The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library Act 1965, Section 30A, amended 1994. It includes New Zealand and Tokelau books, serials, newspapers, music, maps, videos, sound recordings, kits, and pictures. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The catalogue records produced meet international standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of May 2019. The items are grouped under the main subject schedules of the Dewey Decimal Classification system. Within each subject grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

Title: Ex libris : regarding three libraries / photographs by Sam Hartnett ; edited by Lucy Treep & Anna Miles.

ISBN: 0994149166 paperback

Publishing Details: [Auckland] : Objectspace, [2018]

Physical Details: 92 unnumbered pages : colour illustrations ; 29 cm

Summary: "The Ex Libris exhibition and publication celebrate three specialist University of Auckland libraries designed as purpose-built learning environments to support education and scholarship in the creative arts. In June 2018 the University of Auckland Vice-Chancellor announced that these libraries would close and their collections would be consolidated within the General Library on Alfred Street. In this process, 45 full-time library staff will lose their jobs. The Elam School of Fine Arts, The School of Architecture & Planning and the School of Music & Dance will lose architecturally-designed libraries adjacent to their teaching spaces. Photographer, Samuel Hartnett was approached to make a record of the three libraries. Ex Libris: Regarding Three Libraries, the publication that accompanies his exhibition reflects these places of "eureka discoveries and infinite possibilities," including a history of each library, record of the specialist librarians who have tended them, and the action by current students in response to the imminent loss of these spaces. The contributors are Sait Akkirman, Rachel Ashby, Kathryn Aucamp, Sebastian Clarke, Warren Drake, Elena Lochore-Ward, Anna Miles, Victoria Passau, Nova Paul, Tim Sumner, Lucy Treep, Brian Flaherty, Raukura Turei, Stephen Turner, Linda Tyler and Jane Wild."--Objectspace website (accessed 7/12/2018).

Summary  "Searching for a new job can be exhausting and unsuccessful applications can leave people feeling demoralised. This book presents a framework of resilience, based on the widely-renowned GROW coaching framework, that can be used as a coaching tool to support job searchers, but also provides job searchers with the tools to grow their own resilience during job searches and in the workplace. Including coaching exercises, self-coaching exercises, sound-bites of advice from successful job searchers and useful templates, this book is an essential read for both career coaches and clients" -- publisher.

| Summary               | Learn to understand the way you think and you will be able to deal with many of life's difficult moments. This book can give you life's most essential skill: the ability to notice and manage your thoughts. This skill can fundamentally changed your present and your future. Written in an accessible and humorous style, this book teaches you to know what is going on in your mind and how to get your feelings under control. It'll help you adapt and feel better about your place in the world. Psychologist Gwendoline Smith uses her broad scientific knowledge and experience to explain in clear and simple language what's happening when you are feeling overwhelmed, anxious and confused. |

Summary  "For me, the journey from hard-line Christian fundamentalism to more liberal theology has not been an easy process, as I have had to shed precisely held beliefs and understandings, which had shaped my worldview of life, the universe - and the God I had believed in. The journey has been and continues to be, a quest of discovery to find what is true and what is real. But truth is ultimately liberating. Even though my current understanding of these things will no doubt continue to be refined, I write this book for those who desperately want to find what is real and what is not. There are some who will fiercely disagree with, and take offence with some of the conclusions I have drawn. But I hope that this book will help many readers find answers to some of the big questions about life and that in their own journey, they too, will begin to understand the paradox of the divine hiddenness of an elusive

9781988516370 paperback

Physical Details: 270 pages, 24 unnumbered pages of plates: illustrations (some colour), portraits (some colour); 24 cm

Summary: "Annette King is New Zealand's longest-serving women MP - 1984-2017, less three years in the wilderness from 1990-1993. In her 30 years in Parliament, she spent 15 in government (10 as a cabinet minister) and 15 in opposition. She is a former deputy leader of the Labour Party, and held a number of senior cabinet portfolios. This book takes a dual approach to her life and political career. Annette's career embraces a tumultuous time in New Zealand politics and Labour politics: Rogernomics and Lange's independent foreign policy; the 1990s and advent of MMP; the refinement of Rogernomics under Ruth Richardson etc; the rise and nearly fall of Helen Clark; the Clark government (where Annette served as Health, Food Safety, Police, Transport, Justice and Racing Minister); the subsequent 9 years of difficult and troubled opposition for Labour; and eventually the rise of Jacinda Ardern. Annette played pivotal roles in all these eras"--Publisher information.

Celebrating women of the Stratford District : 25 years of female Citizen's Award recipients : stories from the Stratford Community / compiled by Gloria Webby.

The Stratford District Council Citizens Awards recognise citizens of the district who have, through personal leadership, inspiration, or devotion to a cause or causes, made a significant and positive contribution to the well-being of the district and its citizens. Since the establishment of the Awards in 1991 forty-three Stratford women have been recipients. These profiles tell the stories of some of those women--Page (1).

Summary "This volume explores mixed race/mixed ethnic identities in Aotearoa/New Zealand. Mixed race and mixed ethnic identity are growing in popularity as research topics around the world. This edited collection looks at mixed race and mixed ethnic identity in New Zealand: a unique context, as multiple ethnic identities have been officially recognised for more than 20 years. The book draws upon research across a range of disciplines, exploring historical and contemporary ways in which official and social understandings of mixed race and ethnicity have changed. It focuses on the interactions between race, ethnicity, national identity, indigeneity and culture, especially in terms of visibility and self-defined identity in the New Zealand context. Mana Tangatarua situates New Zealand in the existing international scholarship, positioning experiences from New Zealand within theoretical understandings of mixedness. The chapters develop wider theories of mixed race and mixed ethnic identity, at macro and micro levels, looking at the interconnections between the two. The volume as a whole reveals the diverse ways in which mixed race is experienced and understood, providing a key contribution to the theory and development of mixed race globally."--Provided by publisher.

Summary  Shirley Smith was one of the most remarkable New Zealanders of the 20th century, a woman whose lifelong commitment to social justice, legal reform, gender equality and community service left a profound legacy. She was born in Wellington in 1916. While her childhood was clouded by loss - her mother died when she was three months old and her beloved father, lawyer and later Supreme Court Judge David Smith, served overseas during the war - she had a privileged upbringing. She studied classics at Oxford University, where she threw herself into social, cultural and political activities. Despite contracting TB and spending months in a Swiss clinic, she graduated with a good Second and an intellectual and moral education that would guide her through the rest of her life. She returned to New Zealand when war broke out, and taught classics at Victoria and Auckland University Colleges, before marrying eminent economist and public servant Dr W.B. Sutch in 1944, and giving birth to a daughter in 1945. She kept her surname - unusual at the time - and poured her energy into issues of human rights and social causes. She qualified as a lawyer at the age of 40, and in her career of 40 years broke down many barriers, her relationship with the Mongrel Mob epitomising her role as a champion of the marginalised and vulnerable. In 1974, Bill Sutch was arrested and charged with espionage. After a sensational trial he was acquitted by a jury, but the question of his guilt has never been settled in the court of public opinion. Shirley had reached her own political turning point in 1956, with Khrushchev's revelations about Stalin and the Hungarian crisis, but she remained loyal to her husband, and the ongoing controversy weighed heavily on her later years. Shirley Smith: An Examined Life tells the story of a remarkably warm and generous woman, one with a rare gift for frankness, an implacable sense of principle, and a personality of complexity and formidable energy. Her life was shaped by some of the most turbulent currents of the 20th century, and she in turn helped shape her country for the better.

Title: Water protectors: the story of the campaign to save Te Waikoropupū Springs in poetry and images / Kevin Moran.

Author: Moran, Kevin 1951- author.

ISBN: 0473455129
9780473455125 paperback

Physical Details: [v, 92 pages : colour illustrations ; 23 cm]

Summary: "Te Waikoropupū Springs in Golden Bay New Zealand is a national treasure. Crystal clear waters surge to the surface to form a bubbling fount. Over 90,000 people flock to visit each year. Many experience a 'spiritual presence.’ People return again and again. Yet Te Waikoropupū is under deadly threat. Nitrate leaching from intensive dairy farms is the culprit. The nitrate threatens the ecosystem of tiny creatures that clean the waters of the Arthur Marble Aquifer which feeds the Springs. An environmental battle has broken out between those who want to protect Te Waikoropupū and the Tasman District Council who wants to allocate more water to intensive dairy farmers. Kevin Moran is a poet-activist who coordinates the Save Our Springs campaign. His poetry tells the story of the fight to protect Te Waikoropupū. As you read the poems with their commentary and view the photographs and paintings you will enter the world of an environmental struggle. You will read of protests, passionate petitions and about the small Iwi battling to protect Te Waikoropupū through the implementation of a Water Conservation Order."--Publisher description.

Summary
"Have you just discovered that someone you know is a drug addict? Are you heartbroken? Do you feel overwhelmed? If so, you are not alone. That is what happened to me. I thought I would have to bury my daughter by Christmas 2014. Snippets of my and my daughter's story aired on 60 Minutes and Seven Sharp in 2015—current affairs programmes in New Zealand. Now, you can read the full account of my perspective of the traumas that led to my daughter's addiction, the impact of them on me and what I learned along the way. My daughter shares her story in a companion book. Together, we have a miraculous story that has a happy ending. The great triumph after tragedy is that it is always possible to rebuild something with more beautiful results. My daughter and I are now closer than ever and she is doing better than I could have ever imagined. Expect to feel encouraged, empowered and hopeful as you travel through the pages of this book. Where There Is Life, There really Is Hope, the inside story of a mother of a P addict who survived the rigours and now wants to share the insights she learned along the way"--Back cover.

Summary  "It is so easy for those men who choose to deceive us to win. But hopefully this book written in goetry, will help to supply a little insight. Insight what a wonderful joy to receive it, for once we have it, it may provide for us with a marvelous slice of life, as those stumbling blocks of hindsight transpose to secure-footings of steppingstones, as forward me move, empowered, for those men of their superficial charms are rendered inadequate, unable any longer of us to manipulate, for now on our side we have a healthy and formidable portion of personal and profound foresight"--Back cover.

Summary  "In 1975, Marilyn Waring was elected to the New Zealand Parliament as the MP for Raglan. Aged just 23, she was one of only a few female MPs who served through the turbulent years of Muldoon’s government. For nine years, Waring was at the centre of major political decisions, until her parliamentary career culminated during the debate over nuclear arms. When Waring informed Muldoon that she intended to cross the floor and vote for the opposition bill which would make New Zealand nuclear free, he called a snap election. And the government fell…This is an autobiographical account of Waring’s extraordinary years in parliament. She tells the story of her journey from being elected as a new National Party MP in a conservative rural seat to being publicly decried by the Prime Minister for her ‘feminist anti-nuclear stance’ that threatened to bring down his government. Her tale of life in a male-dominated and relentlessly demanding political world is both uniquely of its time and still of pressing relevance today”--Back cover.

Summary  "It is tempting to take the tremendous rate of contemporary linguistic change for granted. What is required, in fact, is a radical reinterpretation of what language is. Steven Roger Fischer charts the history of language from the times of Homo erectus, Neanderthal humans and Homo sapiens through to the nineteenth century, when the science of linguistics was developed, as he analyses the emergence of language as a science and its development as a written form. He considers the rise of pidgin, creole, jargon and slang, as well as the effects radio and television, propaganda, advertising and the media are having on language today. Originally published in 1999, this new format edition, which includes a new preface by the author, also shows how digital media will continue to reshape and re-invent the ways in which we communicate"--Page [4] of cover.

Physical Details 5, 34 pages ; illustrations ; 30 cm

Summary "Applies to routers intended for cutting slots into or shaping the edge of various materials. The rated voltage is not more than 250 V for single-phase a.c. or d.c. tools, and 480 V for three-phase a.c. tools. The rated input is not more than 3 700 W. This standard deals with the hazards presented by tools which are encountered by all persons in the normal use and reasonably foreseeable misuse of the tools. Hand-held electric tools, which can be mounted on a support or working stand for use as fixed tools without any alteration of the tool itself, are within the scope of this standard and such combination of a hand-held tool and a support is considered to be a transportable tool and thus covered by the relevant Part 3. Routers that are primarily used for trimming the edge of materials are also known as trimmers. Routers that are used to cut various materials through the rotary action are also known as rotary cutters. This standard will supersede AS/NZS 60742.2.17:2011 on 30 November 2021. Identical to, and includes the text of, IEC 62841-2-17 Ed 1 (2017)."--Publisher's website.

Summary  "Calling on new research in neuroscience and a new interpretation of old ideas, this book tackles the age-old questions of how thinking, consciousness and emotion happen. We can be irrational and unpredictable but we are completely understandable, the author explains in this fascinating introduction to our complex inner world. At a fundamental level, he suggests, thinking happens when areas within the frontal cortex use the components of attention, emotion and memory to produce higher order functions such as consciousness and perception. These thought processes are similar in most of us. We are uniquely unpredictable simply because we all have a mix of different genes and experience. The value of story, why you should drive with your lights on, confusion around definitions of consciousness and our voice within, and new ways of thinking about feelings and emotion, are some of the topics on which this book offers fresh insights"--Publisher information.

Summary  "In this definitive text, the major medicines, devices and vaccines used by women world-wide are brought together for the first time in a single volume. Written and edited by international experts with an evidence-based approach, Medicines for Women offers a comprehensive summary of all key areas. In the first part, issues relating to female drug exposure and prescribing to subgroups of women - for example during pregnancy and lactation, and to adolescent women - are presented in the context of contemporary clinical practice. In the second part, specific groups of medicines are reviewed, including oral contraceptives (with an additional chapter on venous thromboembolism), emergency contraception, contraceptive devices, treatment of chronic pelvic pain, hormone replacement therapy, bisphosphonates, herbal medicines for women, and human papilloma virus vaccines. Every chapter reviews and summarizes the efficacy and safety of each group of products and concludes with a useful set of clinical 'take-home' messages. In the third part of the book, broader perspectives are presented - from a primary-care overview of prescribing for women, through to regulatory, political and religious aspects, including issues in developing countries. The two final chapters focus on communicating the benefits and risks of medicines for women. This book is aimed at prescribers, other healthcare professionals and students of women's health throughout the world"--Back cover.

Summary  "Many small business owners start with great enthusiasm for their new business, but after a few years give up due to frustration, staffing issues, bureaucratic nonsense, or running out of funds to keep going. It's not all a bed of roses for sure, but for someone else coming along and picking up the pieces of your washed-up dreams, there's potentially a gold mine you're sitting on and maybe are unaware of it. Before you walk away from all the hard work of creating and establishing a small business venture, you might want to sit down and read this book and identify for yourself exactly what you can do to turn things around. If you are seeking a new business to buy, you're also going to love learning from Leonie Freeman's own journey and wise advice. Leonie Freeman shares her story of buying and nurturing a small business, in a way that anyone who's been there can relate to. Leonie now writes and speaks throughout NZ and Australia about how to tackle challenges and re-ignite a positive outcome for any sized Small and medium enterprise"--Provided by publisher.

Summary "A colourful account of the men and women, past and present, who have committed their lives to shearing in New Zealand. Their voices - in their own words, often brutally honest reflections on what it is to be a shearer - are at the heart of this book: their training, their tools, their camaraderie, and the gruelling, itinerant nature of the job. Old hands like Brian 'Snow' Quinn, Tony Dobbs and Peter Casserly, and Peter and Elsie Lyon, as well as those newer to the scene, offer personal insights, often for the first time"--Publisher information.

Physical Details  vii, 259 pages : illustrations (chiefly colour) ; 30 cm
Summary  "New Zealand-born Frances Hodgkins (1869–1947) arrived in London in 1901 and, by the 1920s, had become a leading British modernist, exhibiting frequently with avant-garde artists such as Ben Nicholson, Barbara Hepworth and Henry Moore. This book explores Hodgkins as a traveller across cultures and landscapes – teaching and discovering the cubists in Paris, absorbing the landscape and light of Ibiza and Morocco, and exhibiting with the progressive Seven & Five Society in London. Complete with a visual chronology of the artist’s encounters abroad, alongside over one hundred of Hodgkins’ key paintings and drawings, the book is an illuminating journey that moves us from place to place through the writings of a number of national and international art historians, curators and critics: Frances Spalding (University of Cambridge, England), Alexa Johnston (Auckland-based writer and curator), Elena Taylor (University of New South Wales, Australia), Antoni Ribas Tur (Ara newspaper, Spain), and Julia Waite, Sarah Hillary, Catherine Hammond and Mary Kisler (Auckland Art Gallery Toi o Tāmaki, New Zealand)"--Inside front flap.

Summary  "Gretchen Albrecht CNZM is one of New Zealand's most significant painters. Over the course of her long career, her work has continued to surprise and delight, and her paintings feature in many important collections both in New Zealand and overseas. This comprehensive survey of her much-admired work reveals a painter steeped in art history, drawing freely from a range of sources to create vivid, intellectually persuasive and deeply affecting work, and determined to push her work in new directions. With a text by leading art writer Luke Smythe, plus a preface by art curator Mary Kisler, this magnificent book both interrogates Albrecht's work and celebrates her accomplishments"--Inside front flap.

Summary: "In uncovering the remarkable, largely unseen work of early New Zealand photographers, Hidden Light: Early Canterbury and West Coast Photography is an exploration of an often overlooked aspect of our artistic past. This publication highlights the sometimes unsettling stories of photographers at work in nineteenth-century Te Waipounamu. Spectacular landscapes by skilled amateurs and professionals join powerful images of tangata whenua, settlers and mining scenes. The stories and work of several little-known pioneering women photographers are also given new attention"--Inside back flap.

Summary  "Long ago, barn owls, black snakes, sugar-gliders and waterdragons lived in this town. Horses clopped along streets, wild rabbits and kangaroos nibbled grass and hopped away through eucalypt lanes. Frogs croaked from creeks, people grew food, saved seeds, made jam, kept hens, cows and sheep in their yards...bees made honey from our gardens, bower birds left nests in hedges"--Text.

Michael Shepherd is one of New Zealand's most distinguished contemporary artists. Born in Hamilton in 1950, Shepherd spent his early years in Ngaruawahia. This Waikato upbringing has played a key role in Shepherd's artistic career. Youthful proximity to the sites of pivotal events in New Zealand's nineteenth-century history fuelled in Shepherd a decades-long fascination with exploring the complexities of the colonial era and its legacies. Since the 1980s, Shepherd has been producing intricate, painterly works, often in series, that engage with history and memory, mining connections between past and present, frequently on his Waikato home-turf.

Summary "Pacific Films was founded on the belief that without locally made feature films, a country imperils its very identity. Led by its idiosyncratic producer John O'Shea, the story of Pacific Films begins at the emergence of a New Zealand national cinema in the second half of the twentieth century, when Pacific was virtually the only independent voice, beholden neither to the government nor the establishment, but determined to establish the value of its production with both. In a converted bakery in Kilbirnie, O'Shea trained and mentored emerging film talent. The principal qualification for admission? A passion for film - and acceptance of the company's employment contract: last in, first out. There was something about the insecurity of not knowing where the next job would come from that, when coupled with a demanding work ethic, generated a sense of creative collaboration. Whatever It Takes recounts the politics and process behind ground-breaking works including Broken Barrier, Runaway, Don't Let It Get You, Tangata Whenua, Leave All Fair and Ngati, and features a roll-call of cameos in Tony Williams, Kiri Te Kanawa, Howard Morrison, Barry Crump, Michael Seresin, Sam Neill and Barry Barclay, united by visionary producer John O'Shea. This is a story of entrepreneurs and dreamers, a disparate bunch bound together in pursuit of films that would define New Zealand cinema"--Inside front flap.

Summary  The inspirational memoir of an extraordinary All Black. New Zealand rugby union player Neven MacEwan played 52 matches for the All Blacks from 1956 to 1962, including 20 internationals and two South African provincial matches as captain. In this frank and inspiring memoir, Neven talks about his early life, and his extraordinary success as a rugby player. A lock and number eight, Neven represented Wellington at a provincial level, before achieving the ultimate in New Zealand rugby - wearing the revered All Black jersey. His contemporaries included Tiny White, Don Clarke, Wilson Whineray, Kelvin Tremain, Colin Meads and Ian Clarke. But this is not just a memoir of rugby achievements; Neven talks frankly about the difficulties in his life 'when the crowd stops roaring' and the reality away from the rugby field. There are immense challenges, including being charged by New Zealand Police for theft, a suicide attempt, and his battle with alcoholism. But there is also hope, triumph and new beginnings in this candid memoir, with Neven going on to give back and help numerous others who have lost their way. All Black, school teacher, shipping travel agent, public relations officer, prison chaplain, husband, father and grandfather, When the Crowd Stops Roaring is an insightful biography of an extraordinary New Zealander, both on and off the rugby playing field.

Summary  "At the Ford family ranch, getting thrown from a horse is a part of growing up. But one cowboy is still learning the ropes when it comes to falling in love. Tanner Ford has been riding bulls and busting broncos his entire life. So when he takes a hard spill--and sustains serious injuries--he refuses to believe his rodeo days are behind him. He's determined to restore his body and revive his career. There's just one problem: the finest physical therapist in town just happens to be the only woman he's ever loved. Lauren Lewis knows she made a huge mistake when she walked away from Tanner. But she was young, ambitious, and focused on her medical career. Now, after all these years, Tanner's back--and, in spite of his injuries, looking better than she allows herself to admit. She agrees to work on Tanner's big bruised muscles until he's back in bull-riding shape again. But how can Lauren resist the smoldering attraction between her and her old flame ... and will she be able to live without him?"--Back cover.

Series  Bloomsbury studies in classical reception.
Summary  Leading and emerging, early career scholars in Classical Reception Studies come together in this volume to explore the under-represented area of the Australasian Classical Tradition.
           They interrogate the interactions between Mediterranean Antiquity and the antipodean worlds of New Zealand and Australia through the lenses of literature, film, theatre and fine art. Of interest to scholars across the globe who research the influence of antiquity on modern literature, film, theatre and fine art, this volume fills a decisive gap in the literature by bringing antipodean research into the spotlight. Following a contextual introduction to the field, the six parts of the volume explore the latest research on subjects that range from the Lord of the Rings and Xena: Warrior Princess franchises to important artists such as Sidney Nolan and local authors whose work offers opportunities for cross-cultural and interdisciplinary analysis with well-known Western authors and artists.

As the 19th century draws to a close, the struggle for women's suffrage has finally reached New Zealand. But when the tide of change rolls in, it threatens to engulf two young women from very different backgrounds, who are coming of age amid the tumult. Torn between the two worlds that make up her heritage, Matariki Drury is the daughter of a successful white businesswoman and a descendant of Maori royalty. Scarred by poverty and hoping to make a new life for herself in this strange and forbidding land, Violet Paisley is the middle child of a poor Welsh coal-mining family. Drawn together by their shared commitment to social change, and tested by traumas that neither of them could foresee, these two independent-minded women will find themselves thrust onto the front lines of the fight for equal rights and racial justice. To win their place in this world, they must learn to rise above their personal pain and choose a path of reconciliation rather than retribution.

Summary  Don't fight the winds of change. Ride them. The dawning twentieth century brings change to New Zealand, and new opportunities for any woman bold enough to grasp them. Atamarie Turei, whose mother fought for suffrage, has enrolled as the first female student at the Canterbury College of Engineering. On a surveying trip she meets Richard Pearse, who shares her passion for aviation. Being part Maori, part white, and thoroughly independent, Atamarie is soon vilified by Richard's conservative farm community, forcing her to navigate the next step in a liberating life. Roberta Fence, Atamarie's best friend, has just graduated from college. Obsessed with charismatic, womanising doctor Kevin Drury, Roberta follows him to South Africa, where their work together in the brutal Boer concentration camps will change her, but not define her. Soon, Atamarie and Roberta will discover that destiny lies closer to home. There, each woman forges a path through star-crossed love, family upheaval and a shifting social landscape. And by reconciling ambition with the spirituality of her ancestors, Atamarie endeavours to make her dreams take flight at last.

Summary "When Hazel is given the chance to parachute into Nazi-occupied France, she seizes the opportunity to do more for the British war effort than file paperwork. Alongside her childhood friend, French-born Rose, she quickly rises up the ranks of the freedom fighters. For Rose, the Resistance is a link to her late husband, and a way to move forward without him. What starts out as helping downed airmen becomes a bigger cause when they meet Sophia, a German escapee and fierce critic of Hitler who is wanted by the Gestapo. Together, the three women will form a bond that will last a lifetime. But amid the turmoil and tragedy of warfare, all three risk losing everything—and everyone—they hold dear. Will their united front be strong enough to see them through?"--Back cover.

The bad place: songs 1-50 -- The better place: sings 51-99 -- The good place: songs 100-147.

Snatched snoozing from a mountainside above Lake Rotoiti by his own bumptiousness, and Samuel Beckett, Mr Gallas flies upon a Guided Tour of The Bad Place, The Better Place, and The Good Place, to view their horrors, hopes, despairs and delights. Written in 147 small Songs, this metaphysical plunge, from torment to triumph, features The Tall Knight, The Winsome Weka, 5 Dimensions, Lineout the Dog, torture, a Vegetable Ewe, several Pukekos, a skiing Pohutukawa Tree, ordure, a Polar Rose, The Golden Kiwi, souls falling off things, Philosophy, 78 encounters with the affectionate dead, and lots of bright, coloured lights. Constructed according to an irrefutable, meticulously arranged and explained system of Much Higher Physics, this 21st Century Dante reassesses what are the deadliest of sins, the moral dimensions of forgivable wickedness, and the most splendid qualities of modern man and woman ...and what will happen to their actors.

Translated from the Dutch.

Papa Monkey and Little Monkey are on their way. But the street is very busy and they are going so slowly! Little Monkey loses patience and jumps onto the fire engine. Up the ladder from there and he joins a TV crew! Then the garbage truck, an aquarium bus, a food cart for rabbits packed with carroty treats, Arctic animals traveling by snow globe, a jewel thief's getaway car ... There is so much going on in the street, it's become a playground! Each vehicle in this wordless picture book contains a world of detail, activity and humor to share with curious toddlers.

Summary: "Long ago, Tangaloa cast a fiery net upon the waters and drew forth ocean’s might - the crashing wave. The surging tide that speaks to Masina the moon. All this Tangaloa fashioned with godly hands into Telesa Vasa Loloa. She was beautiful. Sacred one of ocean. A fierce warrior. Called to watch over earth, and stand guardian against Man, he that had chosen to be the destroyer...Leila Folger is Telesā and in the Telsā trilogy: The Covenant Keeper, When Water Burns and The Bone Bearer, she discovered her past and her powers, and with it her responsibilities, before finding the love of Daniel Tahi. Now their struggles are over and they are just a couple in love. They have their happy ending - or do they? Pele the fire goddess may have been defeated, but there are others who still hold Leila responsible for crimes of the past. And now a stranger from Daniel’s past appears bringing vital secrets and memories long thought lost. Can Daniel and Leila’s love survive? And when the ocean remembers who she is
- will she choose a long buried love or a fury reborn?"--Back cover.

Summary An NYPD robbery detective uses his insider cop knowledge to rob rich criminals. The latest from Ben Sanders, following his novels American Blood and Marshall's Law. Rip-offs are a dangerous game, but heist man Miles Keller thinks he's found a good strategy: rob rich New York criminals and then retire early, before word's out about his true identity. New town, new name, no worries. Retirement can't come soon enough, though. The NYPD is investigating him for the shooting of a hitman named Jack Deen, who was targeting Lucy Gates--a former police informant and Miles's ex-lover. Miles thinks shooting hitmen counts as altruism, but in any case a murder charge would make life difficult. He's ready to go to ground, but then Nina Stone reappears in his life. Nina is a fellow heist professional and the estranged wife of LA crime boss Charles Stone. Miles last saw her five years ago, and since then her life has grown more complicated: her husband wants her back, and he's dispatched his go-to gun thug to play repo man. Complicating matters is the fact that the gun thug in question is Bobby Deen, cousin of the dead Jack Deen--and Bobby wants vengeance. The stakes couldn't be higher, but Nina has an offer that could be lucrative. Maybe Miles can stick around a while longer...

Summary: "Attached to the 1st South African Infantry Battalion (part of the British Eighth Army) from July 1941 to December 1942, Captain Jimmy Mullins served as a frontline doctor in North Africa during World War II and saw action in the battles of Tobruk, Gazala and Alamein. Compiled for the first time by his son Chris, this book presents his matter-of-fact letters, written under strict censorship to his family. Punctuated by a dry sense of humour, the letters contain colourful descriptions of desert life, trips to the Holy Land, ancient history, boredom, survival, the fine art of "scrounging" and the war itself"—Back cover.

Summary "He was the son of a hereditary peer, one of the wealthiest men in Britain. His childhood was privileged; at Cambridge he flourished. At the age of 21 he founded The Film Society, and became a pioneering standard-bearer for film as art. He was a collaborator of Alfred Hitchcock, rescuing The Lodger and later producing his groundbreaking British thrillers The Man Who Knew Too Much, The 39 Steps, Secret Agent and Sabotage. He directed comedies from stories by H.G. Wells, worked in Hollywood with Eisenstein, and made documentaries in Spain during the Civil War. He lobbied for Trotsky to be granted asylum in the UK, and became a leading propagandist for the anti-fascist and Communist cause. Under the nose of MI5, who kept him under constant surveillance, he became a secret agent of the Comintern and a Soviet spy. A man of high intelligence and moral concern, he was blind to the atrocities of the Stalin regime. This is the remarkable story of Ivor Montagu, and of the burgeoning cinematic culture and left-wing politics of Britain between the wars. It is a story of restless energy and generosity of spirit; of creative achievement and intellectual corruption."--Provided by publisher.

Contents Garins diary, 1844 -- Garins diary, 1845 -- Garins diary, 1846 --Appendix A: Garin's 1876 lecture on the Northern war -- Appendix B: Mangakahia letters.

Summary "A French Marist priest, Father Antoine Garin was sent to run the remote Mangakahia mission station on the banks of the Wairoa River. Living Among the Northland Māori is Garin's diary recording his experiences from 1844 to 1846 as he gets to know the Māori in the region. The diary provides vivid accounts of contemporary events, as Garin came dangerously close to the action of the Northern War, and wrote of such prominent figures as Bishop Pompallier and of Hone Heke and Kawiti as they opposed the new colonial authorities. Above all, the diary is an intimate record of life in a Māori community in which Garin describes the close relationships he formed with his new neighbours - from his young followers and local families to the chiefs who offered him protection while he lived among them. This is the first full English translation of Garin's surviving Mangakahia journals and letters. Frank, open-minded and often humorous, Garin's diary is a major contribution to the early history of European settlement in Aotearoa and a compelling insight into Māori customs, values and beliefs of the time"--Back cover.

Summary  "The New Zealand Wars of the mid-nineteenth century profoundly shaped the course and direction of our nation’s history. Fought between the Crown and various groups of Māori between 1845 and 1872, the wars touched many aspects of life in nineteenth-century New Zealand, even in those regions spared actual fighting. Physical reminders of these conflicts and their aftermath can be found all over the country, whether in central Auckland, Wellington, Dunedin, or in more rural locations such as Te Pōrere or Te Awamutu. The wars are an integral part of the New Zealand story, but we have not always cared to remember or acknowledge them. Today interest in the wars is resurgent. Public figures are calling for the wars to be taught in all schools and a national day of commemoration was recently established. In The New Zealand Wars/Ngā Pakanga o Aotearoa, Vincent O'Malley explores the events, causes and consequences of these defining conflicts"--Back cover.

Summary  "From Wellington’s Plimmer Steps to the green hills of Motukawa ... Stories of Victorian and Edwardian life in the capital city lead on to the diverging paths of later generations, with an ongoing involvement in commerce, politics and farming. The hard days for farmers during the Depression, the interweaving of networks in rural communities, and the development of modern farms in the central North Island, make for a highly engaging read - as seen through the experiences of one remarkable family"--Publisher information.

In Wild Journeys Bruce Ansley retraces the path of doomed surveyor John Whitcombe across the Southern Alps, follows the raiding party of northern chief Te Puoho along the West Coast, sails around New Zealand's North and South capes, walks through the valley under the Two Thumb Range to mythical Mesopotamia, drives from Waiheke to Wanaka (in a hurry), sets off on a hunt for the South Island's 'Grey Ghost', looks deep into the heart of volcanic New Zealand and tracks the escape route of our most unlikely hero, jail-breaker George Wilder. These are stories about New Zealand, of wild journeys and strange ones, of exhilaration, joy, frailty and fear.

Summary  "Charlie Tripp, aka The Boss, bought Nithdale Station near Gore in 1924 and did the hard yards developing it into the stunning property it is today covering 1478ha (3652ac). It has been further developed by his grandson, Andrew. Nithdale Genetics is among the best in New Zealand. This is the true story of a man with high moral standards, legendary fitness, personal discipline, visual memory, excellent powers of observation and leadership qualities. Be inspired by the courage of this hard-working Southland farmer who led the First Commando Fiji Guerrillas in World War II. My parents were an exceptional couple. Their characters and influence in the local community, the farming world and in a much wider sphere were significant. My father's contribution to the war effort in the Solomon Islands, and the well-deserved Silver Star awarded to him by the Americans, is a unique story that you will not find in many of the war histories. My mother also made a huge impact in her community and was awarded a QSM for her work. DICK TRIPP The last chapter takes you into the heart of battles with the Japanese in the Solomon Islands in World War II. Charlie led his commandos; New Zealanders, Fijians and Tongans scouting in enemy territory to inform the Americans of their movements. Charlie Tripp has been described as an extraordinary hero"--Back cover.

The story begins with psychologist Dr Katherine Moore's last day at her Auckland therapy clinic. Succumbing to family pressure, she agrees to return to England to care for her elderly mother who is terminally ill. Arriving in Liverpool, Katherine is surprised at how negative her mother has become, so unlike the idealistic view she has maintained of her 'lovely gentle mammy'. After having spent 36 years living in NZ while her sisters have been 'run ragged' by their mother's demands, a time of reckoning has arrived. Katherine's unsuccessful attempts to deal with her mother's curmudgeonly attitude initially provide great entertainment for the family. To help her cope with this challenging situation, Katherine turns to the 'tools of her trade' as a psychologist, and soon the mother/daughter relationship develops into an extraordinary therapeutic alliance. Katherine teaches her mother to meditate and via guided imagery returns her to the dance halls of Liverpool in the 1940s. Her mother's successful 'mind-dancing' exceeds all expectations. The delicate balance of routine life is further upset when Katherine's rational scientifically trained views come into direct conflict with the family's superstitious beliefs and obsession with the paranormal. After the mother's death and before returning to NZ, Katherine encounters incidents that can't be rationally explained. These feelings force her to conclude that she is either facing her own madness or that something of a paranormal nature is taking place. These bizarre experiences strongly challenge her scepticism and beliefs.--Provided by publisher.

Summary "The story of thirteen-year-old Belinda lives in New Zealand together with her mother, her best friend Tui and Marmalade the cat. Fed up with her life, bored and lonely, she is inexplicably haunted by her father's death when she was just a baby and her first memories were beginning to form. One day, as she kicks up leaves in the gutter, she discovers a magic pink golf ball and starts to dream of her future as a champion golfer. It is a world of adventure, a strange environment where the unexpected is common, where past mythic worlds present themselves in dreams to guide her in her quest. Set in the lovely Whangaparaoa peninsula north of Auckland, we see Belinda emerge from a girl who is alienated and disconnected to one who is hopeful and engaged"--Back cover.

Summary  "There's a reason witches leave White Haven. Or at least that's what Avery keeps being told. The problem is, she doesn't know why. However, after she inherits a rune covered box and an intriguing letter, she now has plenty of reasons to find out the mysterious past of her home town, perched on the Cornish coast. But she's not the only witch in White Haven. There are five of them, all with an age old connection to the town and its magical roots. One of them is Alex Bonneville. After disappearing for a few years, he's back, as handsome as ever, and keen to get Avery's help when he starts having dark premonitions. Now is the time to uncover the past. Now is the time to reclaim their heritage. But someone will do anything to stop them"--Back cover.

Summary: Cassie has survived a hit and run but now, just out of hospital, she hears her father has disappeared - supposedly run off with a news reporter. As a senior congressman and Speaker of the House, her father is an important player in the tense world of American politics. Cassie knows he would not walk away from his career or his family and she is determined to find out what really happened. But there are bigger players who are equally determined she doesn't, and she no longer has a security detail ... I am outside the law. And I'm coming for you. In the high-stakes world of politics and business, who can she trust?

Summary: "A simple kiwi girl turned Hollywood superstar, that's what they call me. After a few too many drinks at one of the biggest awards ceremonies on the planet, I make one of the most epic faux pas of the century; I try to run off with someone else's award. You'd think it would be enough to put me on the scrap heap, forever known as, "that has-been actress from New Zealand". As luck would have it, a plucky drunk is just what the Ramirez brothers are looking for. Turns out, they're not the only ones. Literally falling into the strong, capable arms of my neighbor, Brock Appleby, I can't help but turn into a bumbling idiot whenever he's around. Hardworking, kind, and a gentleman to boot, Brock is everything I need, and nothing I feel I deserve. Running from a past that won't let me forget, it's no wonder I turn to the only thing that dulls the senses; alcohol. Can I overcome my past and forgive myself, or will I let my addiction take hold and drag me down?"--Back cover.

Summary Auckland,1956. Allie Manaia works at Smith and Caughey's department store. It's been two years since the Dunbar and Jones fire, where some of her friends perished, but she still has nightmares. Allie and her husband, Sonny, are desperate for a baby, after losing a child, and Allie's distress at not conceiving again is compounded when those around her seem to have no trouble falling pregnant - even when they shouldn't. Allie's neighbours have recently moved to suburban Auckland. Ana, now a housewife, misses her work on the farm, but she has her hands full, looking after her increasingly forgetful father-in-law. Kathleen Lawson - rich, lonely and bored - is one of Allie's 'customers at the make-up counter. Kathleen takes a shine to Allie, but when she discovers Allie's husband is Maori, Kathleen's attitude changes. Is she trying to make friends or poison the relationship between Sonny and Allie? Sonny's beautiful younger sister, Polly, is living a vibrant but wayward life as a waitress-model-goodtime girl while leaving her young daughter to be raised by her mother. Then one day Polly disappears...

Title: In fifteen minutes you can say a lot : selected fiction / Greville Texidor ; edited and with an introduction by Kendrick Smithyman.

Author: Texidor, Greville, 1902-1964, author.

ISBN: 9781776562268 paperback

Edition: [Second edition]

©2019

Physical Details: 304 pages ; 21 cm

Series: VUP classics.

Summary: "In Fifteen Minutes You Can Say a Lot begins with Texidor's most fully achieved piece of work, 'These Dark Glasses'. Distinguished by sophisticated writing and acute psychological insight, it is set on the south coast of France during the Spanish Civil War. The stories which follow range from Spain and England to New Zealand, where she writes unsentimentally and unerringly of the environment of the time. 'Goodbye Forever', the unfinished novel which concludes the volume, is Texidor's most sustained piece of writing on New Zealand. The central character, Lili, is a Viennese refugee who arrives amongst the writers of Auckland's North Shore. She is exotic and alone, and her slow collapse is plotted with minute observation"--Back cover.

Title Me old mate Jock : tales of mussels, Marlborough and mayhem / KJ Donaldson.
Author Donaldson, K J, author.
ISBN 9780995115415
Physical Details 195 pages : illustrations ; 20 cm
Summary "A collection of almost-true yarns about one man's balls-ups while setting himself up in the mussel industry in the Marlborough Sounds. As Jock lurches from one incident to the next, it seems impossible that someone could get themselves into quite so much strife while growing a few quiet molluscs -- but Jock manages it and, if truth be told, he's at it still. The stories are told by a mate that Jock talked into joining him to make millions out of mussels. Although the money didn't roll in, the laughs did, along with a barrage of abuse from all the mussel farmers and other people in the industry who were called upon to help Jock out of his fixes. KJ Donaldson has drawn on a wealth of experience of mussel-farming and a love for that unique place: the Marlborough Sounds"--Back cover.

Miss Hawthorne died in an accident a year ago, so there's no murderer to catch. Instead, her sister's spirit must be released from the puzzle box, which the ghost caught her inside before she died. If she remains trapped at the one-year mark, she'll die. If only the book containing the release spell hadn't gone missing, the task would be easy. But with numerous Pinetar residents vying for the same prize, it will take all of Emily's wits to find the book and recite the magic spell before time runs out"--Back cover.

Summary  With the Leviathan Bridge critically damaged and its towers unable to control the skies between Yuros and Antiopia, the East has invaded the West. A vast windfleet, constructed in secret, is winging across the Pontic Sea. The Rondian Empire is divided and weak. Empress Lyra has barely survived a coup, triggered by a masked cabal whose members still remain concealed in the highest echelons of her court. Only Lyra's secret affinity to the heretical power of dwyma saved her - but that affinity is also her most dangerous weakness. As empires clash, lives are torn apart and long-held beliefs are overthrown by circumstance and desperation. A young queen whose court is riddled with traitors turns to the wrong people in her hour of need. Two princes clash in the skies, the fate of two nations riding on their skill. Two brothers must reconcile disparate cultures to regain their kingdom. An idealistic rabble-rouser sees a chance to strike. And a small group of dwymancers grope blindly for knowledge in a race against time before the masked Cabal strike again.

Summary  "Are you ready for adventure? Princess Sylvalla is more than ready. She's faced dragons and proven herself a hero - but her greatest trials are about to begin. Phetero, the king she accidentally kidnapped, is determined to have vengeance - and the threat of marriage to Prince Francis looms. Francis may be sweet, have proven he can draw swords from stones, and be the only prince in all the Seven Kingdoms who will have her, but Sylvalla is not a willing bride. Terrifying as it is, the threat of marriage becomes the least of Sylvalla's problems as King Phetero's grudge turns from war into something more sinister. The prophecies are dire, but what help can they be against the ancient horror King Phetero plans to unleash?"--Back cover.

Summary "This tale is a parody, a 'tour de force' glimpse into New Zealand's long history of cultural tolerance and integration, Maori mystique, technological innovation, adventurism, their world-famous rugby teams, the anti-nuclear policy, the pervasiveness of sex and alcohol; the artfulness, treachery, and perfidy of politicians. Proud is a parody, loaded with satire, LOL humour, sex, social commentary, perhaps prophetic (global warming warning!), and culturally insensitive (political correctness gone mad) but in a caring sort of way"--Publisher information.

He races to the rescue and saves Pepin, a squirrel, but when they climb back up to Roderick's home they find that it has been destroyed. Seeking shelter in the stormy night, Roderick and Pepin narrowly escape a dangerous band of vagabonds. Soon after they encounter Percy, the invisible man. He tells them how he was lured by leprechaun gold into another dimension and became trapped there by enchantment. Roderick and Pepin decide to help him and find themselves transported into a mysterious world of tree spirits, elves and other magical beings. Only the Wizard of Endor can break the spell that binds Percy. Physical Details  221 pages : illustrations ; 20 cm

Summary  "Both fiction and fact, this book is an exploration of the Battle of Orakau. During three days in 1864, 300 Maori men, women and children fought an Imperial army and captured the imagination of the world. The battle marked the end of the Land Wars in the Waikato and resulted in vast tracts of land being confiscated for European settlement. Instead of following the usual standpoint of the victors, this book takes a Maori perspective. It is centred around Witi Ihimaera’s moving novella, Sleeps Standing, which views the battle through the eyes of a 16-year-old boy named Moetū. Alongside the novella are non-fiction narratives from Maori eyewitnesses, together with images and a Maori translation by Hēmi Kelly, further giving voice to and illuminating the people who tried to protect their culture and land. It is estimated that, at the height of the battle, 1700 immensely superior troops, well armed and amply resourced, laid siege to the hastily constructed pā at Orakau. The defenders were heavily outnumbered with few supplies or weapons but, when told to submit, they replied: ‘E hoa, ka whawhai tonu matou, ake, ake, ake! ’Friend, I shall fight against you for ever, for ever!’"--Back cover.

Summary  "Albert Black, known as the 'jukebox killer', was only 20 when he was convicted of murdering another young man in a fight at a milk bar in Auckland on 26 July 1955. His crime fuelled growing moral panic about teenagers, and he was to hang less than five months later, the second-to-last person to be executed in New Zealand. But what really happened? Was this a love crime, was it a sign of juvenile delinquency? Or was this dark episode in our recent history more about our society's reaction to outsiders? Black's final words, as the hangman covered his head, were, 'I wish you all a merry Christmas, gentlemen, and a prosperous New Year.' This is his story"--Container.

Physical Details: 323 pages ; 23 cm
Summary: "She thought she knew her father. But what she doesn't know could fill a morgue . . . Ex-MI5 agent Chrissy Livingstone grieves over her dad's sudden death. While she cleans out his old things, she discovers something she can't explain: seven photos of schoolboys with the year 1987 stamped on the back. Unable to turn off her desire for the truth, she hunts down the boys in the photos only to find out that three of the seven have committed suicide . . . Tracing the clues from Surrey to Santa Monica, Chrissy unearths disturbing ties between her father's work as a financier and the victims. As each new connection Raises more sinister questions about her family, she fears she should've left the secrets buried with the dead. Will Chrissy put the past to rest, or will the sins of the father destroy her?"--Back cover.

Summary  "I, Willow Summers, am finally free from my mother's oppressive home. No one in Crookshollow knows who I am or where I came from, and I intend to keep it that way. As long as I plaster a smile on my face and pull off perfect weddings for my clients, no one ever has to know that I'm broken. That is, until Irvine Baird gets his claws into me. The smoking hot, ten thousand miles out of my league Scottish hottie wants me, the good girl v*rgin with the dark past. No one's ever wanted me before. There's only one problem: he's a werewolf. The last time I met a werewolf, I lost my leg. I should be running a mile from Irvine. Instead, I keep falling into his arms. He makes me uncomfortable. He sets my body on fire. He makes me want to spill my deepest, darkest secrets. Irvine terrifies me. But whenever we touch, sparks fly. There's an ache inside me that only he can satisfy. I know I can't have a happily ever after. But that doesn't mean we can't have some fun together. The old me would never have tried a casual fling, but the new Willow can totally handle it. Right?"--Back cover.

Summary The news of Jenny's husband's infidelity comes as a nasty shock to the part-time building control officer and full-time mother - even though, to her surprise and embarrassment, her first reaction is relief rather than anguish. What really hurts is her children's unhappiness at the break-up, and the growing realisation that, alone, she may lose the family farm. This is the story of the year after Jenny's old life falls apart; of family and farming, pet lambs and geriatric dogs, choko-bearing tenants and Springsteen-esque neighbours. And of getting a second chance at happiness.

Summary "Rosa: I need to escape. After those racist bastards destroyed my home, I can’t face the world again. I’ve rented a cabin in the heart of the Crookshollow forest. I’m going to lock myself away and work on my book. I’m going to write my story. And I absolutely, positively WILL NOT think about Caleb, the hunky labourer who’s fixing up my cabin. No way. I won’t think about the way his eyes melt my heart, and his smile melts my panties. I’m too emotionally raw right now. I can’t handle a fling, especially not with a white guy. Especially not a guy like him. A guy who shags and leaves. I can’t handle any more heartache. Caleb: Rosa Parker – clever writer, black woman, total hottie. The connection between us sizzles – there’s no denying it: this woman is my mate. When I’m near her, all I want to do is claim her. If only I wasn’t the biggest threat to her life right now. With a rogue wolf pack after my hide, I can’t afford a distraction. Even a distraction as alluring as her. I need to keep my wolfish instincts in check. But I can’t help myself. Rosa Parker has got under my skin. And I won’t stop until I’ve made her mine"--Back cover.

Author  Chidgey, Catherine, 1970- author.
ISBN  1785630903 9781785630903 paperback
Physical Details  494 pages ; 21 cm
Summary  "Every day for a year, Catherine Chidgey recorded the words and language she came across during her day-to-day life - phone calls, television commercials, emails, radio shows, conversations with her family, street signs and satnav instructions. From these seemingly random snippets she creates a fascinating portrait of modern life, focusing on the things that most people filter out. Chidgey listens in as her daughter, born through surrogacy, begins to speak and develop a personality, and her mother slips into dementia. With her husband, she debates the pros and cons of moving to a new town. With her publisher, she discusses the novel she is writing. While, all around, the world is bombarding her with information"--Front cover flap.

Summary  "Genealogy is the rage of the age ... As the only sons of an only son of an only childbearing son, John and had never bothered about investigating our ancestors Call dead' quoth father), until I came upon some surprising grandmotherish papers, and, a year or two ago, began delving. Well, I am happy to report we now have a complete pack of sixteen great-grand-parents, hailing from the highlands of Scotland to the puszta of Hungary ... but to go back further is sometimes a tad difficult. I noticed that many folk on the genealogical sites who haven't succeeded in getting a full-flush of 16 ggs, or a super-slam of of 32 gggs, have shyly fabricated a fake family. So, John, taking a wee break from publishing end-to-end volumes of poetry, decided to have a bit of fun and do the same for us. This family tree doesn't just go back to the factual Black Bull pub in Cloth century Aberdeen, or the equally factual Jewish merchants of Mor, Fejer, it goes back to our maternal great-grandfather 552 times removed, and our paternal great-grandmother 552 times removed, in lands and cultures beyond time, and it follows the fates and frolicks of their descendants rudely through the millennia, as they war and couple and schnort and compete and breed ... oh! How they breed! Well, have to keep the tree ablossoming Until it gets to John Gallas, and to his brother, Kurt Ganzl, who thought this was too goodly a historie to keep as just a family in-joke, and invented the Gerolstein Press, which, 552 generations on, proudly presents THE BLOOD BOOK!"--Back cover.

Title The castle of spirit and sorrow / Steffanie Holmes.
Author Holmes, Steffanie, 1985- author.
ISBN 9780995111189 pbk.
Physical Details 330 pages ; 21 cm.
Summary When one of her own is cruelly taken, Maeve Moore must unite witches and humans for a final stand against an undefeatable army of the dead. In an epic showdown of fae versus witches, hopes versus desire, death versus immortality, and science versus magic, Maeve will sacrifice everything for the love of five remarkable men. Is it enough to stop the fae? The Castle of Spirit and Sorrow is the chilling finale to the Briarwood Reverse Harem series by USA Today bestselling author Steffanie Holmes. This full-length book glitters with love, heartache, hope, grief, dark magic, fairy trickery, steamy scenes, British slang, meat pies, second chances, and the healing powers of a good cup of tea. Read on only if you believe one just isn't enough.

Severed hands, moving paintings and an erotic encounter in a priest hole, just another typical day for Maeve Crawford at Briarwood Castle. With Maeve's sister Kelly on her way from America and the fae threat looming ever closer, things at Briarwood are more desperate than ever. When the coven discover an old portrait of Maeve's mother might hold a valuable clue to help them defeat the fae host, they travel to London to uncover its secrets. Under the bright city lights. Maeve discovers more about the mysterious origins of her powers, and one by one her guys open up about the dark parts of themselves they've kept hidden. In this most desperate of times, every member of the Briarwood coven must confront their own demons in order to unleash the full potential of their magic.

She returns to the quaint English village where she grew up to take a job at the local bookshop, hoping that being surrounded by great literature will help her heal from a devastating blow. But Mina soon discovers her life is stranger than fiction - a mysterious curse on the bookshop brings fictional characters to life in lust-worthy bodies. Mina finds herself babysitting Poe's raven, making hot dogs for Heathcliff, and getting IT help from James Moriarty, all while trying not to fall for the three broken men who should only exist within her imagination. When Mina's ex-best friend shows up dead with a knife in her back, she's the chief suspect. She'll have to solve the murder if she wants to clear her name. Will her fictional boyfriends be able to keep her out of prison?"--Back cover.

Summary "When the human creatures appeared, they ravaged the forests and hunted many birds to extinction. The flightless Striggs had only one option: They went down, down under the ground . . . And it's there, as you may have heard it whispered, that they still remain. Far below, in a place of stone and darkness . . . Over thousands of years, they colonised a labyrinth of tunnels and caves, but even underground the Striggs are not safe: chemicals now pollute their water and a deadly sickness threatens the flock. Even worse: an inquisitive young Strigg called Ellee Meddo discovers a human boy, trapped deep in a well. Humans are to be feared and saving him could mean travelling to the surface, a place of untold peril. What will Ellee decide to do? Are you brave enough to follow Ellee into the darkness?"--Publisher information.

Summary "The murder of her fiance forced computer security expert Samira Desta into a world of isolation. A prisoner of grief and yet the only key to catching the killer her fiance died trying to bring to justice, she must now emerge into a reality that threatens not only her emotional strength but also her life. Hunted by a powerful enemy, lost in a world of false allies, can she trust the blue-eyed stranger who offers her protection? Scottish Legionnaire Jamie Armstrong lives in the shadows. A medic who's been chasing redemption since his world imploded, he knows better than to hope for the family and career he lost. But his mission to shield Samira from harm creates a threat even he doesn't see coming - hot, unmistakable desire. Fighting a deadly war and losing the battle against attraction, a man hiding demons and a woman running from fears must depend on each other. Summary: "Antonina is a student at the prestigious Academy of Art in St Petersburg. At times, though, she feels she might be a better fit at the Centre of Nonconformist Art across town. She knows she stands out as different, being neither Russian, Korean nor Kazakh — and yet she embodies all three. She is Koryo-saram: a descendant of the exiled population that Stalin labelled the Unreliable People. But what does that mean? And who was the strange, elegant woman who came to the window when Antonina was a young child? And why did she entice Antonina to climb out and go on a long train journey through Kazakhstan? This is a compelling story where love and loss intersect unexpectedly with a Korean fable about a crow king and a rice farmer's wife"--Back cover.

Summary: "The farm owners, Targe and Kate, have their struggles with bad weather, poor finances, and Wendy to contend with. Now with the family farm facing an uncertain future, Targe's sisters receive the opportunity to help. The three sisters - Anna, Blue, and Elizabeth - have their own lives in the city, busy with work, family, and plans for a quiet retirement. Bonded by childhood memories on the family farm, the sisters are determined to help. However, their age, inability to milk cows, and some fear of bulls make them the most unlikely of saviors. Will they be able to save the farm through the trials and tribulations ahead? This is a story that captures the

Physical Details  1 online resource (1 audio file)

Series  Access granted (N.Z.) ; November 22, 2018.

Summary  "The #WellyTech event doesn't happen without partners standing next to us and making it happen. We are honoured to hear from Andreas Spanner, Chief Architect Australia & New Zealand, Red Hat. Andreas is leading Red Hat's Business Innovation & Digital Transformation efforts across Australia & New Zealand. His hands-on experience in startups as well as large scale enterprise transformation programmes and reporting through to CIOs and CFOs has given Andreas a solid understanding of business drivers and value creation. In his former role as Head of Enterprise Architecture Andreas led a team of architects during complex business transformation programmes. Andreas has worked on a wide range of initiatives across different industries in Europe, North America and APAC including full scale ERP migrations, HR, finance and accounting, manufacturing, supply chain logistics and scalable core banking strategies to support regional business growth strategies. Since joining Red Hat, Andreas is focussed on helping organisations to build the necessary capabilities and to make the best-fit technology, methodology and architecture choices to be a successful digital competitor. Justin Harrington (Red Hat NZ) will be talking on stage in the Access Granted Big Top at 6:15 pm. Watch out for our #WellyTech partner podcasts coming over the next few days: - Liz MacPherson (CEO Stats NZ, Government Statistician, and Chief Data Steward) - Colin Brown (Tribe Lead Network Evolution at Spark) - David Perks and Dorien Vermaas, (Wellington.NZ) Our 3 questions for the event partners are: 1: How was 2018 for you and your organisation? 2: What are you looking forward to in 2019? 3: What's the state of the nation' when looking at the Wellington / NZ tech scene? Author Brown, Colin (Information and communication technologies professional), interviewee.

Summary "The #WellyTech event doesn't happen without partners standing next to us and making it happen. We are honoured to hear from Colin Brown, Tribe Lead Network Evolution at Spark. As Tribe Lead for Network Evolution, Colin is responsible for ensuring Spark has the capability to evolve our network and enable New Zealanders to win big in a digital world. This means managing the strategy, architecture, design and delivery of Spark's Mobile, Fixed, IP Voice and Legacy Networks service. In this role Colin draws on his 22 years' experience in ICT and business change, 16 of these within Spark. Over the course of his career with Spark, Colin has played integral roles in some of our most significant technical projects, including the launch of the 4/4.5G Mobile Network, Optical Transport Network, Business Data, Consumer Broadband and IP Voice. Colin has also lead Spark through significant transformational change including the regulated Operational Separation, Structural Separation between Telecom and Chorus, Rebrand for Spark, Turnaround and the recent move to Agile. Colin's current areas of focus include building capacity in our wireless broadband network, retiring the PSTN, transitioning Spark's voice future to an all IP Voice Core and planning for 5G mobile networks. Colin is a Director of the Rural Connectivity Group and is on the Board of Trustees for Marram and was previously a Director of Connect8 Colin will be talking on stage in the Access Granted Big Top at 5:35 pm. Watch out for our #WellyTech partner podcasts coming over the next few days: - Liz MacPherson (CEO Stats NZ, Government Statistician, and Chief Data Steward) - Andreas Spanner (Chief Architect Australia & New Zealand, Red Hat) - David Perks and Dorien Vermaas, (Wellington.NZ) Our 3 questions for the event partners are: 1: How was 2018 for you and your organisation? 2: What are you looking forward to in 2019? 3: What's the state of the nation' when looking at the Wellington / NZ tech scene? "Adrian Owen was a big man, like a BIG man. After working in the design world for some years, (alongside Raj as it happens) he noticed that he was gaining weight at an exponential rate which only came to a stop when he was told by his doctor that he probably would be dead within a year. That sort of moment causes changes. Learn from Adrian as he talks about how he changed his life, his families lives, and is now helping others change their lives. We particularly love his "how to start the day" routine, something everyone in the tech world should take note of. - https://www.adrianowen.me/ - https://www.facebook.com/dream.dedicate.do - https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCli1WPmUIODrADj5ZlpxmA/ - https://www.instagram.com/adrianowen.me/ ------------------------------------------------------ New Zealand tech, media, & startup podcast hosted by Mike Riversdale, Raj Khushal, and others. Title Ben Gracewood - I've always been about no bullshit.

Author Gracewood, Ben, interviewee.

Physical Details 1 online resource (1 audio file)

Summary "Ben Gracewood is a stalwart of the New Zealand tech scene having worked his way through development, TV punditry, manager, event organiser, and all through it he has held his principles in front and his head high. We discuss a lot, over a slightly dodgy Internet connection, and really so let's stop writing and let him guide you to how you can "spend your coins to the betterment of others". Oh, and maybe we will see him use his skills to work with wider NZ one day ... who knows :) - https://ben.gracewood.nz/ - https://twitter.com/nzben - https://nz.linkedin.com/in/bgracewood - https://codemania.io/

Series: Technical report series (Victoria University of Wellington. School of Engineering and Computer Science) ; [18.02]
Summary: "Object capabilities are increasingly used to reason informally about the properties of secure systems. Can capabilities also aid informal reasoning? To answer this question, we examine a calculus that uses effects to capture resource use and extend it with a rule that captures the essence of capability-based reasoning. We demonstrate that capabilities provide a way to reason for free about effects: we can bound the effects of an expression based on the capabilities to which it has access. This reasoning is "free" in that it relies only on type-checking (not effect-checking); does not require the programmer to add effect annotations within the expression; nor does it require the expression to be analysed for its effects. Our result sheds light on the essence of what capabilities provide and suggests useful ways of integrating lightweight capability-based reasoning into languages."--Page [23.1]

Title Century of The BYC Episode.
Publishing Details [Wellington] : [Beige Brigade], [2009]
Physical Details 1 online resource (1 audio file)
Series BYC podcast; episode 100.
Summary "Episode 100 (15 August 2009) is the "Century of The BYC Episode" in which we celebrate our 100th show with a magnificent tribute based on We Are the World, live in-studio guests include the Irwinator and the Nemesis, we enjoy gifts from Boston and rheineck Dry, plus a cake from the Ace, and then we get started on our pub crawl across Wellington. Beautiful - well battered chaps. (And we are too giddy with joy to accept nominations for the Exchange4Free.com Sellout of the Week) ..listen in to the streaming version just below...nail the RSS feed for your Pod catcher...or visit The BYC page on iTunes. The BYC archive of every episode is here."--RSS feed.

Title  Charles the magnificent pony / by Jeremy Mayall and Chris Lam Sam (music), Scott Granville (story), and Troy Major (illustrations).

Author  Mayall, Jeremy, 1983- composer, performer, narrator.

Publishing Details  [Hamilton? New Zealand] : [Jeremy Mayall], [2015]

Physical Details  1 online resource

Summary  Charles believes he is the most magnificent pony in all the countryside and doesn't think he should have to help out the other farmyard animals with the everyday jobs of a rural life. What Charles must learn is that to be truly respected by all of the other farmyard animals, kindness, community spirit and a helpful personality mean more than physical beauty ever will.

Title  Charlotte Hinton - Agile, the ongoing party.

Author  Hinton, Charlotte, interviewee.

Physical Details  1 online resource (1 audio file)

Summary  "We've been after Charlotte for quite some time and we finally managed to get some time in her diary to chat all things agile, her work at Te Papa, what she's doing in the government's Service Innovation Lab (everyone should make a time to go visit), and finally her time organising the most excellent WDCNZ conference - lets hope that both Charlotte and Owen can bring it back somehow, somewhere. So much ... pop it in your ears and have a listen to the wonderful Charlotte Hinton. - https://www.linkedin.com/in/charlottehinton/ - https://twitter.com/charlottehinton - https://www.digital.govt.nz/blog/si-lab-keen-to-share-a-great-space/ - http://www.wdcnz.com/----------------------------- New Zealand tech, media, & startup podcast hosted by Mike Riversdale, Raj Khushal, Vivian Chandra, and others. Author: Curtis-Black, Andrew, author.
Physical Details: 1 online resource : colour illustrations
Summary: "There is little existing work which empirically analyses network management practice with respect to policy creation and maintenance. We carried out five semi-structured interviews of network administrators at a diverse range of enterprises. Analysis of the results led us to make the following contributions: Provide a description of the context in which network administrators carry out their daily work; we introduce a number of policy space dimensions; we identify a set of real-world network policies, and show how each of these may be represented by these dimensions. There are a number of use cases for our work: Engineers or researchers looking to create or refine high level network management frameworks; Network administrators looking to document their network policy in a consistent format; Researchers looking for empirical research to compare their ownwork to."--Abstract.

"Hear how Ackama (previously Rabid Technology) are now the technology partner and the on-going discussions, learning, and fun with Chinese manufacturers. A focus for Hiria is to ensure the firmware and software on the sensors and gateway can be updated to ensure the sensors can be upgraded to take advantage of functionality built-in - it's not just about temperature and humidity, what about air quality. Hiria presented to the Community Energy Network (https://communityenergy.org.nz/) and is excited about how the data can be used to not only tell you about your house but then connect with those that can do something about it. And of course - yay, Hiria and Whare Haura won an Open Source Ward last week: https://nzosa.org.nz/finalists2018/ The Whare Hauora update is brought to you by Hiria Te Rangi and Access Granted NZ. Title: How the brain thinks / Dr Graham J Desborough.
Author: Desborough, Graham J., author.
ISBN: 9780473467098 epub
Projected Publication Date: 1907
Physical Details: online resource
Summary: "Calling on new research in neuroscience and a new interpretation of old ideas, this book tackles the age-old questions of how thinking, consciousness and emotion happen. We can be irrational and unpredictable but we are completely understandable, the author explains in this fascinating introduction to our complex inner world. At a fundamental level, he suggests, thinking happens when areas within the frontal cortex use the components of attention, emotion and memory to produce higher order functions such as consciousness and perception. These thought processes are similar in most of us. We are uniquely unpredictable simply because we all have a mix of different genes and experience. The value of story, why you should drive with your lights on, confusion around definitions of consciousness and our voice within, and new ways of thinking about feelings and emotion, are some of the topics on which this book offers fresh insights"--Publisher information.

Summary: "For me, the journey from hard-line Christian fundamentalism to more liberal theology has not been an easy process, as I have had to shed precisely held beliefs and understandings, which had shaped my worldview of life, the universe - and the God I had believed in. The journey has been and continues to be, a quest of discovery to find what is true and what is real. But truth is ultimately liberating. Even though my current understanding of these things will no doubt continue to be refined, I write this book for those who desperately want to find what is real and what is not. There are some who will fiercely disagree with, and take offence with some of the conclusions I have drawn. But I hope that this book will help many readers find answers to some of the big questions about life and that in their own journey, they too, will begin to understand the paradox of the divine hiddenness of an elusive God"--www.wordwyze.nz.

Title James Macnee - Giving People Direction.

Author McNee, James, interviewee.

Publishing Details [New Zealand]: Access Granted NZ, [2018]

Physical Details 1 online resource (1 audio file)

Series Access granted (N.Z.); October 09, 2018.

Summary "James Macnee lives in the idyllic north of New Zealand where he is a consultant in the tech world designing systems that enable rapid delivery while increasing stability for such agencies as Ministry of Social Development and others. James is also founder of Dev2, an charity that, through the support of people like you, is able to educate, equip and employ poverty-stricken young people from the Philippines in web development and bring them and their families out of the cycle of poverty. Back to the his work at MSD we talked about a few of the benefits seen out of this new way of working: - David Habershon CIO - mentioned DevOps was the highlight of his year. - Significantly higher quality and throughput. Going from 1000s of support tickets for some project to under 10 per release and delivering more. It's hard to believe. The business mentioned for the first time couldn't spec new features fast enough. They could not keep up with the pace of the development teams. - Enabling the business rapid feedback ---- Before it was years of lag, by the time I finished it was 4 weeks - Moved from contract based relationship to collaboration - building trust - Engaged happy people. People love working when their work makes a difference and they are clearly adding value. - In a KPMG audit at MSD they said they have never seen such a positive change over such a short period. James says it was great to be involved in this and to work with such people and his job was simple; "I created a bit of vision, removed blockers and generally got out of the way so that awesome, smart people could make things happen." - https://www.leanit.co.nz/employees/james-macnee/ - https://dev2.academy/ -

Jim Boutcher - Guerrilla Giving.

Summary
"Jim Boutcher is mild mannered data nerd by day helping to keep you money safe from the nasty people around the world that want to take it out of the banks ... he does this by being neck deep in data and databases, this is his passion. Jim also has a passion for solving some obvious (to him) problems in society and has come up with the free app, Givahoy. With Givahoy you no longer have the problem of living in a cashless society, walking past the bucket shakers and wanting to give but having nothing in your pocket. Simply whip out the app, pledge your amount and at the end of the month pay the bill. We at Access Granted LOVED this concept and had to talk to Jim, and then we had to bring Jim and the #WellyTech charity, The Neonatal Trust together which we did. At the event (free tickets still available) you can drop your cash OR use the Givahoy app to your favourite collector, it will know using the Givahoy iBeacons being used - clever eh - https://nz.linkedin.com/in/givahoy - https://givahoy.com/who-is-givahoy/- https://twitter.com/givahoy - https://wellytech.accessgranted.nz/wellytech-2018/the-neonatal-trust-auction INSTALL the Givahoy app: - Android: https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.givahoy.Givahoy - iPhone: https://itunes.apple.com/nz/app/givahoy/id1227172770?mt=8

Title Joy to the earl / Nicola Davidson.
Author Davidson, Nicola, 1979- author.
ISBN 9780473450663 Kindle
Publishing Details [Matamata] : [Nicola Davidson], [2018]
Physical Details 1 online resource
Summary *"Shunned for his mismatched eyes and awkward limp, Yorkshire carpenter Jack Reynolds lives a lonely and impoverished existence. Then comes a shocking discovery: he's the discarded heir of a wealthy noble family, and if he travels to London by Christmas, he'll not only gain an earldom, a home, and position like he's never dreamed, but maybe - just maybe - he can finally lose his damned virginity. Scandalous widow Rosalind Nelson's life centers around four things - her young daughter, helping couples suffering sexual discord, avoiding all peers, and definitely not falling in love. That is, until the day she rescues a mysterious stranger from a carriage accident. Kind, brave, and achingly seductive, Jack is everything she's ever wanted. Nothing can destroy their growing bond... except the demons of his past..."--Joy to the earl.

Series  Access granted (N.Z.) ; November 06, 2018.

Summary  "Katie Brown, from her own company brilliantly named Katie Brown Thinks, was at the forefront of social media use within the New Zealand government and particularly tying it's use to actual outcomes (she has a great story about that). Katie has since moved on and now applies her skills and experiences to her 'community' be that geographical, people. or even her own internal self. She has a great sense of care that again applies to all but especially tech workers ... we know, we bang on about this don't we - well we think it's important for not only the people that work in tech but for our industry as a whole! - https://katiebrownthinks.com/ - https://twitter.com/katiebrownthink - https://twitter.com/katie_pai - https://www.linkedin.com/in/katiebrownnz/- https://www.facebook.com/katiebrownthinks- https://www.instagram.com/katiebrownthinks/ ------------------------------------------------------ New Zealand tech, media, & startup podcast hosted by Mike Riversdale, Raj Khushal, Vivian Chandra, and others. Summary  "The sleepy village of Lea Croft in Victorian Derbyshire is awoken when the body of the farmer's son, Herbert Grant, is found down a gully. Martha Holloway suspects her husband, Charlie, of killing him in revenge for her being assaulted by him in the past. When Charlie goes missing in a landslide, to make ends meet, Martha has to find a job at the farm, where her younger sisters, Jessica, aged 15, and pregnant by an unknown father, and Charlotte, work as milkmaids. Charlie reappears but tells her not to tell anybody he is still alive. Herbert's brother, Ronald, fancies Charlotte, but will he pluck up the courage to tell her? He is arrested for Herbert's murder. But will he be found guilty, and what happens to Charlie?"--Back cover of print version.

Author: Maguire, Liz, interviewee.

Physical Details: 1 online resource (1 audio file)

Summary: "Liz Maguire is the Head of Digital and Transformation at ANZ and she is clear banks are not the old fashioned fuddy duddies we think they are. We think that if there was one thing we should take away it is the idea of human centred design - there is no point making the flashiest stuff if no-one is ever going to use it. It'll be interesting to see how the customer focused teams at ANZ pan out in the long run as Liz's team is creating amazing tech everyday, including Jamie but we'll let Liz tell you who Jamie is … - https://nz.linkedin.com/in/lizmaguire - https://twitter.com/lizziemaguire - http://women.govt.nz/inspiring-women/liz-maguire Series  Technical report series (Victoria University of Wellington. School of Engineering and Computer Science) ; 18/01.

Summary  "The Internet of Things (IoT) is a highly discussed paradigm aimed at the connection of everyday objects to the Internet. The idea of enabling objects to communicate with each other brings significant benefits, yet there are several challenges that have to be also addressed. In recent years, researchers have developed many solutions to resolve IoT issues and enhance the overall evolution. New technologies have been proposed and existing approaches redefined to meet the specific requirements of IoT. However, the complexity and diversity of the area make the process quite difficult. This paper describes the IoT paradigm and provides an overview of efforts expended to date. It discusses topics such as IoT definitions, categorisation of IoT application areas and the greatest IoT challenges. One contribution of this paper is the detailed description of IoT network technologies and their illustration in a single protocol stack. Another contribution is the definition of network traffic characteristics of IoT application use cases, which aims to help in better comprehension of IoT demands on network technologies. This knowledge is crucial not only to propose more efficient solutions but also improve the network technologies specifically designed for IoT needs"—Abstract.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;Tick. Tock. Jennifer Jones is no stranger to trouble. She's been framed for murder, hunted by the government, and just stopped a sorcerer from summoning murderous entities. By now, trouble is an old friend. But there is always something worse to come. Something smarter. Something darker. For the first time in three hundred years, Jennifer might be outmatched. And as shadows gather and events draw towards a cataclysmic close, she can't ignore the curse that now plagues her - or the fact that she's rapidly running out of time&quot;--Back cover of print version.</td>

Summary: "She thought she knew her father. But what she doesn't know could fill a morgue . . . Ex-MI5 agent Chrissy Livingstone grieves over her dad's sudden death. While she cleans out his old things, she discovers something she can't explain: seven photos of schoolboys with the year 1987 stamped on the back. Unable to turn off her desire for the truth, she hunts down the boys in the photos only to find out that three of the seven have committed suicide . . . Tracing the clues from Surrey to Santa Monica, Chrissy unearths disturbing ties between her father's work as a financier and the victims. As each new connection raises more sinister questions about her family, she fears she should've left the secrets buried with the dead. Will Chrissy put the past to rest, or will the sins of the father destroy her?"--Back of print version.

"Tony McDonald (CEO) and John Weaver (GM) of McDonald's IT joined us for a run through the many facets of their company - from offering transition to cloud services, full IT management, re-carpeting a business and providing full information security. Tony started the company out of a desire to stop the small businesses of Wellington being stung by the major IT vendors and service companies and they have grown their offerings to become someone that can remove the stress of being a business and allow them to focus on what it is they actually do. Tony also runs a record company and his son will be playing at this year’s #WellyTech event - check out the details and get your FREE ticket:

Summary: "Understanding Company Law, 4th edition, is a user-friendly resource written specifically to support non-law students studying the law of companies and other business organisations. Providing an excellent balance between theory, case law and practice, Understanding Company Law covers the essential concepts of company law, business organisations, financial markets, takeovers and corporate governance in a clear and straightforward manner. This new edition has been fully updated to take account of developments since the last edition was published in 2014, providing students with sufficient knowledge to develop a critical analysis and understanding of the topics. The law is presented in the context of critique, along with its uncertainties, ambiguities and problems, rather than as a mechanical description of the rules, making it easier to understand. The use of plain language ensures that the work is invaluable to students coming to the topic for the first time or who have English as a second language"--Publisher information.

Summary: "Charlie Tripp, aka The Boss, bought Nithdale Station near Gore in 1924 and did the hard yards developing it into the stunning property it is today covering 1478ha (3652ac). It has been further developed by his grandson, Andrew. Nithdale Genetics is among the best in New Zealand. This is the true story of a man with high moral standards, legendary fitness, personal discipline, visual memory, excellent powers of observation and leadership qualities. Be inspired by the courage of this hard-working Southland farmer who led the First Commando Fiji Guerrillas in World War II. My parents were an exceptional couple. Their characters and influence in the local community, the farming world and in a much wider sphere were significant. My father's contribution to the war effort in the Solomon Islands, and the well-deserved Silver Star awarded to him by the Americans, is a unique story that you will not find in many of the war histories. My mother also made a huge impact in her community and was awarded a QSM for her work. DICK TRIPP The last chapter takes you into the heart of battles with the Japanese in the Solomon Islands in World War II. Charlie led his commandos; New Zealanders, Fijians and Tongans scouting in enemy territory to inform the Americans of their movements. Charlie Tripp has been described as an extraordinary hero"--Back cover.

Author  Nicolescu, Radu, author.
Physical Details  1 online resource : colour illustrations Series  CDMTCS research report series ; 506.
Summary  "We assess the “computer science” capabilities of our cP systems by solving a version of a famous programming pearl, originally posed by Jon Bentley (1984): printing the most common words in a text file, in their frequency order. Several interesting solutions have been proposed by Knuth (an exquisite model of literate programming, 1986), McIlroy (an engineering example of combining a timeless set of tools, 1986), Hanson (an alternate efficient solution, 1987). Here we propose a concise efficient solution based on the fast parallel and associative capabilities of our cP systems. We also briefly check their sorting capabilities and propose a dynamic version of the classical pigeonhole algorithm. Keywords: Literate programming, sorting, parallel sorting, pigeonhole algorithm, dynamic pigeon-hole algorithm, associative data structures, membrane computing, P systems, cP systems, inter-cell parallelism, intra-cell parallelism, Prolog terms and unification, complex symbols, nested subcells, generic rules"--Page 1.

Summary
"In 1969, Douglas Lilburn presented a speech on the nature of composition in New Zealand, and the role of the composer in our nation’s artistic landscape. Lilburn embraces the notion that our musical landscape is made up of multiple languages and diverse influences. At the heart of the composer's words is the feeling that this search is not complete. While the nation's foremost composer, Lilburn expressed at times feeling as if he'd "taken a tumble through the Looking Glass" due to the "very real isolation" of the composer in New Zealand. The curious, explorative and somewhat mystical quality of Lilburn's musings informs the nature of this composition, a reflection on these searching words"--Matthew Everingham, quoted on the SOUNZ website.

The seventeen films of Hiroko Matsuoka / Sean Monaghan.

Monaghan, Sean, 1964- author.

ISBN 9780463090183 online

©2018

Physical Details 1 online resource

Summary "Hiroko loves making retinal films. The depth and beauty of the immersive worlds brings joy to her fans. Sometimes even catharsis. But her output may not satisfy her mentor Majime. The scholarship's demands tax even Hiroko's skills. And when foundation redraws the lines, Hiroko finds herself making one bad decision. In a world that seems so foreign and so real, Hiroko finds herself caught between friendship and responsibility. With tough choices at every turn, she might just find catharsis of her own"--Back of print version.

Physical Details 1 online resource

Summary "A colourful account of the men and women, past and present, who have committed their lives to shearing in New Zealand. Their voices - in their own words, often brutally honest reflections on what it is to be a shearer - are at the heart of this book: their training, their tools, their camaraderie, and the gruelling, itinerant nature of the job. Old hands like Brian 'Snow' Quinn, Tony Dobbs and Peter Casserly, and Peter and Elsie Lyon, as well as those newer to the scene, offer personal insights, often for the first time"--Publisher information.

Summary  "After working in social services in New Zealand for over 10 years, Yahu still has concerns about the future of mental health, prison support and the growing issue of homelessness, poverty and suicide. In his five books, written over a period of four years, Yahu hopes that asking critical questions will result in finding some solutions to the issues he highlights. The Street is my Marae is a compilation of these five books, written for and about those rejected by society, the outcasts and those who work for them"--Back cover of print version.

Summary  "Ever wondered what the Greek myths look like through the eyes of a child? Eleven-year-old author, Ben Spies, writes his version of some of the most thrilling tales from Greek mythology.
          From Titans to Olympians, The World of Greek Mythology delivers an action-packed retelling of the myths, from how the world was created to a personal take on some of the greatest and mightiest gods and goddesses. Ben adds his quirky humour to each chapter as we follow the drama of the legendary Trojan War and the epic voyage of Odysseus. But be warned: the gruesome world of Greek mythology is not for the faint of heart... get ready for bloody battles and horrible deaths. If you love Greek mythology, or you're keen to learn more, this book is
