The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library (Te Puna Mātauranga o Aotearoa) Act 2003. It contains New Zealand and Tokelau resources, both physical and digital, including books, serials, newspapers, maps, music, websites and podcasts. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The records are created in accordance with international cataloguing standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of May 2020. The items are grouped by format and then separated into digital and physical. Within each format grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

Summary  | "This paper presents an outline of biosecurity system achievements since 2003, in the context of the Biosecurity Strategy’s recommendations. The Strategy’s recommendations were in the form of ten ‘First Steps’ and 57 ‘Expectations’, organised into categories. This paper is organised by those same categories. Within the document, each category heading is followed by a list of the relevant First Steps and Expectations from the Strategy for that category (note - some of the First Steps pertained to more than one category, so in some instances appear more than once).At the end of this paper, in Appendix 1 is a timeline of biosecurity system milestones and achievements, presented by year, from 2003 to 2015. Abbreviations and acronyms used in this paper are explained at the end.This paper is presented as a draft for comment. The information in the paper has been gathered from interviews with MPI staff who have or have had key roles in the biosecurity system, and from documentary sources. It is intended that the paper will be further developed as further information and comment is made available, including from stakeholders"--page 1.

Summary "Tazia is petrified of her first night with Duke Robard, her new husband by an arranged marriage, because her father’s mistress has told her alarming tales of what he will do. Robard is patient with her but their union remains unconsummated. They learn to work together, but intimacy evades them. A strange illness begins to decimate the ghostlike Eos, decimating their already small numbers. Tazia and Robard work together and put their personal problems aside while they help the Eos avoid extinction. The Eos discover their recent visitors were not from the other known tribes and research points to a lost tribe in the Pator area. Tazia and Robard set out on a journey of discovery to find the lost ones. Without the Eos the planet will die and this will mean the end of humanity on Hejmen"--Provided by publisher.

Title  The boys and men of Auckland’s Mickey Rooney's Gang / Robert Philip Bolton.
Creator  Bolton, Robert Philip, 1945-
ISBN  9780473506346 pdf
Publishing Details  [Auckland] : [Robert Philip Bolton], [2020]
Format  1 online resource
Summary  In a working-class suburb of Auckland, New Zealand, in 1957, eight mildly rebellious schoolboys, inevitably obsessed with sex, were attracted to the arrogant and thoroughly delinquent little Mickey Rooney whose fantastic dreams of Hollywood fame were to be his downfall. It wasn’t a real gang, and it didn’t last long. It disintegrated after an obscene practical joke played by Mickey on the gang’s most vulnerable member. Meanwhile, though, the boys’ thoughts, conversations and actions, which were largely crude and obscene - as the thoughts, conversations and actions of boys and men often are - are faithfully reported here in plain and graphic language. The book then follows the boys into manhood. Nine men. Nine lives involving love and romance, sadness and joy, success and failure, illness and death, drugs and vice, violence and crime, and murder. Nine men with nothing in common but the teenage year they wasted in Mickey Rooney’s gang.

Title  Caring for our tamāti mokopuna : voices of Ngāti Porou tamāti mokopuna and whānau / Te Runanganui o Ngāti Porou.
Creator  Te Runanganui o Ngāti Porou.
Format  1 online resource : colour illustrations
Summary  "Knowing who they are, being connected, independent and having high aspirations in the face of adversity is at the core of Ngāti Porou whānauoranga. ‘He iwi moke he iwi whānoke’ (an independent and adaptive people). Te Runanganui o Ngāti Porou (TRONPnui) aspire to being the advocate for connected, successful and resilient Ngāti Porou whānau who are navigators of their own destiny and responsible nurturers and kaitiaki for their tamāti mokopuna. The ability for whānau to grow their capacity and capability to connect and share their history, whakapapa and culture is key to their strong sense of identity, belonging and security. These are all essential elements of whānauoranga. In meeting their commitment to Ngāti Porou whānau oranga, Te Runanganui o Ngāti Porou will review, refresh and enhance their model and delivery of care and support to enable the repatriation of Ngāti Porou tamāti mokopuna currently in State Care, to the care of their whānau, hapū and/or iwi. This document resounds with the voices of Ngāti Porou tamāti mokopuna and whānau, and highlights pathways to achieve positive outcomes for them through the vision set in Te Ara Kainga—the pathway home"--PDF page 3.

Summary Publishing a book in any genre is an exciting but daunting undertaking for first-time authors. Self-publishing even more so. With over 60 ebooks published online, the husband and wife team of Findlay Books have put together this book to help new authors navigate their way through self-publishing. Although this book is aimed at Kiwis writing and publishing to online platforms, it is a fantastic tool for anyone anywhere who needs a head start on their publishing journey. Quirky, practical and occasionally irreverent, the book focuses on what you actually need to know. Chapters are thorough, concise and extended with URL links to further information on the topics covered. The final chapter focuses on ‘Distributing in NZ’ and highlights the changing characteristics of the NZ publishing industry and what that means for every new Kiwi author. This book was written in conjunction with Joy and Bevan’s Self-Publishing Workshop.

Summary
"At the bottom of the Pacific, on an Island, is a small modern city called Christchurch. Located within it is a United States military base with direct access to Antarctica and an advanced scientific Bio-lab. In most countries the small city would be considered little bigger than a town, but, located in the South Island, it is New Zealand’s third-biggest city, and it is here, on an unsuspecting public, that the world’s leaders have been systematically testing diabolical plots and plans. Hard on the heels of two major earthquakes that were both manmade and a state-sponsored terror attack stealthily used to silence the world’s independent media and steal guns from members of New Zealand’s passive society which has almost zero gun crime, the coronavirus now called COVID-19 was quietly released and tested"--Publisher information.

Summary
"When Peri Sanderson achieves her dream of moving from London to a cottage in the English countryside, she expects her domestic bliss will be complete when her wife, Karla, leaves her London job to join her. Peri sees their future together as growing vegetables, tending some chickens, and chatting with the locals by a roaring log fire in a quaint village pub. Sexy urbanite, Karla, has other ideas and they don't include a move to the countryside. Secrets are everywhere. Peri quickly senses something not quite right among her rural neighbours, and Karla is not quite the worldly wise woman-about-town that she thinks she is. Temptation, betrayal and intrigue combine to change the lives of both women beyond anything they could have imagined" --Page following title page.

ISBN 9780473397197 MOBI

Publishing Details [Kaingaroa] : SHIHvillage publications, [2018]

Format 1 online resource

Summary "Based on a true story, Zac Sullivan, a violent offender, feared within maximum security prisons, finds a reason to change and gains an early release to the Far North, where his grandmother is dying and his grandfather is looking for a second chance. This is the story of a friendship between a man and his grandfather. It is a simple tale of the legacy of alcohol abuse across the generations and two men forming a bond that is ultimately tested by unexpected death. Set against the harsh world of the New Zealand prison system and the hardened cynicism and prejudice of a rural community tired of offending, Dangerous traces the emergence of something new. Chamberlain has created another page turner. He deals sensitively and refreshingly with the age old complexities of alcoholism and criminal offending, as well as the modern curse of cancer"--Back cover of print version.

Summary  "The purpose of this report is to highlight issues for Māori data as identified by the Board, with the aim of providing guidance for partners and stakeholders in their data management and planning. The Board’s advice and advocacy of the issues of significance to Māori in Tāmaki Makaurau is based on our understanding that information on Māori wellbeing requires relevant and reliable data. Noting the importance of quality, strengths-based data for Māori, the Board adopted a Data Strategy in 2016 to guide its use of data. The values that underpin the Board’s Māori wellbeing approach – Whanaungatanga, Rangatiratanga, Manaakitanga, Wairuatanga and Kaitiakitanga – are supported by the data strategy to enable access to relevant data for these value areas" --Page 5.

Summary  "Tazia is petrified of her first night with Duke Robard, her new husband by an arranged marriage, because her father's mistress has told her alarming tales of what he will do. Robard is patient with her but their union remains unconsummated. They learn to work together, but intimacy evades them. A strange illness begins to decimate the ghostlike Eos, decimating their already small numbers. Tazia and Robard work together and put their personal problems aside while they help the Eos avoid extinction. The Eos discover their recent visitors were not from the other known tribes and research points to a lost tribe in the Pator area. Tazia and Robard set out on a journey of discovery to find the lost ones. Without the Eos the planet will die and this will mean the end of humanity on Hejmen"--Provided by publisher.

"This was all a long time ago, back when you had just discovered the stupidity of days, and days, and days. There was the brittle-boned home at the very end of the dead-end street, a room of nostrilled violins, and Tasmanian tiger sleeping beneath the tree outside your window. You think you remember an old stone hall, a rib-caged ceiling, and a terror which filled the cold holes of your bones. You can't remember for sure. This was all a very long time ago. Told in a series of moving retellings over time, The Extinct examines what it means to remember and what it means to forget in the ‘stupidity of days’ forever destined to become yesterdays." -- Back cover of print version.

Final report of the 2018 Census External Data Quality Panel.

Stats NZ established the 2018 Census External Data Quality Panel (EDQP or ‘the panel’) in August 2018 to provide an independent assessment of the methods Stats NZ was employing to compensate for the lower than expected response rate to the census. The panel’s job has been to assess the impact that application of these methods has had on the quality of data that is contained in the official census data file.--Page 6.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>Clara Bogard reluctantly married architect Arthur Dumas in the early 20th century, after her father passed away. As a gift to his new bride, Arthur designed and built a Victorian mansion for their new home. Seeming philanthropic to others, Arthur had a black evilness in him. As Clara dealt with the escalating violence in her marriage, she finds comfort and affection in the arms of her friend Emma. A century later, in a last-ditch effort to save her failing marriage, novelist Reese Iverson agrees to move her family to a dilapidated Victorian home. During the renovations, a hidden room with over a dozen handwritten journals is discovered. As Reese reads the journals, she becomes immersed with Clara’s struggles with life and love. It soon becomes evident that Clara overcame and endured sinister horrors. After falling in love with her best friend Julia, Reese finds romantic parallels between herself and Clara. As she learns more of the woman’s fate, she uncovers the strength in herself to take control of her own life and hopes it isn’t too late for her happy ever after—Back cover of print.</td>

Summary  "Calling on new research in neuroscience and a new interpretation of old ideas, this book tackles the age-old questions of how thinking, consciousness and emotion happen. We can be irrational and unpredictable but we are completely understandable, the author explains in this fascinating introduction to our complex inner world. At a fundamental level, he suggests, thinking happens when areas within the frontal cortex use the components of attention, emotion and memory to produce higher order functions such as consciousness and perception. These thought processes are similar in most of us. We are uniquely unpredictable simply because we all have a mix of different genes and experience. The value of story, why you should drive with your lights on, confusion around definitions of consciousness and our voice within, and new ways of thinking about feelings and emotion, are some of the topics on which this book offers fresh insights"--Publisher information.

Title  I share my heart with Africa : a journey like no other / Denise Carnihan.
Creator  Carnihan, Denise.
ISBN  9780473317256 e-Book
Format  1 online resource
Summary  "Little did Kiwi woman Denise Carnihan know that what started as her son's school project on 'family origins' would result in visiting her newly discovered family in South Africa in 2009, and lead her and her family on a completely different life journey, culminating in building a fully functioning school in a poor region of Kenya in 2011. Inspired by her initial adventure, Denise decided to do a volunteer stint at an orphanage in Kenya and after witnessing the poverty and squalor first hand, she understood the enormous importance placed on education in this developing country. "Wouldn't it be cool if we could build a little school in a big slum for say 50 kids was the random comment she made to her husband, Chris when they both returned to Kenya the following year. Incredibly, this became the reality for Denise and Chris Carnihan from a small coastal town in New Zealand. They then literally "stumbled" head first into building and establishing their very own primary school - in a large slum, opening with not 50 children as planned ... but 117. Within 18 months the roll had grown to 380+ children and 12 staff. Denise, talks passionately about her love for Africa and her beautiful African journey. And she describes candidly the joys; the immense satisfaction and the overwhelming drive needed to persevere, together with the enormous challenges, battles, and frustrations in establishing a project in a slum of Kenya, where communication and culture operate in extremes"--http://www.isharemyheartwithafrica.com.

Kāinga strategic action plan : a plan to improve housing outcomes for Māori in Tāmaki Makaurau.

[Auckland] : [Independent Maori Statutory Board], [2019?]

1 online resource : colour illustration

Summary "This strategic action plan has been developed in response to the Auckland Māori Housing Summit, 2018, where there was a call for an action plan to improve housing outcomes for Māori in Auckland. Development of this plan has been led by the Independent Māori Statutory Board (Board, IMSB), with the key support of Te Matapihi, and in collaboration with a range of stakeholders including whānau and community. It proposes a range of actions and suggests action holders from community to government, based on existing roles and responsibilities"

Summary  "It started out as an idea about exchanging letters between two characters, the missing and the seeker. It was through images, creating with my hands, journaling, writing poetry and many letters that had become critical ways to carry out my own search for my missing woman. It was to those resources that I turned looking for images of transformation, the metaphors, the howling questions, the discoveries, and the hope. I wanted to create a soulful and intimate conversation. Hence the story acquired its name and its contents were drawn from my own private collection of creative inquiry"--Introduction: the story behind the story.

Title  The Manaakitanga report for Tāmaki Makaurau 2019 / Independent Māori Statutory Board.

Creator  Independent Māori Statutory Board

Publishing Details Auckland City : Independent Māori Statutory Board, [2019]

Format 1 online resource : colour illustrations

Summary "This plan places Manaakitanga as one of five central values for Māori wellbeing through “Satisfaction with our environments and standard of living” where Māori communities are culturally strong and healthy, where Māori enjoy a high quality of life, where Māori are earning income and returns that fulfil their lifestyle expectations, and where the mauri of Te Taiao in Tāmaki Makaurau is enhanced and restored for all people. This series of reports measure progress in Māori wellbeing by using a Māori values approach (Te Ao Māori) with the aim of increasing Auckland Council and central government understanding of using a Māori values approach for decision-making that can create positive changes to Māori wellbeing, while identifying data issues for Māori" --Page 2.

Summary "Stats NZ produces statistics on the economic well-being of New Zealanders, including children, from the Household Economic Survey (HES). ... However, HES is currently not adequate for measuring child poverty at the level of precision necessary to effectively implement the Act, due to a relatively small sample size and sample bias for low-income or high-deprivation households. This is being addressed in HES 2018/19 through an increase in sample size and better targeting of low-income or high-deprivation households"--Page 1.

Summary “This report summarises the outcomes of a scoping project exploring the possibility of gathering and sharing ‘nuggets of gold’ – that is, stories from those with lived experience of suicide attempt. The ‘nuggets of gold’ project came about after members of the Suicide Mortality Review Committee identified a gap in knowledge in Aotearoa New Zealand relating to lived experience of suicide and what tools or techniques helped when people had or acted on thoughts of self-harm or suicide. The original and primary aim of the project was to define questions for a survey that would identify tools for staying well. However, during the interview process it quickly emerged that how to ask those questions was more important than what the questions should be. The process was modified accordingly. For this reason, interviews asked the 15 participants with lived experience how best to gather and share stories of what works from a lived experience perspective. The scoping project documented the participants’ comments on the process of gathering and sharing lived experience stories and this report summarises those comments”--

Summary  "Joey Hartford is a fourth-year medical student who often jokes about her jealous mistress - medical school. She insists she doesn’t have time for a relationship given the disastrous consequence of a diversion from her studies, but the new tenant in her apartment building is proving too tempting to ignore. Sabrina is also in her final year of her doctoral program. Her focus is on completing her dissertation for a topic she has long lost her passion for. Meeting Joey is dangerous for so many reasons. She should know, because mental health is her specialty? Add to the mix a suicidal ex-girlfriend who suddenly reappears in Sabrina’s life along with Joey’s jealous ‘friend-with-benefits’, and things can’t help but get complicated quickly."

Summary  "When Ava Green turns twenty-eight, she is told it will be her last birthday. The cancer she fought three years ago is back, and this time it's going to beat her. But Ava is not going to let cancer define her last, precious months—she wants the wedding of her dreams. She doesn't have a groom, she doesn't have much money, and she definitely doesn't have much time... but none of that matters. She's going to go it alone. As her friends and family rally to help deliver her dying wish for a party to end all parties, the media get involved and her story spreads around the country. But when photographer James Gable arrives, Ava's plans are disrupted. Suddenly all the emotions she'd packed away are on her doorstep. Now she has to decide—is she brave enough to let love in and strong enough to say goodbye?"--Publisher information.

There once was a time called The Great Separation, an era where the extremely rich ruled the world from large mechanical floating cities, scattered across the sky and those who were poor lived 'grounded' on earth. The 'grounded' worked and strived for recognition through steam engineering, electrical inventions and the making of fantastical gadgets so they could be invited into cloud cities societies and join those who lived "cloud-side."

Title  Population counts sensitivity analysis for 2018 Census data / prepared by Dot Loves Data for Stats NZ.
ISBN  9781988583730
Format  1 online resource illustrations (some colour)
Summary  "This paper analyses the decisions that were made in constructing the 2018 Census file and looks more broadly at all of the choices made during admin enumeration... Stats NZ commissioned Dot Loves Data to conduct a full sensitivity analysis of the 2018 Census. Sensitivity can be thought of as how difficult it is to count a population within a geographic region or demographic group, or in terms of the degree to which this count may vary depending on the methodology used. This can be used to understand bias in census data, and plan for the next census by identifying the groups most difficult to count"—Page 5.

<td>&quot;EDS is leading a project which is taking a first principles look at the resource management system in New Zealand and outlining options for reform. This Summary for Policy Makers highlights the outcomes of phase 1 of the project which are described more fully in the Synthesis Report. That considers the whole system according to themes, including ethics, principles, the proper role of the system, legislative design, institutional arrangements, public participation, and tools. It culminates in three tangible models for what a future system could look like. This summary document also outlines phase 2 of the project&quot;--Final page.</td>

Summary: "Capet Sard helps farm girl Lise obtain a job as nursemaid in the floating Castle of Lan, and love blossoms between the noble and the servant. Sard is called home to Rak and shortly after his departure Lise discovers she is pregnant. She stows away on a ship to Rak but after landing, gets lost in the desert. Rescued by the spiritual Eos, Lise finishes the journey on foot but Brenauf, the new Duke of Rak and an old adversary of Sard's, captures her. The duke's inability to run Rak causes many of his nobles to question whether he is the true heir. Miserable, pregnant and frightened for her baby's welfare, Lise can see no way out of her captivity. Sard and the Eos attempt to save Lise. Failure could mean disaster for Rak and the whole planet of Hejmen"--Provided by publisher.

Summary  "Driven, professional sailor Claire Wilde is home on a flying visit to see friends and family. She’s especially looking forward to catching up with best friend Zoe, and meeting Zoe’s daughter, Rose. But Christchurch is a city on shaky ground, and when it is hit by a big earthquake, secrets are suddenly exposed that Claire and Zoe had never even guessed at. In seconds, everything is changed. Drawn into a terrible game of cat and mouse with a paedophile and killer she never suspected, Claire finds herself chasing a man who won’t stop until he gets what he wants - three-year-old Rose. Tested even to her considerable limits, Claire is about to discover exactly how far she is willing to go to protect another woman’s child" --Author's website.

Summary: "From the back-blocks of Northern Hawkes Bay, New Zealand, comes a collection of sermons that call believers to live faithfully to the Word of God and be ready for Christ’s return. Ian Brickell currently farms the 563 rugged but beautiful hectares of TeWaeWae Station on the edge of the Urewera Ranges. As a committed Christian, his desire is to hear God speak to him. In these sermons, Ian's purpose is not to share what he thinks, but instead to convey what he believes are accurate interpretations of the Bible as revealed by the Holy Spirit. He often confronts current thinking and, among other issues, dispels concerns about global warming. Ian has been preaching these messages for over 40 years, and believes you will be both encouraged and challenged as you read"--http://www.castlepublishing.co.nz/sermons-from-the-bush.html.

Summary: "Soul Veil: Rising Sun Saga book 3 is a YA romance/fantasy/supernatural novel. Three weeks. Three heartbeats. And something eternally life-changing. As Abe and Kira’s love relationship grows closer, she discovers something else she’d thought impossible. And as Kira realises that angels and dark shadows exist with purpose in a supernatural realm around her, she then finds out there’s also a very real battle brewing in the heaven lies over her soul. The same battle rages in her dreams at night over what she sees there - clues to what she’s searching for. But will BJ and Abe be there to help save her life, or will the opposition that seeks to acquire her win this time, and also succeed in taking out those closest to her? Intense, captivating, a stunning revelation in Kira’s journey in the Rising Sun Saga"--Publisher information.

Summary  "Jazz Thornton first attempted to take her own life at the age of 12. Multiple attempts followed and she spent time in psychiatric wards and under medical supervision as she rode the rollercoaster of depression and anxiety through her teenage years - yet the attempts continued. Find out what Jazz learned about how her negative thought patterns came to be, and how she turned those thoughts, and her life, around. Who and what helped, and what didn't help. The insights she gives will help create greater understanding of those grappling with mental illness, and those around them who desperately want to help. Jazz went on to attend film school, and to co-founded Voices of Hope, a non-profit organisation dedicated to helping those with mental health issues and show them there is a way forward. She creates Series: World of love series.

Summary: "Kiwi Nathaniel Dunn is in a fighting mood, but how does a man fight Wellington's famous fog? In the last year, Nate's lost his longtime lover to boredom and his ten-year job to the economy. Now he's found a golden opportunity for employment where he can even use his artistic talent, but to get the job, he has to get to Christchurch today. Heavy fog means no flight, and the ticket agent is ignoring him to fawn over a beautiful but annoying, overly polite American man. Rusty Beaumont can deal with a canceled flight, but the pushy Kiwi at the ticket counter is making it difficult for him to stay cool. The guy rubs him all the wrong ways despite his sexy working-man look, which Rusty notices even though he's not looking for a man to replace the fiancé who died two years ago. Yet when they're forced to share a table at the crowded airport café, Nate reveals the kind heart behind his grumpy façade. An earthquake, sex in the bush, and visits from Nate's belligerent ex turn a day of sightseeing into a slippery slope that just might land them in love"--Publisher's website.

Summary "Teine Sāmoa means Sāmoan girl. It's a label that carries with it an unspoken duty to obey, serve and respect your family and Sāmoan culture. But who can be teine Sāmoa? When should you be teine Sāmoa? And how can you be teine Sāmoa outside of Sāmoa? Lani is an afakasi, and is unsure of her Sāmoan heritage and what being Sāmoan even means. But one thing she knows for sure is that she's afraid of Vai and the 'Real Sāmoans.' Masina, the free-spirited daughter of a Church Minister, is bound by parental expectations and struggling to fulfill the destiny set by her parents. Teuila is the good Island girl and proud teine Sāmoa who realises she doesn't want to be a 'switcher' anymore. How will these junior high school students learn to be, understand and fulfill their obligations as Teine Sāmoa, living in New Zealand? Teine Sāmoa is a journey of cultural identity and discovery for four junior high school students, their families, their teachers and, most importantly, anyone who has ever faced the challenges of being a teine Sāmoa"--Publisher information.

Summary  "The work in this short volume arises from a combination of two experiences; one over a definite time period, the other my Christian pilgrimage up to 1991. The former represents two years spent at Denver Seminary completing a Master's degree in Christian education and theology. A course requirement of the five systematic theology classes in seminary was to write one's belief in plain English. The following pages are those statements, plus some revisiting. Also included is a summary statement on “Spirit Baptism”. This part of my work is from a graduate research project on “Recontextualizing Spirit Baptism” submitted to Professor of Systematic Theology and Christian Philosophy, Dr. Gordon R. Lewis”--Preface.

Title: Where oh where can Harawene be? / Julie Bella Taua.
Creator: Taua, Julie Bella.
ISBN: 9780473490188 online
Publishing Details: [Rotorua] : [Jackie Evans], [2019]
Format: 1 online resource : illustrations
Summary: Harawne was a small, black and white terrier cross, who lived wild in a paddock overlooking Te Ngae Road, Rotorua's busiest highway. Fascinated by the passing traffic, she would stand watching it for hours, becoming a silent companion to countless motorists who passed by. Tragically run over in 2008, she was mourned by thousands. Funds were raised for a bronze statue, which now stands in Harawene's favourite spot. This children's book is in verse, and is in memory of a courageous little dog -- Back cover.

Format 128 pages ; 23 cm
Summary "At the bottom of the Pacific, on an Island, is a small modern city called Christchurch. Located within it is a United States military base with direct access to Antarctica and an advanced scientific Bio-lab. In most countries the small city would be considered little bigger than a town, but, located in the South Island, it is New Zealand’s third-biggest city, and it is here, on an unsuspecting public, that the world’s leaders have been systematically testing diabolical plots and plans. Hard on the heels of two major earthquakes that were both manmade and a state-sponsored terror attack stealthily used to silence the world’s independent media and steal guns from members of New Zealand’s passive society which has almost zero gun crime, the coronavirus now called COVID-19 was quietly released and tested"—Publisher information.

Creator  Quigley, Sarah
ISBN  9780143772941 paperback
       9780143772958 EPUB
Format  271 pages ; 24 cm
Summary  "The Divorce Diaries outlines the difficult and often heart-breaking process of leaving a marriage and starting over. Sarah Quigley has garnered numerous accolades for her articles on the subject, including Columnist of the Year in the MPA Awards. Now she revisits and reconsiders the tumultuous months leading up to exiting her marriage and the equally confusing emotions that followed. Living in a tiny rooftop apartment, surrounded by glossy millionaire neighbours, Quigley begins the process of overcoming grief and loneliness. As she takes the first tentative steps back into the world of dating, she shares both her darkest and most hilarious moments as a divorcee. Against the colourful bohemian backdrop of her adopted city, Berlin, she rediscovers the satisfaction and joys of independence" --Publisher

Title  Ephemera / Tina Shaw.
Creator  Shaw, Tina, 1961-
ISBN  9780473500320 pbk
Format  283 pages : map ; 21 cm Summary  "We were probably doomed from the moment the virus hit the airport. Several years after a global meltdown, New Zealand, along with the rest of the world, is still in chaos. No electricity, no bradband, and people are in survival mode - at least until somebody turns the lights on again. Ruth has always led a sheltered life. Pre-Crash, she worked as an Ephemera Librarian, now she is managing a simple, self-sufficient lifestyle. But her sister is dying from tuberculosis and her love for Juliana propels Ruth to undertake a perilous journey.She intrepidly sets off from Auckland to find the man known as Nelson and his rumoured stockpile of pharmaceutical drugs. Word has it he is based at the old Huka Lodge. Along with the handsome Lance Hinckley and enigmatic Adebowale Ackers, Ruth travels by steamboat up the Waikato River - the only practical way. The group journeys through settlements that have sprung up along the river as people try to re-establish their lives in this precarious time. With society itself broken, will Ruth manage to keep her commitment to her sister without compromising her own values?Inspired by Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness, this post-apocalyptic, partly comedic novel reveals that things are not always what they seem.

Format  205 pages ; 21 cm.
Summary  "Sophie Delaware is ready to climb out of the slump she's been in since she ditched her lying, cheating ex. There's no way she wants to commit to another relationship any time soon, but a hot, short-term hookup? That's a different story entirely. What she needs is a no-strings-attached kind of guy who is capable of giving her all the unadulterated pleasure she can handle without getting too attached. And she knows the perfect man for the job. Cooper Simons isn't long-haul relationship material. He's still far too emotionally messed up from his military service to even consider getting involved with anyone. But he's only human, and there's no way he's strong enough to turn down Sophie's too-tempting proposal. It doesn't matter that she's his sister's best friend. It doesn't matter that he's still struggling with PTSD. He's going to take what she's offering and give her everything she wants in return—over and over again. But when it comes time for their fling to end, will Cooper be able to let Sophie go? Will she even want him to?"--Back cover.

Summary "When Ronnie McIlroy volunteers to spend twelve months nursing in a South Vietnamese hospital, she's ill-prepared for a poverty-stricken country at war. Neither weak nor faint-hearted, she's way out of her comfort zone. American pilot, Joseph Hunter Jr, is on his second tour of duty. With an outstanding flying record and a cool head, he'll take an Iroquois anywhere he's needed. When he meets an attractive young New Zealand nurse at the officers' club, he knows the odds are stacked against a relationship. As Ronnie and Joe navigate the constant dangers of living and working in a war zone, it's clear fate has decided their time and place to fall in love is now. But will one naive act of compassion destroy any chance of a life together? Will either of them Vietnam alive?"--Back cover.

Summary  "An unstable leader, three vulnerable teenagers, and a merciless forest. John moved to Vantage Point hoping for a fresh start. He had a new job, a new volunteer position with the local youth group 'The Young Adventurers', and a new place to call home. However, New Zealand is a small place, and news travels fast. When a weekend trip away with three members of the Young Adventurers is potentially cancelled, an opportunity arises for John to prove to himself, and the inhabitants of Vantage Point, that he's a changed man. But deep within the mysterious west coast forest, a series of unfortunate events results in the group fighting for survival, forcing them to come to the unsettling realisation that sanctuary can be a curse, and fear is always close. Part 1 of the series, the story draws on inspiration from the stunning New Zealand scenery, Kiwi culture and the unforgiving wilderness to create a gripping and unsettling first installment into the dark world of Vantage Point – the small town that isn’t known for its happy endings"--Back cover.

Kino, Shilo.
9781775503996 paperback
Twelve-year-old Niko lives in Pohe Bay, a small, rural town with a sacred hot spring and a taniwha named Taukere. The government plan to build a prison here and destroy the home of the taniwha has divided the community. Some are against it, but others see it as an opportunity. Niko is worried about the land and Taukere, but who will listen to him? He’s an ordinary boy who’s laughed at, bullied, and called pōrangi, crazy, for believing in the taniwha. But it’s Niko who has to convince the community that Taukere is real, unite whānau in protest against the prison and stand up to the bullies"--Publisher information.

Continuing from Snowgirls, Heather has the Irene righted and repaired for their accommodation. She also helps relocating people, including a girl of her own age. This girl learns that she is next in line for the British Crown, after three generations of the Royal Family have disappeared. She becomes Britain's first ruler since Charles I, as opposed to a reigning only Queen. She demolishes Britain's hierarchal system, avoids protocol and commands that banks become service industries only. She outlaws poverty; in doing so riles previously senior members of parliament and the church, who she believes have perpetuated such conditions for their own benefit. And she survives assassination attempts by those she has deposed"--Back cover.

| Summary | "The English translation of the Tibetan critical edition gives a complete translation of the text. This translation is intended to complement the work of the critical edition by indicating in the critical apparatus those parts of the text that vary from the Pāli original. A most important aspect of the translation is that it provides us with a complete picture of the text as it was transmitted in the 13th century from Pāli into Tibetan. It has therefore significant philological importance for the study of the Tibetan translation and transmission process as found in the later period of the spread of Buddhism to Tibet. The translation also provides annotations to the text that show in detail any discrepancies or irregularities that were found between the phrasing of the Tibetan and Pāli texts. Much information is included here that was not justified in the critical edition but which has relevance for the translation. Also included in the annotations are both the Tibetan and Pāli forms of the proper names of persons, places and trees, that occur in the text"--Publisher information. |

"Jan Hellriegel describes Sportsman of the year as 'a musical in a book' - the book grew out of her album when she realised the songs were taking a more philosophical, personal direction. So she decided to share stories in parallel with the music, each informed by the other. Sportsman of the year is about finally arriving at a place where Jan can look back at failures, disappointments and rejections with a sense of accomplishment and pride, knowing without them she wouldn't be doing what she is today. It's a 220 page album cover for music about following your dreams and never giving up"--Back cover.

Format 320 pages ; 21 cm

Summary "In three volumes Doina Roman has .. created a fantastic universe, with its own logic, justification and coherence, populated with strange people and beings, who nevertheless behave, act and carry out dialogues in a natural, realistic, credible ways. A fascinating, tragic, funny universe in which the Elders of Time change worlds, populate them with monsters, destroy civilizations, condemn peoples to extinction, take possession of the elixir of eternal youth _ in which, instead of money or property, collectors take debtors feelings, memories or years of life,, in which time can be stopped, people come back from the dead, and the thresholds between the worlds are not a hindrance for those determined to cross them. A universe where even objects come to life, becoming memorable characters, created with an overflowing fantasy and a dose of humor. In this first book travel through the first Threshold out of the City with Cat, a metamorphic, with the help of the Demented Elevator, a thing with a mind of its own which obeys its own twisted logic. Cat steals something without knowing its true value He and his companions are hunted by Kay, a policeman with supernatural powers, who works for her powerful uncle Crius The cast of characters quickly grows and soon all are involved in a desperate struggle with the very fate of the world at stake The action is fast, the characters rich and humourous, the world unique and fascinating Can you live without feelings? How many of us could exist without the real values that differentiate us From other beings? What would people do if they were to give up kindness, joy, faith, sincerity, altruism, truth? At once a funny, exciting adventure, This multi-award winning trilogy is also packed with sophisticated metaphors and layers for those that can see them; a story with universal appeal to young and old. The Doina Roman Trilogy. Threshold, works in many narrative compartments. It was said about her that it would be related to the new weird sub-genre, but also to SF or fantasy."--Back cover.

Title Crux : for orchestra / by James Wade.
Format 1 online resource
Language Staff notation.
Summary "I have grown acutely aware of the symbolic power of Crux (the Southern Cross constellation). The emotions associated purely with the sentimental place this symbolic power holds within Australian iconography mirror closely many emotions which are less tangible, more profound and of greater personal significance ... This piece aims to idiomatically express these ideas, in addition to being a cathartic recognition of these concepts"--Unnumbered preliminary page.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;Jazz Thornton first attempted to take her own life at the age of 12. Multiple attempts followed and she spent time in psychiatric wards and under medical supervision as she rode the rollercoaster of depression and anxiety through her teenage years - yet the attempts continued. Find out what Jazz learned about how her negative thought patterns came to be, and how she turned those thoughts, and her life, around. Who and what helped, and what didn't help. The insights she gives will help create greater understanding of those grappling with mental illness, and those around them who desperately want to help. Jazz went on to attend film school, and to co-found Voices of Hope, a non-profit organisation dedicated to helping those with mental health issues and show them there is a way forward. She creates online content to provide hope and help&quot;—Provided by publisher.</td>
