The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library Act 1965, Section 30A, amended 1994. It includes New Zealand and Tokelau books, serials, newspapers, music, maps, videos, sound recordings, kits, and pictures. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The catalogue records produced meet international standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of March 2019. The items are grouped under the main subject schedules of the Dewey Decimal Classification system. Within each subject grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

Physical Details  xi, 257 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm
Summary  "We're busy, busy, BUSY. But when did being busy become a badge of honour? When did it become our new normal, our measure of self-worth. If we want to squeeze the most from ourselves and our all-too-short lives, we need to be able to gauge when our busyness is drip-feed destroying our physical and emotional health, when we're hurting people we love and becoming that person others want to hide from. Using simple and effective tools such as The Pizza of Life, New Zealand clinical psychologist Karen Nimmo takes aim at our busy as f*ckness in a fresh DIY approach to therapy. This book will help you self-diagnose your issues, cut through all the stress and striving and set up a plan to go after what truly matters in a busy as f*ck world"--Back cover.

Author  Joyce, Richard, 1966- author.
ISBN  0198754876 (hbk.)
        9780198754879 (hbk.)
Physical Details  274 pages ; 24 cm
Summary  This volume draws together Richard Joyce's work from the last decade on moral skepticism, the view that there is no such thing as moral knowledge. Joyce's radical view is that in making moral judgments speakers attempt to state truths but that the world isn't furnished with the properties and relations necessary to render such judgments true.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;Moral thinking pervades our practical lives, but where did this way of thinking come from, and what purpose does it serve? Is it to be explained by environmental pressures on our ancestors a million years ago, or is it a cultural invention of more recent origin? In The Evolution of Morality, Richard Joyce takes up these controversial questions, finding that the evidence supports an innate basis to human morality. As a moral philosopher, Joyce is interested in whether any implications follow from this hypothesis. Might the fact that the human brain has been biologically prepared by natural selection to engage in moral judgment serve in some sense to vindicate this way of thinking -- staving off the threat of moral skepticism, or even undergirding some version of moral realism? Or if morality has an adaptive explanation in genetic terms -- if it is, as Joyce writes, &quot;just something that helped our ancestors make more babies&quot;--Might such an explanation actually undermine morality's central role in our lives? He carefully examines both the evolutionary &quot;vindication of morality&quot; and the evolutionary &quot;debunking of morality,&quot; considering the skeptical view more seriously than have others who...&quot;</td>

have treated the subject. Interdisciplinary and combining the latest results from the empirical sciences with philosophical discussion, The Evolution of Morality is one of the few books in this area written from the perspective of moral philosophy. Concise and without technical jargon, the arguments are rigorous but accessible to readers from different academic backgrounds. Joyce discusses complex issues in plain language while advocating subtle and sometimes radical views. The Evolution of Morality lays the philosophical foundations for further research into the biological understanding of human morality."—Back cover.

Physical Details  332 pages ; 23 cm
Summary  "Listening to the People of the Land traces links between settler Christianity and colonisation in Aotearoa New Zealand. It looks into underlying causes of the harm to Indigenous communities and efforts made to address that harm. It considers the benefits that can come to Indigenous, non-Indigenous and the Earth through those of settler descent working to make right their relationship with the Tangata Whenua, the People of the Land. The New Zealand story encapsulates that of the expansionist Christian West"--Back cover.

Summary  "Allan Caldwell kept a small black note-book with recipes collected during his professional life as a baker for Ernest Adams. It was discovered by Jules Loach (Allan's great-granddaughter) and her husband Jay Hutchinson in 2018 inside a box in the shed of the house Jules grew up in. Inside the recipe book were also included hundreds of clippings of letters and other correspondences to newspapers which Allan painstakingly collected after publication. Clippings, pages and page-spread were photographed by Jay for A Gallery Presents. Some attempt has been made to give thematic order to the letters and they are reproduced here along with page spreads from the recipe book"--Unnumbered page 8.

Summary  "Offering important new historical understandings of human responses to climate and climate change, this cutting-edge volume explores the dynamic relationship between settlement, climate, and colonization. The contributions gathered here consider a wide range of interrelated topics, among them the use of scientific evidence in historical research, the physical impact of climate on agriculture and land development, and changing understandings of climate, including the development of "folk" and government meteorologies. They reveal Australasia to be a remarkably varied and fertile area for analyzing cultural responses to climate as well as the wider social ramifications of historical climatic events"-- Provided by publisher.

Summary  "Co-authored by Christopher Corns and Douglas Ewen Criminal Appeals and Reviews in New Zealand is a comprehensive, practical and authoritative guide to the law and practice relevant to Criminal appeals and reviews in New Zealand. The book provides detailed account of how to conduct an appeal in a criminal matter from the various courts in New Zealand, and includes commentary on judicial review in criminal matters. The authors have written the book because they believe that there a compelling need for such a work in New Zealand because of the lack of detailed information available to practitioners about appeal and review processes in the criminal law context. This book is intended to fill that gap"--www.thomsonreuters.co.nz.

Summary

"In Facing Empire, Kate Fullagar and Michael A. McDonnell have collected a series of essays that focus on indigenous experiences in the revolutionary age of the late eighteenth century, looking at indigenous interactions with the British Empire particularly. The collection aims to view indigenous peoples as vital and dynamic actors across an increasingly global stage and think about what this new world of European-driven imperialism might have looked like to them. The contributors' mission is not only to write histories that include indigenous perspectives but to present the imperial past with indigenous peoples as the main subjects. This collection covers the Indian and Pacific Oceans, Australia, and West and South Africa, as well as North America”--Publisher information.

Summary: "This ... book ... assesses the ways in which indigenous and liberal political theories interact to consider the practical policy implications of the indigenous right to self-determination. The author reveals indigeneity's concern for political relationships, agendas, and ideas beyond the ethnic minority claim to liberal recognition. The implications for national reconciliation, liberal democracy, citizenship and historical constraints on political authority are explored"--Back cover.

"It won't happen overnight..." takes you through the process of getting started in property investment in New Zealand. Mike Pero and David Weusten step you through almost everything a successful property investor needs to know to succeed, from the basics of budgeting through to tips on selecting property, exercising due diligence and managing the buying process itself. They also cover managing debt and cash flow as these are critical elements to successful property management. Those who invest in property are often criticised in the media for being greedy, self-serving and a blight on the country. Yet without the people looking to create wealth for themselves through property investment, and providing the capital to house those who can't or chose not to own their own property, it would be left to the government, local bodies or charitable organisations to provide rental housing resulting in higher taxes for all New Zealanders. Mike Pero and David Weusten offer the essential handbook to equip new property investors and provide reassurance to those already in the market. Although it won't happen overnight with the wisdom and experience this book provides you can be assured it will happen!"--wheelers.co.nz.

Language  In English.
Summary  "Karpal Singh is widely regarded as Malaysia's best criminal and constitutional lawyer. His sudden death on 17 April 2014 in a horrific car accident - just a month after he was convicted of sedition in the High Court - shocked and saddened Malaysians to the core and left a deep void in the country's legal and political landscape. Karpal was a fearless advocate for justice and a defender of human rights in South East Asia, and has appeared in the Privy Council in London on a number of occasions before such appeals were abandoned by Malaysia. He is renowned for his defence of many people from many nations who have faced the death penalty under Malaysia's Dangerous Drugs Act. In recent years, one of his biggest achievements was his successful defence of former Deputy Prime Minister Anwar Ibrahim on two charges of sodomy in 2012. On the night he died, Karpal was still fighting for Anwar, who had been convicted once again of sodomy, and seeking to reassure him. He told the Opposition leader in a telephone call he would do his best in the prosecution's 'fast-tracked' Federal Court of Appeal. Indeed Karpal had Anwar's files with him in his vehicle when the fateful crash occurred. In this revised and updated edition, veteran journalist Tim Donoghue completes the biography of Malaysia's tenacious and principled lawyer-politician"--Publisher information.

Contents Introduction -- Prologue: Reopening the case -- Beach town -- Easter and after -- A craze for this sort of thing -- Will you let me have that letter -- A case of handwriting -- Circumstances grave and unusual -- Keeping observation -- The perfect witness -- Bad language -- It is not my verdict -- Epilogue: Brought to book -- Conclusion.
Summary "The Littlehampton Libels tells the story of a poison-pen mystery that led to a miscarriage of justice in the years following the First World War. There would be four criminal trials before the real culprit was finally punished, with the case challenging the police and the prosecuting lawyers as much any capital crime. When a leading Metropolitan Police detective was tasked with solving the case, he questioned the residents of the seaside town of Littlehampton about their neighbours' vocabularies, how often they wrote letters, what their handwriting was like, whether they swore-and how they swore, for the letters at the heart of the case were often bizarre in their abuse. The archive that the investigation produced shows in extraordinary detail how ordinary people could use the English language in inventive and surprising ways at a time when universal literacy was still a novelty. Their personal lives, too, had surprises. The detective's inquiries and the courtroom dramas laid bare their secrets and the intimate details of neighbourhood and family life"--Publisher's website.

Title Pūrākau : Māori myths retold by Māori writers / edited by Witi Ihimaera and Whiti Hereaka.
ISBN 9780143772965 paperback
Projected Publication Date 1905
Physical Details pages cm
Summary "Ka mua, ka muri... Ancient Māori creation myths, portrayals of larger-than-life heroes and tales of engrossing magical beings have endured through the ages. Some hail back to Hawaiki, some are firmly grounded in New Zealand and its landscape. Through countless generations, the stories have been reshaped and passed on. This new collection presents a wide range of traditional myths that have been retold by some of our best Maori wordsmiths. Take a fresh look at Papatuanuku, a wild ride with Maui, or have a creepy encounter with Ruruhi-Kerepo, for these and many more mythical figures await you. The contributors are: Jacqueline Carter, David Geary, Patricia Grace, Briar Grace-Smith, Whiti Hereaka, Keri Hulme, Witi Ihimaera, Kelly Joseph, Hemi Kelly, Nic Low, Tina Makereti, Kelly Ana Morey, Paula Morris, Frazer Rangihuna, Renee, Robert Sullivan, Apirana Taylor, Ngahuia Te Awekotuku, Clayton Te Kohe, Hone Tuwhare, Briar Wood"--Publisher information.

Title Ravaged beauty : an environmental history of the Manawatu / Catherine Knight.
Author Knight, Catherine, author.
ISBN 9780473451561 paperback
©2018
Physical Details 312 pages : illustrations (some colour) ; 24 cm Summary "Only a century and a half ago, the Manawatu was a heavily forested hinterland: the floodplains were a sea of swamps and lagoons, teeming with birdlife, eels and other fish; the hills and terraces were covered with thick impenetrable forest, refuge perhaps to a few lingering moa. But within a few decades, the forest had been reduced to ashes, and the swamps and lagoons were being drained away. Progress marched across the landscape in the form of farms and settlements. However, it wasn't long before nature "exacted its revenge": erosion scarred the hillsides, floods ravaged farms and towns. Pollution of the rivers saw fish dying en masse. How would the people of the region meet these environmental challenges, and what lessons would there be for the future? By "peeling away the layers", this book tells the intriguing story of the Manawatu's environmental history, drawn from a rich array of sources, maps and historical images"--Back cover.

Summary "23 year old Liverpudlian Freddie Foster impulsively boards a ship in 1951 to the Antipodes on the £10 Pom scheme, but what he finds there isn't the promised land of milk and honey. New Zealand is in the grip of Cold War tensions, Communism, moral delinquency and murders committed by young women. Freddie meets and falls in love with the landlady's daughter, 19 year old Sharon, and is desperate to prove his love to her. However, when tragedy strikes he has to face the dire consequences of his actions"--Back cover.

Author  Cryer, Max, author.
ISBN  9781775594000 paperback
Projected Publication Date  1908
Physical Details  pages cm
Summary  "The Godzone Dictionary is a concise A - Z of the words and phrases that make our New Zealand language and speech patterns so different. Language expert Max Cryer examines a wide range of words and phrases, shedding light on their origin and offering helpful definitions. Slang words and expressions feature heavily, while one of the unique features of this book is the large number of Māori words that have become part of our common language in recent years. The listing also includes the popular names of our sports teams, and an appendix of common New Zealand acronyms completes the book."--Publisher information.

Title  Australian cricket / Marama Warren.
Author  Warren, Marama, artist, binder, book designer.
Physical Details  16 unnumbered pages : colour illustrations ; 22 cm Summary  "Australian Cricket" was made for an exhibition of altered books held at Blarney Bookshop, Port Fairy, Victoria in 2010. "Australian Cricket" was inspired by English Cricket, written by Neville Cardus and published by Collins, London in 1945. The book was sent to me by the staff at Blarney Books to alter for an exhibition at the shop. It was printed by The Sun Engraving Co., London on Mellotex book paper made in Scotland. "English Cricket" is a charming old book, inscribed "to Bill from Boo" and too good to alter or change. I decided to make a companion piece for this book featuring an alternative history of Australian cricket. I have used a flag book structure to bring to life images of Australian children, aboriginal and women cricketers of the past"--Envelope.

Contents Life and art on the ocean wave / Wystan Curnow -- Keeping score with Beaufort / Andrew Clifford -- Pacific data / Mary Morrison -- Severe tropical storm 9301 Irma / Billy Apple.
Summary "Billy Apple integrates art with life, using his 1993 travel experience on a freighter as the basis for Severe Tropical Storm 9301 Irma. In March 1993, Apple was a passenger aboard the Chiricana, a refrigerated cargo vessel transporting a cargo of high quality squash from New Zealand to Japan. The Chiricana made a detour from its predetermined course in an attempt to avoid an encounter with 9301 Irma, the rapidly escalating storm that was deemed to be approaching typhoon proportions. The work documents and encodes into art the sequence of events that took place a day out of Napier and finished a day before arrival into Osaka. Data generated by ship and storm has been collected from the ship's log book and satellite forecasting by Apple, then schematised into the visual, aural and moving image components of this installation. Severe Tropical Storm 9301 Irma's conceptual twist is the artist's passive position in the work -- instead of orchestrating art activities to produce data, it is Nature that dictates to the artist and provides the conceptual impetus. Apple's forté is his ability to use this information as the given, and to refine and present it in an art context within his own set of documentary and branding systems"--Www.ada.net.nz website (viewed 27/05/2015).

<td>Summary</td>
<td>Teeth &amp; Tongue is the musical project of Jess Cornelius, together with long-time collaborator Marc Regueiro-Mckelvie (guitar) and Damian Sullivan (bass). Tambourine was recorded by Simon Grounds in his Melbourne studio. Jess perfectly captures her songs as she hears them in her head, with Marc adding his signature guitar tones over an undertow of programmed and live drums. Most of the songs on the album started their life in Dan Kelly's home studio, when Jess was house-sitting whilst Dan was overseas. Over 2010 Jess shaped the songs before heading into Simon's Melbourne studio to record the album.</td>

Series | Leonardo (Series) (Cambridge, Mass.)
Summary | "In a time of climate crisis, a growing number of artists use weather or atmosphere as an artistic medium, collaborating with scientists, local communities, and climate activists. Their work mediates scientific modes of knowing and experiential knowledge of weather, probing collective anxieties and raising urgent ecological questions, oscillating between the "big picture systems view" and a ground-based perspective. In this book, Janine Randerson explores a series of meteorological art projects from the 1960s to the present that draw on sources ranging from dynamic, technological, and physical systems to indigenous cosmology"--Jacket flap.

| Summary                     | "English as a Vocation is a history of the most influential movement in modern British literary criticism. F.R. Leavis and his collaborators on the Cambridge journal Scrutiny from the 1930s to the 1950s demonstrated compelling ways of reading modernist poetry, Shakespeare, and the 'texts' of advertising. Crucially, they offered a way of teaching critical reading, an approach that could be adapted for schools and adult education classes, modelled in radio talks and paperback guides to English Literature, and taken up in universities as far afield as Colombo and Sydney. This book shows how a small critical school turned into a movement with an international reach. It tracks down Leavis's students, analysing the pattern of their social origins and subsequent careers in the context of twentieth-century social change. It shows how teachers transformed Scrutiny approaches as they tried to put them into practice in grammar and secondary modern schools. And it explores the complex, even contradictory politics of the movement. Champions of creative writing and enemies of 'progressive' education alike based their arguments on Scrutiny's interpretation of modern culture. 'Left-Leavisites' such as Raymond Williams, Richard Hoggart, and Stuart Hall wrought influential interpretations of social class and popular culture out of arguments with the Scrutiny tradition. This is the first book to examine major figures such as these alongside the hundreds of other teachers and writers in the movement whose names are obscure but who wrestled with the same challenges: how do you approach a baffling poem? How do you uncover what an advertisement is trying to do? How can literature inform our everyday experiences and judgements? What does 'culture' mean in modern times?"--Publisher's website.

Summary  "In Fifteen Minutes You Can Say a Lot begins with Texidor’s most fully achieved piece of work, ‘These Dark Glasses’. Distinguished by sophisticated writing and acute psychological insight, it is set on the south coast of France during the Spanish Civil War. The stories which follow range from Spain and England to New Zealand, where she writes unsentimentally and unerringly of the environment of the time. ‘Goodbye Forever’, the unfinished novel which concludes the volume, is Texidor’s most sustained piece of writing on New Zealand. The central character, Lili, is a Viennese refugee who arrives amongst the writers of Auckland’s North Shore. She is exotic and alone, and her slow collapse is plotted with minute observation"--Publisher information.

Summary "After the stormy and sensuous start of their relationship, Lothar Mintze and Thomas Greenbourgh have finally found peace together, in England. Their relationship has settled into a comfortable routine, and life is mostly peaceful, enjoyable, and filled with the music that they both love so much. Mostly, but not entirely. All is not as perfect as it seems. As Lothar falls deeper into bitterness and depression, Thomas can’t help but be curious. He knows that something from Lothar’s past is the reason for his lethargy, something related to the men he’d only heard of in passing. Something to do with the name, “Huntington.” He becomes more and more obsessed with that name, and the stranger it belongs to. Lothar decides that the only way to sate his lover’s curiosity, and hopefully restore peace, is with the truth. The two of them launch off on a trip around the world, to finally introduce Thomas to the other members of his blood family. Along the way, Lothar finally reveals the truth about his past. The whole truth.
Will Thomas still be able to stay at his lover's side once he knows everything that the violinist has kept hidden from him, or will those dark secrets tear their budding romance apart?"—Back

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;Antarctica is a fascinating place. It is beautiful, cold, remote, and difficult to get to, which means everyone who goes there - today or in the past - has a special reason for wanting to go. Antarctic Journeys is about the journeys - historical and contemporary, human and animal, large and small - that build up an overall picture of Antarctic history, geography, science and wildlife. Photographs, maps and paintings, letters, diaries, newspaper and eye-witness reports from the days of early exploration, as well as later research and interviews, paint a vivid picture of an amazing continent&quot;--Back cover.</td>

Author  Hill, David B. 1951- author.
ISBN  9781775503491 paperback
Physical Details  vii, 334 pages : illustrations ; 21 cm
Summary  "In May 1940, a group of Auckland yachtsmen who were members of the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve left for the war. Leonard Hill, a young Māori sailor, and his friends arrived in Singapore under siege. Playing to their strengths as small boat sailors, they manned fast motor launches, raiding and rescuing Allies from behind enemy lines. On the night of 13 February 1942, the eve of the fall of Singapore, they took two Fairmiles, ML310 and ML311, to evacuate members of the Allied High Command and survivors of sinking vessels. Hunted down by the Japanese, most of the almost one hundred men perished. Some became POWs, and of those who attempted to escape, only three succeeded: Leonard Hill, Herbert 'Johnny' Bull and Andrew Brough. This is the story of how they evaded the Japanese and survived"--Publisher information.

Summary "VIOLET MONTEATH-WALKER, nee Feathers, published some 60 articles in various newspapers between 1950 and 1991. These were mainly describing historical aspects of Oamaru and North Otago in the 19th century. Her writing gives an informed glimpse into the lives of immigrants to New Zealand in the 19'h century. She describes how difficult life was for many in the early years of European immigration, particularly for women. Many who came to New Zealand were escaping from poor living conditions in the big cities in both England and Scotland. But crowded cities were replaced by isolation in an alien but beautiful land. For many there would never be any prospect of returning to their home country"--Back cover.

Summary  "John Howe CHALMERS left Scotland and eventually reached New Zealand in the 1870s where he took up dairying, specialising in quality cheese-making. While in Tauranga he met and married Londoner Eleanor Rebecca TIMS who also had musical talent. They moved south where they established general stores at Duntroon and Beaumont. The availability of land opening up for farming took them into new ventures at Kurow and Gibbston where they became sheep and crop farmers. The inexperienced farmers endured inadequate finances, flood, drought, snowstorm and plagues of rabbits. Most of their children, who totalled twelve in all, left school early to take up roles within the family enterprises. They worked as farmer, baker, shop assistant and hotelier and the family prospered for a time until World War I intervened. Three of their sons were called to serve and all returned, two having been injured in France. The loss of manpower at home, a tragic accident on her property and the death of her sister had a profound effect on Eleanor who succumbed to depression and after a time, died at age fifty-three. Family numbers were reduced as one by one the children married and moved away. Remaining members lived in four different places in their southward trek, ending at Hokonui in Southland. John Howe died at the age of eighty-nine, having been a widower for many years. Includes two chapters that cover the origins of the Chalmers family in Scotland from the eighteenth century"--Publisher information.

Summary  "July 1839, without the permission of the English Government, the New Zealand Company ship, Tory, quietly departed England, anxious to reach New Zealand with the utmost speed. Expedition leader, Colonel William Wakefield's objective is clear - acquire millions of acres of valuable land from the natives at the lowest possible price. On board the Tory, Andrew and Eleanor Stewart, young Scottish emigrants indentured to the New Zealand Company, are excited at the prospect of beginning a new life in a perfect town called Britannia. It's the Utopia the company promised. Boundary highlights adversity as settlers struggle to survive the hardships of a new colony. Where mounting claims of illegally obtained lands and deception force local Maori chiefs to resist. How much more can they endure before they finally take action and revolt?"--Back cover.

Summary  Six-year-old Hazel tends her colony of shoebox snails while observing, with varying degrees of understanding, her father's illness and final decline. Nan Blanchard's assured eye is a rare quality in a new writer; seldom has the world of a young child been so delicately or acutely observed. Impending loss forms the heart of this story, but it's charming and funny, too. Richly rewarding and cleverly layered, adults will be as drawn to it as children.

Summary  "Things are changing on the idyllic planet known by the primitive inhabitants simply as Aeden. Well, it had been idyllic. Reapers had come to steal Aeden's exotic biology, leaving the planet scarred and countless creatures stolen or killed. But they had fought back, and the Reapers and the invaders who brought them had finally been destroyed. Aeden was suffering, but life must be replenished in order to restore the balance, and for the planet to be able to fulfil its purpose. Still, it itched something fierce. Taylor Neeran was doing everything she could to help, but exactly how do you heal a planet? When the first of several unexpected visitors arrives, Taylor would find her world changed forever…and the galaxy along with it"--Back cover.

Summary "The novel is set in contemporary Wellington and follows Paula, a lazy young woman who is stuck in a rut. Deep in stagnation, the sight of a spam ad for 'lonely Asian women looking for fun' becomes a moment of profound realisation that she, too, is but a lonely Asian woman looking for fun. Paula's new outlook leads her to shoplift a cheesecake-laden supermarket trolley. The trolley contains an unexpected attachment. Lonely Asian Woman is not the story of a young woman coming to her responsibilities in the world. Instead, Lam defies the expected and leads the reader and her characters against the grain of the titular lonely Asian woman"--Publisher's website.

Title  Sleeps standing : Moetū : a story of the battle of Ōrākau / Witi Ihimaera with Hēmi Kelly.
Author  Ihimaera, Witi, 1944- author.
ISBN  9780143773887 paperback
Projected Publication Date  1904
Physical Details  pages cm
Summary  "Both fiction and fact, this book is an exploration of the Battle of Orakau. During three days in 1864, 300 Maori men, women and children fought an Imperial army and captured the imagination of the world. The battle marked the end of the Land Wars in the Waikato and resulted in vast tracts of land being confiscated for European settlement. Instead of following the usual standpoint of the victors, this book takes a Maori perspective. It is centred around Witi Ihimaera's moving novella, Sleeps Standing, which views the battle through the eyes of a 16-year-old boy named Moetū. Alongside the novella are non-fiction narratives from Maori eyewitnesses, together with images and a Maori translation by Hēmi Kelly, further giving voice to and illuminating the people who tried to protect their culture and land. It is estimated that, at the height of the battle, 1700 immensely superior troops, well armed and amply resourced, laid siege to the hastily constructed pā at Orakau. The defenders were heavily outnumbered with few supplies or weapons but, when told to submit, they replied: 'E hoa, ka whawhai tonu matou, ake, ake, ake!' 'Friend, I shall fight against you for ever, for ever!'"--Publisher information.

Author  Horner, Maurice, author.
ISBN  9781977930989 paperback
Physical Details 119 pages ; 21 cm
Summary  "The background is a north of England market town thriving on heavy industry. It led the world in building steam engines, bridges and nuclear reactors. It was like the salmon that had just spawned. It was glorious in its achievement but slowly dying. Longpockets, Crud and Fred dared to dream, and rebuff the thought of doffing their caps to anyone and everyone. Susan, Muriel, Maureen, Christine and Elinor believed that girls could and should do anything, but had not, as yet, burnt their bras. They came together, had fun, lots of fun and in their way changed the world; but the world changed them also"--Back cover.

Contents The night book -- Soon.

Summary "These two connected novels ... take an unflinching look at politics and power, contemporary New Zealand society and the arid morality of the privileged. In 'The Night Book', doctor and party donor Simon Lampton is drawn to Roza Hallwright, though he can't quite put his finger on why. She leads a quiet, comfortable, orderly life with her politician husband David and her two stepchildren. But this peaceful existence is about to be changed forever. In the next few months there will be an election, and, if the polls are correct, Roza will become the Prime Minister's wife. She is relatively calm about the prospect, but meeting Simon will bring turmoil to both their lives. In 'Soon', the Lampton family has come to spend a long hot summer at the Hallwrights' large beach house. The weather is perfect and outwardly all is well, but the harmony is disturbed when Simon Lampton's brother Ford arrives for a visit. Ford casts a cold eye over the company, barely disguising his contempt for David Hallwright. While Roza tells her young son made-up stories that reveal uncomfortable truths about their current lives, Simon will tell stories that conceal the truth about his"--Back cover.

Summary: "In early 1860's, New Zealand, the beautiful region of Taranaki is engulfed in a brutal land war. Continuing with its unpopular policy, the New Zealand government, bolstered by British soldiers, seeks punitive and severe action against rebel Maori called 'Kingites' who openly resist the Government's determined effort to confiscate their land. To combat growing opposition and to fight rebel Maori in the bush, General Cameron, head of New Zealand's armed forces, establishes an elite, irregular fighting force called the Forest Rangers. Forest Ranger Company No. 2, commanded by Captain Gustavus Von Tempsky, deploys his troops to Taranaki. Befriended by Von Tempsky, the Ranger's newest recruit, Moana (Ira) Rangitira, shows his formidable skills that rebels grow to fear. Moana faces challenges that test his will to survive against a brutal and clever enemy deep in the rugged Taranaki wilderness. Can he protect what is closest to his heart, or has he lost everything? Title  A place of stone and darkness / Chris Mousdale.
Author  Mousdale, Chris, author.
ISBN  9780143773122 hardback
Projected Publication Date  1905
Physical Details  pages cm
Summary  "When the human creatures appeared, they ravaged the forests and hunted many birds to extinction. The flightless Striggs had only one option: They went down, down under the ground... And it's there, as you may have heard it whispered, that they still remain. Far below, in a place of stone and darkness... Over thousands of years, they colonised a labyrinth of tunnels and caves, but even underground the Striggs are not safe: chemicals now pollute their water and a deadly sickness threatens the flock. Even worse: an inquisitive young Strigg called Ellee Meddo discovers a human boy, trapped deep in a well. Humans are to be feared and saving him could mean travelling to the surface, a place of untold peril. What will Ellee decide to do? Are you brave enough to follow Ellee into the darkness?"--Publisher information.

Summary  "Well-bred women should not be seen kissing their butlers. Even when the butler in question is secretly a fae prince. Wyn knows falling for Hetta Valstar is a bad idea. She's not only human but the new magically bonded ruler of Stariel Estate. If their relationship gets out, it'll cause a scandal that could ruin their attempts to sort out the estate's crumbling finances. Of course, it doesn't help that Stariel has decided it doesn't like him. But more than jealous sentient estates and Hetta's good name are at stake. Wyn's past is coming back to bite him. Ten years ago, he broke an oath and shattered the power of his home court, and the fae have been hunting him ever since. Now they've found his hiding place, they won't rest until he's dead or the debt is repaid—and they don't play nicely"--Back cover.

Summary  "Antonina is a student at the prestigious Academy of Art in St Petersburg. At times, though, she feels she might be a better fit at the Centre of Nonconformist Art across town. She knows she stands out as different, being neither Russian, Korean nor Kazakh — and yet she embodies all three. She is Koryo-saram: a descendant of the exiled population that Stalin labelled the Unreliable People. But what does that mean? And who was the strange, elegant woman who came to the window when Antonina was a young child? And why did she entice Antonina to climb out and go on a long train journey through Kazakhstan?"—Publisher information.

Summary  When Hana's mam chooses to swallow frogweed poison rather than die in the great witch-burning in People's Square, Hana flees the burrows before she too is taken. Deep in the forest she meets Ben, son of Lo, and the two journey back to the burrows to find a way to destroy the Limping Man before his evil consumes the world. But first they must discover the secret of his strength.

Summary "Two countries, two choices, one life. When Kyraenean slave Celeste risks her life to reach the free nation of Etraea, a country filled with technology and wealth, she unknowingly sets off a chain of events that will change her life forever. After escaping her new owner, Celeste awakens in the home of an Etraean soldier, sworn to protect the fragile peace. For Corporal Mick Haynes, life is simple. Follow the rules, do your job and work your way up the ranks. Getting shot and finding a wanted slave at his family's farm wasn't part of the plan. When a Kyraenean bounty hunter locates Celeste, Mick's loyalty will be stretched to the limit. With war on the horizon, Celeste faces two impossible choices. Both securing her freedom, but both at a cost she could never have imagined. Will Etraea provide the freedom she's longed for or shackle her to an entirely new master?"--From print record.

Author New Zealand. Office of the Prime Minister's Science Advisory Committee, author.
Physical Details 1 online resource : colour illustration
Summary This paper considers what can be done to prevent family violence in New Zealand, taking the position that family violence is a solvable problem and largely a symptom of underlying social and psychological issues. It discusses the nature and prevalence of family violence, including challenges in data collection, impacts on children and parenting, and cycle of intergenerational trauma, then considers prevention issues including addressing the impact of adverse childhood experiences, changing social norms to support positive parenting and non-violent relationships, strengthening economic supports for families, building workforce capacity and capability, enhancing parenting support and skills to promote healthy child development, providing quality early childhood care and education, and intervening to lessen harm and prevent future risk. This paper is intended to promote discussion and stimulate research.

Summary "Claire and her people have wandered for years, searching for a new home away from their drought-stricken origins. Just when they find what seems like the perfect location, there's a little catch. Someone's already living there, and they don't want to share…not without a price being paid. The native Veest will allow Claire's people to settle on the condition that one of their most beautiful girls marries the son of the Veest chieftain. Claire knows she's not the most attractive (or even the third or fourth most attractive) but she is the only one willing. After all, it's her father that's being held hostage until they come up with a bride. And the fact that her betrothed Kajus is a shapeshifter? That can't be so bad either, because surely he won't be in animal form ALL the time. Unfortunately, Claire is only half right. Kajus is considered unusual even among the Veest, and it's for a reason that is very hard to overlook..."--Back cover of print version.

Publishing Details  [New Zealand?] : Vostok [2017?]

Physical Details  2 audio discs : analog ; 30 cm

Contents  Side A: Voodoo Lady / Dalvanius and the Fascinations -- You can dance / Collision -- Disco Queen / Mark Williams -- She’s knocking on my door / The Johnny Rocco Band -- Side B: That's the kind of love I've got for you / The 1860 Band -- Mr. Funky / Inbetweens -- You can do it / Tina Cross -- I need your love / Golden Harvest -- Side C: A house for sale / Mark Williams -- Don't give your life away / The Pink Family -- Heed the call / Prince Tui Teka -- Sweet inspiration / The Yandall Sisters -- There's a river somewhere / Sonia & Skee -- Side D: Mr. Music / Ticket -- Who do we think we're fooling / Larry Morris -- Night people / Herb McQuay -- Total man / The Totals.

Summary  Heed the Call! collects the best New Zealand material from the afrotastic days of 1973 to 1983. Artists like Mark Williams whose House For Sale became a sought after northern Soul single, The (three) Yandall Sisters (two of whom are pictured behind Mark Williams on the cover), a teenage Tina Cross, Dalvanius and Prince Tui Teka, all became household names in NZ. The collection mines some overlooked nuggets from their respective catalogues alongside lesser known boogie cuzzins The Pink Family with their non-secular floor sizzler Don't Give Your Life Away, the gritty gospel soul of Sonia and Skee, The Johnny Rocco Band, Inbetweens, and The Totals. The Kaukau brothers were four fifths of Golden Harvest who hit the national charts with the number one I Need Your Love in 1978 which featured new addition 17 year old Karl Gordon fronting the band. Local 60s beat pioneer Larry Morris fresh out of the big house after a public LSD misdemeanour finds his groove on Who Do We Think We're Fooling. Funk dynamos Collision hail from Tokoroa, and in an earlier incarnation were known as The Shriek Machine, move to Australia on Dalvanius's insistence to record the showstopper You Can Dance. Early 70s Acid Rockers Ticket flaunt their funky flair(s) with their Vertigo single only release Mr Music (later covered by Collision), and the windy city jazzmen The 1860 Band take form fitting self promoting t-shirts to the next level while re-interpreting Rita Jean Bodine's That's The Kind Of Love.

Summary: "Kim Workman grew up in the Wairarapa, son of a Pākehā mother and Māori father. His whakapapa comes from Ngāti Kahungunu and Rangitāne; Pāpāwai Marae near Greytown is the place to which he always returns. Jazz musician, policeman, public servant, prison manager, prominent campaigner for restorative justice, Kim’s life is full of passion and spirit, research and writing, action and commitment. His childhood was shaped by life in a country town, by family and Māori community, somewhat by school and rather more by playing jazz. Journey towards justice is an eloquent account of a life that is at once ordinary and exceptional, told with warmth and honesty. There are dark moments and hilarious ones, achievements and failures. Above all, there is love, compassion, vision, and a profound determination to bring justice to all"--Publisher information.

Summary: "Demon hunter Zenon lives with a dark secret. When he escaped Hell, he didn't leave alone—and he'll do anything to keep the shameful reason hidden. But when an intoxicating demi-demon, new to her powers, has him breaking all his own rules just to be near her, he knows he's in serious trouble. Painfully aware of being different, Mia Westbrook has always kept herself apart from others. Yet her new demon life comes with strings attached, namely one scarred and broodingly seductive knight who storms into her world—and her heart—and may just be her perfect match"--Publisher information.

Seventeen-year-old Riki is worried about school and the future, but mostly about his girlfriend, Gemma, who has suddenly stopped seeing or texting him. But on his way to see her, he's hit by a bus and his life radically changes. Riki wakes up one hundred years earlier in Egypt, in 1915, and finds he's living through his great-great-grandfather's experiences in the Māori Contingent. At the same time that Riki tries to make sense of what's happening and find a way home, we go back in time and read transcripts of interviews Riki's great-great-grandfather gave in 1975 about his experiences in this war and its impact on their family. Gradually we realise the fates of Riki and his great-great-grandfather are intertwined"--Publisher's website.

Summary
"New job. New town. New ghost! Fifty-two-year-old Emily Curtis wants a job so she can rebuild her shattered life. One year ago, a devastating car accident stole her occupation, her home, and half her mind. Working in the charity shop of a small town in rural New Zealand seems ideal... until she awakens a ghost! Since the annoying spirit won't move on until her murderer is found, Emily sets to work. However, the ethereal Mrs Pettigrew doesn't remember dying, let alone who killed her. With family remaining close-lipped and old employees keeping secrets, it'll take more than Emily's newfound ability to talk to the dead to solve the crime"--Back cover of print version.

Series BWB e-book.

Summary "As a group of islands in the far south-west Pacific Ocean, New Zealand has a history that is steeped in the sea. Its people have encountered the sea in many different ways: along the coast, in port, on ships, beneath the waves, behind a camera, and in the realm of the imagination. While New Zealanders have continually shaped and altered their marine environments, the ocean, too, has shaped their lives. A richly illustrated and multi-disciplinary work encompassing history, marine science, archaeology and visual culture, New Zealand and the Sea explores New Zealand’s varied relationship with the sea, challenging the conventional view that history unfolds on land. Leading and emerging scholars highlight the dynamic, ocean-centred history of these islands and their inhabitants, offering fascinating new perspectives on New Zealand’s pasts"--Publisher information.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;Ngoingoi Pēwhairangi was a highly respected leader from Te Whānau-a-Ruataupare at Tokomaru Bay who was passionate about the revitalisation and flourishing of the Māori world. She actively introduced initiatives in education, language and the arts and was a Māori leader of note, receiving a QSM for her services to Māori. She is also widely remembered for her beautiful song compositions, which are performed today. This biography describes her considerable achievements across many areas, her work for others, her humility and perseverance, and it brings her to life through stories from her peers, former students and family&quot;--Publisher information.</td>

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;'Did you ever try to do what you thought was the right thing, but ended up getting into big trouble? I did. It was on the night of the riot. Snow' Goodison works in Wanganui as an errand boy for German pork butcher, Mr Schmidt. He has a care-free life, enjoying playing football and collecting cigarette cards. But in May 1915, the passenger liner Lusitania is sunk off the coast of Ireland by a German submarine. Shocked by this horror, a group of Wanganui citizens lead a patriotic march to Mr Schmidt's shop. It is attacked and looted. Snow was seen outside the shop during the trouble and is accused of being involved in the riot. Would he do such a thing?' Based on an actual event, Night of the Riot is the riveting story of a 14-year old boy learning about his place in the world and standing up for what he thinks is right&quot;--Author's website.</td>

Contents: Tom's inheritance -- Twice born -- Galatine's curse.
Summary: Tom's inheritance: "When Tom accidentally crosses to the Otherworld in search of his missing grandfather, he is dismayed to learn of another reason why he's been drawn to this mystical land. The Lady of the Lake has a task for him. He must travel to Avalon and wake King Arthur from his enchanted sleep. Tom discovers the ancient stories are real - and so are ancient enemies. A magical tale of fantasy and fun, for older children and all lovers of Arthurian legend"--Print record. Twice born: "It's been over a year since Tom returned from the ancient land of the Other after waking King Arthur, and he wishes he'd never left, so when Beansprout returns to see if he wants to go back, he leaps at the chance. He is overjoyed to be reunited with his friends, and he joins them in the search for Nimue, a priestess of Avalon who has disappeared. While they investigate Nimue's disappearance they wonder whether she's been taken by force, or is she deliberately hiding? And is her disappearance linked to something, or someone, in the past?"--Print record Galatine's curse: "Tom and Arthur are living at New Camelot, and Arthur is hosting a tournament. Eager to test his new sword-fighting skills, Tom is competing, but while the games are being played, someone attacks their friends. Before anyone else gets hurt, Tom needs to find them. Tom’s sword, Galatine, seems to be the focus of these attacks. Their investigations uncover Galatine’s dark history, and a family secret that reaches into the present. Tom has to act quickly if he is to prevent another tragedy"--Print record.

Summary " In the cold and distant land of Patagonia, a starving stray cat suddenly finds herself aboard a small sailing boat. Chosen by the captain to become ship's cat, she is named Yanmara. Before she knows it, Yanmara is out at sea and crossing the vast Pacific Ocean to New Zealand. In her new role she must find her sea legs fast and learn the ropes. Only then can she sit the test to officially become ship's cat. But the boat is so small, the ocean so big and the captain is almost always cranky. Sea creatures of the deep frighten Yanmara as she encounters the spectacular, strange, silly and scary. Some follow, some stow away, one tries to drown her and another nearly capsizes the whole boat. Then one morning ... the mighty Pacific is in a very bad mood, just when New Zealand is so close. The ocean screams and rages day and night, and their boat is tossed around like a rubber duck. Can Yanmara survive the storm to fulfill her destiny? Sail along on her adventures and find out"--Back cover of print version.

Summary  "In early 1860's, New Zealand, the beautiful region of Taranaki is engulfed in a brutal land war. Continuing with its unpopular policy, the New Zealand government, bolstered by British soldiers, seeks punitive and severe action against rebel Maori called 'Kingites' who openly resist the Government's determined effort to confiscate their land. To combat growing opposition and to fight rebel Maori in the bush, General Cameron, head of New Zealand's armed forces, establishes an elite, irregular fighting force called the Forest Rangers. Forest Ranger Company No. 2, commanded by Captain Gustavus Von Tempsky, deploys his troops to Taranaki. Befriended by Von Tempsky, the Ranger's newest recruit, Moana (Ira) Rangitira, shows his formidable skills that rebels grow to fear. Moana faces challenges that test his will to survive against a brutal and clever enemy deep in the rugged Taranaki wilderness. Can he protect what is closest to his heart, or has he lost everything? The Breath of God is the first in the Moana Rangitira adventure series"--Back cover.

Summary  "Ash McCarthy thought he finally had it made: away from home and all its claustrophobic responsibilities, he's revelling in the freedom of student hostel life. But life is about to take a devastating turn, when two police officers knock on his door. Their life-changing news forces him to return home to his Down Syndrome brother Mikey, and impels him into a shady world of political intrigue, corruption, terrorism and lies . . . so many lies. As if this isn't bad enough, the whole country is imploding, as the world's two greatest super-powers start a fight that leaves New Zealand 'piggy-in-the-middle' of their deadly games. While trying to protect Mikey, along with strangers Travis and Jiao, his fight to uncover the truth turns into a nightmare race to save their lives and stop the destruction of all the principles he holds dear"--Publisher information.

Summary "After the stormy and sensuous start of their relationship, Lothar Mintze and Thomas Greenbourgh have finally found peace together, in England. Their relationship has settled into a comfortable routine, and life is mostly peaceful, enjoyable, and filled with the music that they both love so much. Mostly, but not entirely. All is not as perfect as it seems. As Lothar falls deeper into bitterness and depression, Thomas can’t help but be curious. He knows that something from Lothar’s past is the reason for his lethargy, something related to the men he’d only heard of in passing. Something to do with the name, “Huntington.” He becomes more and more obsessed with that name, and the stranger it belongs to. Lothar decides that the only way to sate his lover’s curiosity, and hopefully restore peace, is with the truth. The two of them launch off on a trip around the world, to finally introduce Thomas to the other members of his blood family. Along the way, Lothar finally reveals the truth about his past. The whole truth. Will Thomas still be able to stay at his lover’s side once he knows everything that the violinist has kept hidden from him, or will those dark secrets tear their budding romance apart?"—Back cover of print version.

<td>&quot;Well-bred women should not be seen kissing their butlers. Even when the butler in question is secretly a fae prince. Wyn knows falling for Hetta Valstar is a bad idea. She's not only human but the new magically bonded ruler of Stariel Estate. If their relationship gets out, it'll cause a scandal that could ruin their attempts to sort out the estate's crumbling finances. Of course, it doesn't help that Stariel has decided it doesn't like him. But more than jealous sentient estates and Hetta's good name are at stake. Wyn's past is coming back to bite him. Ten years ago, he broke an oath and shattered the power of his home court, and the fae have been hunting him ever since. Now they've found his hiding place, they won't rest until he's dead or the debt is repaid—and they don't play nicely&quot;--Back cover of print version.</td>
