals and whanau throughout New Zealand, and continues to thrive today. It is the story of the VisionWest Community Trust" --Publisher description.

Format  234 pages : illustrations ; 21 cm

Summary  "Does your child have dyslexia? Backed by research and over a decade of personal experience, I've developed a holistic approach to help your child succeed. In my forties, while helping my dyslexic son, I discovered I wasn't a lousy speller - I also had dyslexia. I imagine dyslexia as a huge octopus exhibiting eight areas of difficulty: reading, listening, spelling, writing, memory, motor control, spatial issues, and the frequently overlooked social challenges. I will show you how to keep your child safe, improve their health and help them develop their unique talents. Uncover the links between dyslexia and common health conditions. Access tools to teach your child: reading, spelling and mastering their multiplication tables. Understand other learning challenges commonly found alongside dyslexia. Discover ways to prevent bullying and abuse. Learn how to build on your child's strengths and competencies. I'll share the secrets on how to thrive, uncovered by a groundbreaking twenty-year study on living with learning difficulties. And I'll include case stories of famous people who overcame their dyslexia. Join my octopus wrestling team as we tackle dyslexia together"--Publisher's description.

Title Ngā kete mātauranga : Māori scholars at the research interface / edited by Jacinta Ruru + Linda Waimarie Nikora.
ISBN 1988592550
9781988592558 paperback
Format 303 pages : colour illustrations ; 27 cm
Summary
"In this beautiful and transformative book, 24 Maori academics share their personal journeys, revealing what being Māori has meant for them in their work. Their perspectives provide insight for all New Zealanders into how mātauranga is positively influencing the Western-dominated disciplines of knowledge in the research sector. It is a shameful fact, says co-editor Jacinta Ruru in her introduction to Ngā Kete Mātauranga, that in 2020, only about 5 percent of academic staff at universities in Aotearoa New Zealand are Māori. Tertiary institutions have for the most part been hostile places for Indigenous students and staff, and this book is an important call for action. 'It is well past time that our country seriously commits to decolonising the tertiary workforce, curriculum and research agenda,' writes Professor Ruru."--Back cover.

Title  The ever present challenge / Ron and Ngaire Rowe.
Creator  Rowe, Ron.
ISBN  9780473547592 paperback
Format  172 pages : colour illustrations ; 21 cm
Summary  "Every day we learn of yet another inspirational action taken by a volunteer or volunteers confirming again the enormous value of the volunteer both through their physical, humanitarian actions and their philanthropic contribution of Time, Talent, Ability, Skills and Knowledge for the Greater Good of theirs and our communities. All parts of society would falter without the selflessness and generosity of the massive contribution from the volunteer sector. Recent research by Volunteering New Zealand confirms the very real need for a resource to assist and support both Leaders and those in the volunteer sectors, now and into the future. The primary focus of 'The Ever Present Challenge' is to provide a practical readily useable resource for the very large volunteer and charitable Not for profit, Non-Government Organisations sectors in Aotearoa - New Zealand. Title  Every day a picnic in the bush / John Gilbert.
Creator  Gilbert, John T. E.
ISBN  0473471167 paperback
9780473471163 paperback
Publishing Details  Lower Hutt : JGA Holdings Ltd., [2019]
Format  204 pages : illustrations (some colour) ; 26 cm.
Summary  "An entertaining and fast-paced collection of stories from John Gilbert's life. It paints a picture of growing up in Nelson and the West coast of the South island in a family situation that was different from the other kids in the neighbourhood - but never explained. Against the backdrop of the economic and social challenges facing New Zealand since World War II, John recounts tales from his early life in forestry, followed by stories from his later career in environmental projects here and abroad. The importance of family is a central theme - and the uncovering of a long-standing mystery. Told with a wry sense of humour, John's stories reflect the typical Kiwi can-do attitude, which makes the most of even the tricky situations and events in life"--Back cover.

"David, having been delivered by God from a host of enemies, records this reassuring description of God: "The LORD is my rock ... God gives us in Christ the same unshakeable compassion and grace, but in the face of the doubts and fears with which Satan and our own flesh assail us, and with Scripture and sound doctrine undermined from so many quarters, these are verses I return to over and over again to find assurance, comfort and peace. This is a message we need to repeat to ourselves and to our fellow believers daily!"--Title page verso.

Summary  "Ko tō tātou kāinga tēnei is a comprehensive response to the Royal Commission's Terms of Reference. The report was presented to the Governor-General on 26 November 2020. The Minister of Internal Affairs presented the report to Parliament on 8 December 2020. The title Kō tō tātou kāinga tēnei means 'This is our home'. This title represents an inclusive New Zealand, welcoming of people of all ethnicities and backgrounds"--Publisher description. "Ten days after the devastating attack of 15 March 2019, the Government announced that a Royal Commission of Inquiry, generally reserved for matters of the gravest public importance, would be established to investigate and report on what had happened. The terrorist attack was carried out by Brenton Harrison Tarrant, who has since been convicted of terrorism, the murder of 51 people and attempted murder of 40 people. He is now serving a sentence of life imprisonment without parole. We generally refer to him in our report as "the individual". His name will not appear again. The Terms of Reference set by the Government directed us to investigate three broad areas - the actions of the individual, the actions of relevant Public sector agencies and any changes that could prevent such terrorist attacks in the future. This required a detailed, forensic examination of evidence. It also led us to expansive thinking about the systems and institutions set up to protect and connect New Zealanders”--Executive summary.

Creator Finlayson, Christopher.
ISBN 9781775506157 hardback
Projected Publication Date 2105
Format pages cm
Summary "Between 2008 and 2017, an unprecedented number of Treaty of Waitangi settlements were completed with iwi and hapū across New Zealand. As Minister for Treaty of Waitangi Negotiations, Christopher Finlayson led this work on behalf of the Crown. In doing so, he gained unique insights into the elements of successful negotiations and developed ground-breaking legal innovations that enabled settlements to be reached. In He Kupu Taurangi, the authors tell the story of the challenges and successes of New Zealand’s Treaty Settlements project. They cover themes including apologies, financial and cultural redress, natural resources, co-governance and the establishment of legal entities. They pay particular attention to the landmark Whanganui River and Ngāi Tūhoe settlements, which have become internationally recognised. Finally, the authors look ahead to consider how to ensure Treaty settlements last the distance and what the next steps are in the Treaty relationship between Māori and the Crown"--Publisher information.

Summary  "Oh Christ, a bloody 1/2 witted student, for purposes of an essay, has just come in to ask me what I and Baxter write verse for, and if we mean what we say, or is there something deeper; could we write better verse in England, or here; or do the critics and professors just read a lot into what's said that isn't there? So much. And I have been very rude indeed. - Letter to John Reece Cole, 16 August 1949 Nothing about this excerpt from a letter by Denis Glover will surprise anyone who knows him by reputation. He - and his letters - could be witty, intelligent, alarmingly frank and frequently highly entertaining. A widely admired poet, honoured naval commander, gifted printer and typographer, Denis Glover was founder of the Caxton Press in Christchurch. For 15 years from 1935 he directed a publishing programme that did much to define New Zealand literature for its day, and for much of the rest of the century. His literary work was suspended for war service in the New Zealand Division of the Royal Navy, during which he earned a DSC for his activities in the Normandy landings. But he was also a serial philanderer and prodigious drinker, and his private life increasingly disintegrated around him, more and more publicly. And yet his energy as a correspondent appeared never to wane, and almost to the end he confided openly, prolifically and entertainingly to hundreds of acquaintances and confidants. In this magnificent volume Sarah Shieff presents around 500 of Glover's letters to around 110 people, drawn from an archive of nearly 3000 letters to over 430 recipients. Many now recall Glover as little more than a misogynistic old fart, a court jester.
These letters should give readers the opportunity to revise - or at least complicate - those dismissive categorisations."--Nationwide Books Distributors website.

Summary  "The food we eat, the clothes we wear, the stuff we buy, the waste we create - how we consume is having a massive impact on our own wellbeing, and the wellbeing of the planet. How do you reduce your impact when you don’t want to compromise your lifestyle? How do you live lighter when you’re juggling the motherlode of life? How can you become more mindful of your consumption habits? In a previous career, Nicola Turner’s job was to understand shopper behaviour and convince us to buy more. After a personal journey to live more sustainably, she now uses this insight to help us consume less. With her unique ability to keep it real, Nicola shares how her family of four now lives with less stuff, less waste and less impact. It’s made life simpler, saved heaps of time and money and created a healthier, happier family. Filled with actionable ideas and practical hacks, Living Lightly is for everyday people who want to simplify their life and reduce their impact but feel they’re just too damn busy. It's all about making simple changes that work for you – and not letting perfect get in the way of good"--Publisher information.

Title  Te Mahi Oneone Hua Parakore = a Māori soil sovereignty and wellbeing handbook / edited by Jessica Hutchings and Jo Smith.

ISBN 9780473516192 paperback

Format  187 pages : colour illustrations ; 25 cm

Language  In English with some Māori.

Summary  "Soil health and security are key components of our wellbeing. Even so, soil is faced with many environmental challenges under the current iteration of capitalism. A paradigm shift is needed to encourage care for this resource. In te ao Māori, soil is taonga. It is also whanaunga – it holds ancestral connections and is the root of tūrangawaewae and whakapapa. It is the source of shelter, kai and manaakitanga. Te Mahi Oneone Hua Parakore: A Māori Soil Sovereignty and Wellbeing Handbook shines a light on Māori relationships with soil, as well as the connections between soil and food security, and frames these links within the wider discourse of tino rangatiratanga from a variety of Māori perspectives. Through a range of essays, profiles and recipes, it seeks to promote wellbeing and elevate the mana of the soil by drawing on the hua parakore Māori organics framework as a means for understanding these wide-ranging, diverse and interwoven relationships with soil"--Provided by publisher

ISBN: 9780473516956 softcover, print-on-demand

Format: 103 pages ; 22 cm
Summary: "A breakthrough life-and a truly significant future - are centered on three fused components: faith, hope, and love. God's unconditional love is the foundation on which we stand. Faith is what causes us to reach into the supernatural. Hope is what links our God-answer together. Like an umbilical cord between mother and child, hope is the connector and releaser of a full life in God. The world sees 'hope' as something vague, insubstantial, or merely wishful thinking. The Bible's descriptions of it are anything but! Hope as an anchor, hope as a helmet. Now Hope will take you on a journey to understand how hope can take you from disappointment to destination, from confusion to peace, from 'why?' to 'what for?', and from surviving to significance. Jeremiah 17:7–8 (NLT) Blessed are those who trust in the Lord and have made the Lord their hope and confidence. They are like trees planted along a riverbank, with roots that reach deep into the water... When we activate hope, we stand on the foundation of God's love to see the release of the supernatural through faith in Him. By trusting that He has our tomorrow, we find the confidence to face whatever today or tomorrow throws at us"--https://pauldejongnz.com.

ISBN 1839642246
Format 252 pages : illustrations (black and white) ; 21 cm
Contents  Introduction to Polynesian myths -- Tales of creation -- Tales of Maui -- Tales of Hina -- Tales of Gods -- Tales of ghosts and the underworld -- Glossary of Māori words.
Series  World's greatest myths and legends.
Summary  The rich and fascinating myths of Polynesia are all the more extraordinary for the fact that they have survived thousands of years - and miles - of voyages. Scattered across the pacific, the Polynesian islands were populated over generations, as waves of people emigrated from one island to the next, leaping into the unknown with each journey. With each migration, their stories travelled with them. Figures such as the goddess Hina and Maui, the trickster demi-god, are a unifying thread in the sprawling oral history of the Polynesian people. Yet these stories also highlight the rich diversity among these island nations, with each developing its own distance culture and oral tradition.

His daughters -bright, winsome Eliza and dark, difficult Maria -have taken over the helm at Rose Corp. But while Eliza's on study leave at Oxford, Maria embarks on a drive to rid the British media giant of sleaze. His legacy under threat, Harry wants Maria out and Eliza in. But hanging between Harry and Eliza is the unresolved death of Eliza's mother, Ana. Eliza has a vision for Rose Corp. Along with her wildly gifted friends Will Bardington and Kit Marley, enfants terribles of the arts world, she plans a new golden age of British TV drama. But Maria is standing in her way. And then there's the distraction of her childhood playmate, the twinkle-eyed metrosexual Rob Studley, and a new threat, from Eliza's thorn in-the-side Scottish cousin, the charismatic Mackenzie James. Guided by Harry, Eliza navigates life as Rose Corp's new queen. But after a stellar start, things take a dark turn, and ultimately Eliza will have to make a choice: career, or love? Format 112 pages ; 30 cm

Contents Chapter 1: Background -- Chapter 2: What people told us about the terrorist attack and its impact on affected whānau, survivors and witnesses -- Chapter 3: What people told us about the individual -- Chapter 4: What people told us about firearms -- Chapter 5: What people told us about the national security system and countering terrorism -- Chapter 6: What people told us about their experiences at the border and importing firearms -- Chapter 7: What people told us about harmful behaviour and extremism -- Chapter 8: What people told us about creating a more inclusive New Zealand -- Chapter 9: What people told us about "out of scope" matters -- Chapter 10: Concluding comments from the Royal Commission -- Glossary.

Summary "One of the primary purposes of our inquiry was to present an independent and authoritative report so that the government can reassure New Zealanders that all appropriate measures are being taken to keep them safe. To do that, we needed to hear from communities. Our work would not have been complete without hearing New Zealanders' views on what would make them feel safe. We are grateful for the wealth of insight and experience submitters were willing to share with us to help inform our report. We received a total of 1,168 submissions - 1,123 from individuals (including researchers and academics) and 44 from organisations. We would like to thank each and every submitter who took the time to share their thoughts with us. It was clear from the submission process that people from all across the country care deeply about protecting what we value most as New Zealanders. Every submission we received has, in some way, contributed to our report."--Foreword from Commissioners.

Title  A taxonomic revision of Liparis (Orchidaceae: Epidendroideae: Malaxideae) in Thailand / Naiyana Tetsana, Kitichate Sridith, Santi Watthana, Henrik Æ. Pedersen.
Creator  Tetsana, Naiyana.
ISBN  9781776707959 (paperback)  9781776707966 (online edition)
Format  65 pages : illustrations ; 30 cm.
Series  Phytotaxa ; 421.
Summary  "Abstract: Following a historical outline, the methods and results of a taxonomic revision of Liparis in Thailand are presented. Applying the traditional methods and techniques of morphology-based botanical revision work, the revision mainly relied on examination of dried and liquid-preserved specimens from 13 herbaria. However, the herbarium studies were supplemented with observations of live plants made during 24 field trips to five of the seven floristic regions of Thailand. The taxonomic value of selected morphological characters is assessed, and ecological aspects are surveyed together with occurrence patterns in Thailand and the overall geographic affinities of the Liparis species represented in the Thai flora. Thirty-seven species are accepted, whereas reports of L. distans and L. kwangtungensis from Thailand are treated as dubious. One new species, L. buddhawongii, is described as new, based on material from Doi Ang Khang in Chiang Mai province. Full taxonomic accounts are provided for the genus and species, including a dichotomous key to the species. Whereas the synonymies are intended to be complete, all morphological descriptions have been prepared exclusively from Thai material. The accepted names L. balansae and L. resupinata are lectotypified, whereas a neotype is designated for L. ferruginea; L. downii and L. melanoglossa are proposed as new taxonomic (heterotypic) synonyms. All accepted species are illustrated by line drawings, and references are provided to additional good illustrations in the literature. Keywords: taxonomy, typification, Monocots, Asparagales"--Page 3.

Format 105 pages : illustrations ; 30 cm.

Series Phytotaxa ; 417.

Summary "Abstract: Croton is the second largest genus of Euphorbiaceae with about 1200 tropical species. Of these, over 715 species are native to the Americas and have been assigned to 31 sections. Croton sect. Geiseleria includes about 80 species distributed from the United States to Argentina; they are especially diverse in Brazil, where about two thirds of its species occur. Many specimens from this section have been erroneously identified and require proper typification. We present a taxonomic synopsis of C. sect. Geiseleria for Brazil, based on the analysis of over 2000 specimens from 60 herbaria and our own collections from dozens of excursions to multiple regions of the country. Fifty species in the section are recognized here for Brazil, 37 of them endemic to the country, among which C. seccoi is described as new to science. Three species (C. carinatus, C. catariae, and C. mollis) are newly transferred to the section based on morphological analysis. Twenty-seven new synonyms, 70 lectotypes and one neotype are proposed. All of the species are included in an identification key, and then comments on their geographic distributions, habitats, phenologies, conservation status, and diagnostic characteristics are provided. Finally, distribution maps, original illustrations, and photographs are provided for most of the species. Keywords: South America, Crotoneae, endemism, taxonomy, typification, Eudicots"--Page 3.

"When the Canterbury Earthquakes destroyed their city, Natalie and her friends were only ten years old. Too old to forget, but too young to be heard, they have never told their stories. Until now. Ten years after the earthquakes, Natalie returns to her home town with a plan. To show how the earthquakes shaped her generation, she wants to curate her fellow students' stories into a special edition of the student magazine. Her project is well-received by all, but one: her self-proclaimed nemesis Josh. From the start, Josh goes out of his way to get the project cancelled. Natalie is determined to see her vision through, yet when she finally uncovers the reason behind Josh's actions, she finds herself questioning everything she's been working towards"--Back cover.

Format  272 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm
Summary  "This work is half autobiographical, one quarter historical (with details of early New Zealand photography and goldmining), and one quarter is a well documented family genealogy. Fifteen members of the Tyree family are featured, across five generations. These include: William Tyree, founder of "Tyree Photographic Studio" in Nelson, his brother Fred Tyree (the brilliant landscape photographic artist) of Takaka and Collingwood, and Sir Alfred William "Bill" Tyree O.B.E., the noted electrical engineer and leading Australian philanthropist. The Author relates his life story, and associated political events; of the Cold War arms race, the Vietnam War, the race to the moon, New Zealand's Nuclear Free stance, and his own political activities from 1990 to 2001. New Zealand's economic reforms on the 1980s are referred to, and the associated upheaval in many employment and personal circumstances. A sub-plot refers to the effects of suffering an illness, and how the Author adapted his life with years of casual and part-time work"--Back cover.

Summary  "We want to start by expressing our deepest condolences to whānau of the 51 shuhada, and the survivors and witnesses of the terrorist attack and their whānau. Throughout our inquiry you have been at the centre of our thinking. We knew the importance of this from the beginning, but our understanding and appreciation of what this truly meant has developed as we heard more of your stories, experiences and evidence. You gave us an understanding of the harrowing reality of the terrorist attack and its ongoing effects. The experiences you shared gave us a further impetus to seek answers, to ensure we left no stone unturned, and provide you with assurance that New Zealand's national security system is fit for purpose. Our heartfelt thanks go to you for meeting with us and opening up your hearts and homes to share your stories with us. Hearing from those most affected by the terrorist attack informed our lines of inquiry and provided valuable insight into the reality of recovering from such a horrific attack. This has deeply moved us, and we believe it has added to the richness of our report..."--Foreword from Commissioners.

Summary "In the calm days of 2017, a group of young(ish) New Zealanders set out to follow the length of the Waikato river – tramping to the summit of Ruapehu then kayaking around Taupō and all the way down to Port Waikato, a month-long journey of more than 400 kilometres. Inspired by their adventuring overseas, and informed by a desire to learn more about freshwater health, Where The River Runs charts a path through the complicated layers that make up modern New Zealand, asking, 'What does it mean to live well in this place?' From colonial invasion to the building of dams, contemporary efforts to restore river health and the tentative emergence of Pākehā culture, its journey both entangles and unsettles, offering insights and challenging assumptions, tracing the learning that comes with commitment to home"--Back cover.

Format  197 pages : illustrations (some colour) ; 21 cm

Summary  "In this enlightening book, Nicola shows how you may tune in to Spirit for your personal spiritual awakening. She gives you the tools to deepen your everyday consciousness that aligns with your inner voice so that you may live a fearless, healthy, balanced life. She has crafted this book along with her Spirit Guides. She channelled their divine, beautiful guidance, which is motivating and inspiring, to help you learn and grow, both personally and spiritually. She shares her experience with Spirit, which grew from curiosity and synchronicities in her teenage years, and led to her becoming a spiritual awareness mentor"--Blurb of kindle version.

ISBN  9780473554538 paperback
Publishing Details  [Christchurch] : [Tim Joyce], [2020]
Format  137 pages : illustrations (some colour); 30 cm
Summary  "WW2 War Diaries This book provides an interesting insight into the day to day life of a NZ soldier serving in World War II. From time spent training in Australia as a member of the NZ Special Forces Unit, to The North African Campaign and then The Italian Campaign. His time in Italy was interrupted with a stint in the UK on an Officer Training Course. Typing up this book took me on an interesting journey of discovery, both of things about my dad which I never knew, as well as gaining a much better understanding of a part of WWII - seeing the good, the bad and the ugly. I am so privileged and blessed to have been born into my family in this beautiful country of Aotearoa - New Zealand. We were important to dad, and he was always there for us, but now, there are so many things I wished I could have asked him. I wish I had been more inquisitive about people as I was growing up. My encouragement to you is to learn about your parents and grandparents direct from them. They have a wealth of experience and wisdom which I am sure they would love the opportunity to share"--Back cover.
