The New Zealand National Bibliography (NZNB) contains catalogue records for the New Zealand imprint. It is produced monthly (12 issues per year). The National Library of New Zealand has responsibility for producing the Bibliography. Most of the material listed is received by the National Library of New Zealand under the Legal Deposit provisions of the National Library (Te Puna Mātauranga o Aotearoa) Act 2003. It contains New Zealand and Tokelau resources, both physical and digital, including books, serials, newspapers, maps, music, websites and podcasts. Items are included after they have been received at the National Library. The records are created in accordance with international cataloguing standards.

This document contains all the items that have been catalogued during the month of June 2020. The items are grouped by format and then separated into digital and physical. Within each format grouping the items are arranged alphabetically by title.

Contents Summary -- Intentions poster.

Summary Although the practicum is generally accepted as a core element in teacher preparation programmes, the assessment of student teachers’ competence during practicums appears to be particularly problematic as making judgments about complex performances, such as teaching, is a sophisticated process. In this 2-year research project, Social Judgment Theory (Hammond, Rohrbaugh, Mumpower, & Adelman, 1977) was used to better understand judgments of “readiness to teach.”

Summary
"This paper addresses the state of regulatory connectivity between Europe and Asia (Asia–Europe Meeting [ASEM] countries). It explores the wide range of possible approaches to international regulatory cooperation and finds that implementation is often hard and there are no simple 'silver bullet' solutions. The best approach will depend on the goals, the contexts in the respective countries, and the balance of risks with each approach. The key policy implication is that countries should consider the full range of regulatory cooperation approaches, and use the least demanding form of international regulatory cooperation (IRC) required to achieve their objectives. Unilateral action to achieve regulatory convergence is an important tool for countries to consider first."

Summary "This study explored how information communication technologies (ICTs) in primary classrooms can enhance the teaching and learning of science. By building on teachers’ and students’ prior knowledge and experience with ICTs, we investigated how ICT use can structure activities to offer enhanced opportunities for active participation in science. The project generated examples of how ICTs can support subject-relevant ways of exploring and communicating science, and evaluating what has been learnt" --Introduction.

Summary  "This report summarises the research activities and findings from the TLRI-funded project conducted in various schools entitled Building Students’ Inferential Reasoning: Statistics Curriculum Levels 5 and 6. The project was a 2-year collaboration among two statisticians, two researchers and nine teachers. The project team designed innovative approaches to develop students’ informal inferential reasoning and sought evidence that these innovations had a significant effect on improving students' statistical reasoning in this domain" --Title page.

Summary report -- Intentions poster.

Summary
"This project contributes to the field of curriculum integration and the role of the arts within integrated learning contexts. In particular, it scrutinised integrated inquiries that incorporated drama and visual art with other learning areas. It also examined ways in which children, teachers, and the wider community engaged in arts-based integration. Most of the international practices in this field fall into the “good idea” category rather than being based on research. This project helps to address this knowledge gap" --Page 2.

<td>Summary</td>
<td>&quot;After much struggling and suffering, Amelia’s group are finally being received. The fight for Kyle’s acquittal continues. The promise of freedom is tantalising… There is still a high risk involved with every step forward they take, however. New evidence surfaces to support and explain the recent events, but Yuuki and Kyle are nonetheless troubled by the uncertainty of the future that lies ahead. In the midst of it all, Kyle deals with a revelation of his own. It ought to bring joy, but the trails of grief left in its wake only bring a shattering sense of betrayal. Meanwhile, with numbers dwindling and time running out, it’s not long before the last remaining members of a certain group of individuals each start going about things in their own way…”--Publisher information.</td>

Published by: Teaching & Learning Research Initiative Nāu i Whatu Te Kākahu, He Tāniko Taku, 2010.

Format: 1 online resource: illustrations (some colour)

Summary: "This report documents the research activities and findings of the TLRI-funded project entitled "A School for the 21st Century: Researching the impact of changing teaching practice on student learning..." PLG investigated ways teachers understood and responded to innovative approaches to scheduling time for teaching and learning, and sought evidence that the innovations had a significant effect on student learning... The PLG team hoped to be able to identify the best teaching practices to use when the learning session covers an extended period of time, such as over a three-day period or an extended lesson of 100 minutes, but we also wanted to widen discussion about the nature of "evidence" of student learning" --Page 1.

Broadbent, Stacey, 1981-

[Ashburton] : Stacey Broadbent, [2019]

"A simple Kiwi girl turned Hollywood superstar, that's what they call me. After a few too many drinks at one of the biggest awards ceremonies on the planet, I make one of the most epic faux pas of the century; I try to run off with someone else's award. You'd think it would be enough to put me on the scrap heap, forever known as, "that has-been actress from New Zealand". As luck would have it, a plucky drunk is just what the Ramirez brothers are looking for. Turns out, they're not the only ones. Literally falling into the strong, capable arms of my neighbor, Brock Appleby, I can't help but turn into a bumbling idiot whenever he's around. Hardworking, kind, and a gentleman to boot, Brock is everything I need, and nothing I feel I deserve. Running from a past that won't let me forget, it's no wonder I turn to the only thing that dulls the senses; alcohol. Can I overcome my past and forgive myself, or will I let my addiction take hold and drag me down?"--Back cover of print.

Creator  Krogdahl, Esther.

ISBN  9781869714383 online

Projected Publication Date  2007

Format  1 online resource

Summary  "Hazel Spratt was an agreeable child. Never impatient, unruly or wild. But when Hazel turns three-and-a-half, her parents notice a change. She is no longer their polite and pleasant daughter, Hazel, she is now Grumbelina, 'a grumpy child, so disgruntled yet small, with a list of complaints that could cover a wall.' Settle down and relax for a moment, this humorous and delightfully illustrated picture book takes a tongue-in-cheek look at tantrums"--Publisher information.

Title Learning wisdom: young children and teachers recognising the learning / Margaret Carr (University of Waikato), Wendy Lee (Educational Leadership project) & the Early Years Wisdom Group.

Creator Carr, Margaret, 1941-

Publishing Details Wellington, New Zealand : Teaching & Learning Research Initiative Nāu i Whatu Te Kākahu, He Tāniko Taku, [2010]

Format 1 online resource

Summary "This project aimed to explore the ways in which young children could become more wise about their learning journeys, and perhaps the learning journeys of others. In particular, we wanted to explore how - and whether - four-year-olds could develop some understandings about what they were learning and why it might have been valuable. We wondered whether they could articulate these ideas, and we explored the revisiting of episodes of learning as a location for the research. We called this ‘learning wisdom’, building on a growing literature on this topic" --Introduction.

Summary Reports -- Intentions poster.

Summary
Marae-ā-kura (school-based marae) have been part of the secondary school landscape since 1978. This two-year research project investigated the role of marae-ā-kura as culturally determined spaces in mainstream secondary schools. It involved the participation of students, teachers, principals, whānau and community representatives of three urban marae-ā-kura within the Auckland region. The study examined the pedagogy of marae-ā-kura and their effect on the educational achievement, including the cultural well-being, of Māori learners and their whānau. --Page 2.

Summary  "This Teaching and Learning Research Initiative (TLRI) project was sited in a kindergarten, Tai Tamaki, at the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa in Wellington. This kindergarten is a full day-centre for children aged 0–5 years. On average, 70 percent of the families include staff at Te Papa. The research focused on the relationship between the teachers, children and families at the kindergarten and selected exhibitions at Te Papa. It was extended to include these relationships with exhibitions at nearby art galleries. The project’s goals and intentions were to construct an understanding of how the children at this kindergarten made meaning of what they encountered and experienced at the museum, and what opportunities strengthened this learning" --Page 2.

Title  Our role in the response to COVID-19 : research, evidence and insights.

Summary  "The COVID-19 pandemic shows how critical it is for governments to plan and think long term. While it's natural for most people to focus on the short-term and surviving COVID-19, we must not lose sight of the importance of longer-term thinking. Koi Tū: The Centre for Informed Futures is an independent and apolitical think tank and research centre based at the University of Auckland, New Zealand. We generate knowledge and tools to address critical long-term global and national challenges arising from rapid and far-reaching social, economic, techno-logical and environmental change. Our areas of focus include developing integrated, policy-relevant knowledge for decision making by communities and policy makers in a post-truth world; societal and individual resilience in the face of rapid change; impacts of rapidly emerging technologies; and understanding the trade-offs embedded within the sustainability agenda."--From resource.

Reconceptualising literacy : critical multiliteracies for "new times" / Susan Sandretto and Jane Tilson.

1 online resource : colour illustrations

"In this report, we argue that given the changes affecting our classrooms through information and communications technology, and increasing student diversity not only do we want to prepare ourselves for the wave, but we wish to harness its power. This "wave" involves a reconceptualisation of literacy, known as "multiliteracies", that takes account of an increasing cultural and linguistic diversity and rapid changes in communication technologies. Our research project sought to address the paucity of research on multiliteracies in New Zealand, building on a growing body of international literature on multiliteracies" --Page 2.

Title School achievement: why summer matters / Stuart McNaughton, Rebecca Jesson, Tone Kolose and Sophie Kercher.

Creator McNaughton, S. (Stuart)

Format 1 online resource : colour illustrations

Contents School achievement: why summer matters -- School and home contributions to overcoming the summer learning effect in decile 1 schools.

Summary "The "summer learning effect" is where students’ school literacy achievement plateaus or declines over summer. This limits students’ levels of achievement over time which can create a barrier to decile 1 schools’ effectiveness. It is a well known effect both within New Zealand and worldwide, but there is limited research evidence on how to overcome it. Our aim was to identify factors that may help overcome the summer learning effect in reading in decile 1 schools in New Zealand" --Page 2.

Summary: "This book is part of a discipleship strategy designed to take people from decision to disciple and make disciples who make disciples. When I say from decision to disciple I am talking about spiritual maturity. The primary purpose of the church is to make disciples. This involves leading lost people to faith and helping them become mature followers of Jesus. If we are going to become mature we need three things - to be mentored by other more mature disciples, use our gifts to serve God and learn God's word. This book will help us learn God's word. When I talk about making disciples who make disciples I am talking about the cyclical nature of discipleship. When Jesus called Peter to follow him he promised to make him a fisher of men. Peter hadn't even become a follower and Jesus was already talking to him about his vision to empower him to reach others. Following Jesus is about us growing so that we can honour God with our lives and so that we can use what we have learnt to help others. We are all learners and teachers. Our intention is that this pathway will equip you to go and win lost people and make disciples who make disciples. We break discipleship into four phases - engage, establish, equip and empower. This book is part of the establishment phase of our discipleship strategy. It is designed to help establish you in God's truth about sex and sexuality"--Page 5.

Summary  "In this collaborative research study, teaching experiments were carried out in Year 9 classes of predominantly Pasifika students. There were three phases. During the planning phase the research team planned activities and envisioned how dialogue and statistical activity would unfold as a result of the classroom activities. Data were collected during the teaching phase, and then the data were analysed using a grounded theory approach. The findings have implications for the teaching of statistical literacy" --Introduction.

Summary  "The focus of this TLRI project was on sustaining gains in reading comprehension made through TLRI funded interventions in two clusters of schools in South Auckland. The aim was to develop a model for sustaining effective teaching and school practices so that student achievement continued to improve once the interventions ended. This involved identifying and explaining the conditions that enabled schools to continue improving achievement; explaining how the conditions interrelated; and how these relationships resulted in differing patterns of achievement after the intervention" --Introduction.

Title  Alpha night / Nalini Singh.
Creator  Singh, Nalini, 1977-
ISBN  9781869714154 paperback
Format  354 pages ; 22 cm
Summary  "Alpha wolf Selenka Durev's devotion to her pack is equalled only by her anger at anyone who would harm those under her care. That currently includes the empaths who've flowed into her city for a symposium that is a security nightmare; a powder keg just waiting for a match. Ethan Night is an Arrow who isn't an Arrow. Numb and disengaged from the world, he's loyal only to himself. Assigned as part of the security force at a world-first symposium, he carries a dark agenda tied to the power-hungry and murderous Consortium. Then violence erupts and Ethan finds himself crashing into the heart and soul of an alpha wolf. Mating at first sight is a myth, a fairytale. Yet Selenka's wolf is resolute: Ethan Night, broken Arrow and a man capable of obsessive devotion, is the mate it has chosen. Even if the bond is full of static and not quite as it should be. Because Selenka's new mate has a terrible secret, his mind surging with a power that is a creature of madness and death..."--Publisher information.

"One year after her long-time partner Meredith’s abduction, and their subsequent break-up, Kathleen Bowden-Scott’s life is spiralling out of control. Her guilt over pushing Meredith away has her losing focus at work, causing her employer to recommend a sabbatical to sort her life out. Meredith suggests volunteering to help others might allow Kathleen to move on and build a new life. At the local women’s centre she meets Bethany Jones and despite an instant attraction Kathleen shies away. Beth has her own reasons for avoiding a relationship. An ex out for revenge. While each one thinks they have put aside their attraction, inside a slow burn ignites. Forced to put their feelings on hold when Beth’s problems escalate and life takes a dangerous turn. In this fast-paced, romantic suspense, lies are exposed and hearts unite as Kathleen and Beth fight for their future" --Publisher's website.

Summary  "The nineteen fifties and sixties, when the population stood around 200 and the young people were heading to the cities to find work. Sections were selling for a hundred pounds, the streets were unpaved and tourists were very thin on the ground. Most days the only thing that moved in the Main Street was the shadows. Then somebody had the brilliant idea to build an ice skating rink - and with the hard work and support of people like Alan, this vision became a reality. The interest this created throughout the district and beyond, far exceeded their expectations. This is the story of how a small community pulled together to bring their town alive again. Alan's memories of those days have once again given us an interesting and entertaining read" --Back cover.

Summary  "During their 1985 tour, two events of hatred and stupidity forever change the lives of a band's four members. Neues Bauen, a post-hardcore Illinois group homing in on their own small fame, head on with frontman Conrad Wells sexually assaulted and guitarist Tone Seburg wounded by gunshot. The band staggers forth into the American landscape, investigating each of their relationships with history, memory, authenticity, and violence. With decades passed and compelled by his wife's failing health to track down Tone, Conrad flies to North Africa where her brother is rumoured to be hiding with a renowned artist from their past. There he instead meets various characters including his former drummer, Spence. Amongst the sprawl and shout of Morocco, the men attempt to recall what happened to them during their lost years of mental disintegration and emotional poverty"--Inside front cover.

Summary "An agent of Nazh-rndu'ul has arrived in the port city of Burhgat. He bears grave news - the Kjatmi'ir are already on the rise. Pinched between Nazh-rndu'ul and the Third Ring, Kha'atib must show no weakness and gather the armies. He must manipulate Johsala and prepare for war. Destiny is upon him, yet what threatens Johsala, threatens them all. For far beyond his reach, Ohrl, Faerl and Na'ilah discover that nothing, and no one, are what they first seemed.
Secrets are unveiled, dark desires kept hidden by those at their side. Their paths will each lead to an enemy thought conquered long ago, and an undermining betrayal buried far deeper than any ever dared to reveal. In a fight for survival, each must uncover the truth, but in the end all Summary "After much struggling and suffering, Amelia's group are finally being received. The fight for Kyle's acquittal continues. The promise of freedom is tantalising… There is still a high risk involved with every step forward they take, however. New evidence surfaces to support and explain the recent events, but Yuuki and Kyle are nonetheless troubled by the uncertainty of the future that lies ahead. In the midst of it all, Kyle deals with a revelation of his own. It ought to bring joy, but the trails of grief left in its wake only bring a shattering sense of betrayal.

Meanwhile, with numbers dwindling and time running out, it's not long before the last remaining members of a certain group of individuals each start going about things in their own

Title  From suffrage to a seat in the house : the path to parliament for New Zealand women / Jenny Coleman.
Creator  Coleman, Jenny.
ISBN  9781988592268 paperback
Format  344 pages: illustrations ; 23 cm
Summary  "New Zealand has always proudly worn its status of being the first country to enfranchise women. But not many know that it took a further 40 long years to get the first woman elected to Parliament. In fact women were not even entitled to stand as candidates in national elections until 1919 – 26 years after they won the right to vote in those elections. Even then there was resistance, with editor of the Auckland Star stating that it would open the way for ‘a class of aggressive females who, thirsting for publicity, would be constantly pushing themselves forward into positions for which they are in no sense fitted’. The journey ‘from the home to the House’ was a shamefully protracted one for New Zealand women, as many male parliamentarians who grudgingly accepted the franchise being extended to women staunchly resisted any further progress. Their political machinations and filibustering were highly effective. Eventually, with an additional 130,000 voters enrolled, politicians began to realise that women’s votes – and even women’s voices – mattered. However, it was not until 1933 that the first woman was elected to the New Zealand Parliament, when Elizabeth McCombs won the Lyttelton seat, following the death of her husband, the sitting MP. The history of women striving to share in governing the country, a neglected footnote in the nation’s electoral history, is now captured in this essential work by Jenny Coleman. She has drawn on a wide range of sources to create a rich portrayal of a rapidly evolving colonial society in which new ideas and social change were in constant friction with the status quo"--Back cover.

Summary "Hazel Spratt was an agreeable child. Never impatient, unruly or wild. But when Hazel turns three-and-a-half, her parents notice a change. She is no longer their polite and pleasant daughter, Hazel, she is now Grumbelina, 'a grumpy child, so disgruntled yet small, with a list of complaints that could cover a wall.' Settle down and relax for a moment, this humorous and delightfully illustrated picture book takes a tongue-in-cheek look at tantrums"--Publisher information.

Title Husna's story: my wife, the Christchurch massacre & my journey to forgiveness / Farid Ahmed; with Kimberley Davis.

Creator Ahmed, Farid, 1962-

ISBN 9781988547480 paperback

Format 319 pages, 8 unnumbered pages of plates: colour illustrations; 24 cm

Summary "Husna's Story is written by Husna's husband Farid Ahmed. They were praying at El Noor Mosque in Christchurch when a gunman burst in and shot and killed 51 people and injured many others in a terrorist attack. This book tells Husna's story, describing the day of the attack - in all of its normal, mundane detail up until the tragedy, and then the horrendous tragedy of what followed. Interwoven with this is the story of Husna's life, telling of the selflessness and bravery with which she lived her life. As well as looking after her paraplegic husband, Husna was an important member of the community, helping women when they were giving birth, running classes for children and helping many others. Her last selfless act was going back into the mosque to look for her husband on that fateful day. She had already led the other women and children to safety. Tragically she was shot. Husna's husband, Farid Ahmed, quite incredibly, forgives the alleged killer. His remarkable philosophy of forgiveness, peace and love is an example of how religion and faith, through personal application, can be a tool for navigating the most horrific of tragedies."--Publisher's description.

Summary: "Joseph St. George is a young New Zealander, the son of diplomats in 1930s Berlin. But the Nazis are on the rise and the world is on a spinning path to destruction. Joe’s world is about to change, violently. After a narrow escape from Germany with his mother, Joe is recruited by MI5 and given a mission to infiltrate the Hitler Youth movement. From vital convoys across the frozen North Atlantic, to the terror of the London Blitz, to the shadowy world of the French Resistance, this is Joe’s world. Inspired by true events, Katipo Joe is a story of incredible heroism, unlikely friendships and unbearable tragedy, set against the backdrop of World War Two"--Publisher information.

Summary  "This special photobook documents a wānanga or class for three generations of women from Ngāti Torehina Ki Matakā to learn the customary practice of pelting North Island brown kiwi so their feathers can be used for weaving. This passing on of customary knowledge developed out of a partnership between conservationists and weavers that returned accidentally killed kiwi to the hapū or family of the rohe or district in which they were found. Weaving, perhaps the preeminent form of Māori women's cultural expression, was in serious decline in New Zealand until the 1950s, when a concerted effort was made by Māori women to preserve and maintain it and to highlight the need to protect vital natural resources. Formal training is now available through universities and polytechnics, but traditionally weaving has been taught within hapū, usually by a mother, aunt or grandmother honouring protocols and restrictions to maintain the integrity of the discipline. It offers a particular perspective on the contemporary hapū-led cultural practices of Māori women and their intersection of the sacred and profound in the everyday. It also brings a greater understanding of conservation efforts and, in particular, of how the Department of Conservation Te Papa Atawhai works closely with tangata whenua"--Publisher's website.

Summary "On the fifth anniversary of his sister's death, nineteen-year-old Jonny Dart is still troubled by guilt and an imperfect memory of the accident that took her life. He goes searching for the only other witness to the fatal event, his sister's best friend. But instead of finding the answers he's looking for, he finds Sophie - an old woman with Alzheimer's. Sophie lives with several cats in genteel but dreadful squalor, and has no memory of recent events. As a temporary outcast and labelled 'loser', Jonny takes refuge with her. In Sophie's house, past and present merge for both of them. Their accidental meeting changes their lives"--Publisher information.

Title  Merchant, miner, Mandarin : the life and times of the remarkable Choie Sew Hoy / Jenny Sew Hoy Agnew and Trevor Agnew.

Creator  Agnew, Jenny.

ISBN  9781988503097 paperback

Format  287 pages : illustrations ; 27 cm

Summary  "In 1869, a businessman from China's Guangdong Province first set foot on New Zealand soil at Port Chalmers. It was the beginning of an illustrious career that would change the shape of commerce and industry in Otago and Southland. 'Merchant, Miner, Mandarin' depicts the fascinating life of Choie Sew Hoy - from his early days in China before emigrating to Australia and then New Zealand, to his death in 1901 as one of Dunedin's most prominent entrepreneurs. The store Choie Sew Hoy established in Dunedin's Stafford Street was a huge success, while his revolutionary gold-dredging technology improved the fortunes of the gold-mining industry in Otago and Southland. He backed dredging, quartz crushing and hydraulic sluicing ventures in the goldfields of Ophir, Macetown, Skippers, Nokomai and the Shotover. Sharp as a razor, Sew Hoy was a visionary, able to spot opportunities no one else could, whether sending vast amounts of unwanted scrap metal from New Zealand back to China, or joining famous Taranaki businessman Chew Chong's fungus export trade. Sew Hoy was also a local character, always elegantly dressed and with legendary success in horse racing. His self-assurance and charm gained him entry to the Chamber of Commerce, the Jockey Club, the Masons and even the Caledonian Society. A benefactor to many social causes, he supported hospitals and benevolent associations to help his fellow Chinese immigrants. When the success of the Chinese in New Zealand aroused hostility, he fought the prevalent racism and unfair government legislation of the day. A man of two worlds, Choie Sew Hoy was a success in both"--Back cover.

Creator Bainbridge, Scott, 1969-
ISBN 9781988538228 paperback
Format 176 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm
Summary "New Zealand’s history is peppered with mysterious tales of otherworldly beings, strange sightings, inexplicable disappearances and unusual crimes. While some of these stories have been handed down through generations, many of them hail from more recent times. The one thing they all have in common is that they have all endured despite repeated attempts to solve or explain them.In this book, Scott Bainbridge turns his investigative skills towards some of the best-known of these mysteries, like the ghosts of Wellington’s St James Theatre, the sightings of large cats throughout Canterbury and the appearance of otherworldly lights over Kaikoura. He also looks into some less known but equally intriguing puzzles, including the disappearance of a British naval officer during the Cold War, the origins of unusual crop circles near Ngatea and the vanishing of everyone on board the MV Joyita. Bainbridge does not set out to solve these mysteries, but instead considers the evidence, while leaving readers to form their own opinions"--https://www.batemanbooks.co.nz.

Summary  "Sara McIntyre, the daughter of the artist Peter McIntyre, was nine years old when her family first came to Kākahi, in the King Country, in 1960. The family has been linked to Kākahi ever since. On the family car trips of her childhood, McIntyre got used to her father's frequent stops for subject matter for painting. Fifty years on, when she moved to Kākahi to work as a district nurse, she began to do the same on her rounds, as a photographer. This book brings together McIntyre's remarkable photographic exploration - her 'observations' - of Kākahi and the sparsely populated surrounding King Country towns of Manunui, Ōhura, Ōngarue, Piriaka, Ōwhango and Taumarunui"--Back cover.

Title: Parihaka: the facts / by John McLean.

ISBN: 9781872970691 paperback

Format: 119 pages : illustrations ; 21 cm

Summary: "The Government's occupation of Parihaka on 5th November, 1881, was an inevitable and necessary consequence of Te Whiti creating a quasi-republic in the bush of southern Taranaki, which refused to recognise the sovereignty of the Crown or the laws of the land, and was a haven for criminals on the run from justice, including a murderer. That the deed was achieved peacefully was as much a tribute to the restraint from violence of Te Whiti and his fellow prophet, Tohu, as to the decision of the Government to turn up with such overwhelming force as to deter any ideas of resistance. Based on facts as they were recorded at the time, this book explains the complicated land situation in Taranaki, which led to war and confiscation. It narrates the rise of Te Whiti and Parihaka, with the monthly carnival-like meetings, the ploughing up and illegal fencing of other people's land, tension between Te Whiti and the settlers, the Government's failed efforts to resolve the situation, the occupation of the village by the Armed Constabulary and the Volunteers which diminished Te Whiti's power. It also covers the "silken detention" of Te Whiti and Tohu as they toured the South Island, their return to Parihaka, further trouble with the settlers and finally the dispute between Te Whiti and Tohu that marred their later years. This was the culmination of the decline of Te Whiti's influence as his prophecies failed to materialise and his former influence was being replaced by that of the Young Maori Party of Apirana Ngata and others, who worked for assimilation with European..."

Title    Rākau : the sacred flow of light / Joanne Hakaraia.
Creator Hakaraia, Joanne
ISBN 9780648711605 paperback
9780648711612 ebook
Publishing Details Auckland, NZ : [Te Waka Rākau], 2019.
Format xi, 88 pages ; 20 cm
Summary "Ra = sun/light kau = to flow Ra = Sacred light u = sustenance. A plant requires sun or light to exist, just like us. The leaves draw light from the sun and turns the light into kai or food. The kai in the form of food, nourishes the body. The kai in the form of light, nourishes our wairua or spirit. Both forms of kai are equal in energy and force because both feed us, but in different ways. The sustenance of the kai occurs in different realms, the physical and the spirit. Yet they are both the same. The kai we eat can influence the kai we receive in wairua. It influences our thoughts. When we eat kai that has been seeded in Papatūānuku (Mother Earth) we receive high vibrational sustenance. We know where the kai comes from and the elements involved in the transaction. It's when we don't know the whakapapa (genealogy) of the kai that it can cause complications. Kai laden with chemicals and man-made preservatives alter our thought processes and emotions and therefore our body structure. If we look at the process from te taha wairua (spiritually) we know that the light being transformed into kai is essentially illumined sacred knowledge from divine light. A brief outline of what rākau means is The Sacred Flow of Light. What is Sacred Light? Source. This book has been developed over many years of working with rākau (plants). We can create the life we want. All we have to do is change some thoughts and let go of old beliefs that don’t serve us. We are on a pathway to inner enlightenment. Letting go of heavy ‘stuff’ that literally weighs us down is a big part of the process. It’s not an easy journey but it’s an interesting one. Once we let go of a few beliefs about ourselves or about the world in general, it becomes a lot easier to practice letting go. The more weight that drops away, the more the navigator in us appears. This is when life becomes truly fascinating because an exciting new landscape reveals itself to us”—Publisher information.

Title  Stop the clock / Gordon McLauchlan.
Creator  McLauchlan, Gordon.
ISBN  9781988538174 paperback
Format  232 pages ; 21 cm
Summary  "The best way to learn anything is by doing it – this is a maxim that goes back to Aristotle and one that journalist and writer Gordon McLauchlan always ascribed to. As he approached the end of his life, Gordon drew a number of conclusions, including the fact that the only way of learning how to manage growing old is by growing old. He didn’t believe that wisdom is necessarily a concomitant of old age but suggested that, while there is no fool like an old fool, it is also true that there is no sage like an old sage. Borrowing quotes from philosophers and writers collected in a commonplace book over more than 60 years, in Stop the Clock Gordon described his own ascent into his golden years. Ascent, he insisted, not descent as so many politicians and economists would describe it as they discuss the concerns of the elderly the way parents sometimes speak to each other about their children while they are in the same room. Stop the Clock is Gordon McLauchlan’s poignant and insightful swan song, relevant and meaningful for all of us. It will make you not only stop and smell the roses, but consider Shakespeare and the homeless in the process"--https://www.batemanbooks.co.nz.

Summary There are two peoples living in the city of Ursa: the Cerels and the Travesters. Travesters move freely and enjoy a fine quality of life. Cerel men are kept in wild camps and the women are no longer allowed to have children. The Director presides over all with an iron fist. Fifteen-year-old Leho can't remember a time when Cerels lived without fear in Ursa. His parents once tried to organise an uprising - his mother was blinded, and his father was taken away. But now his world is changing. Revolution is coming. People will die. Will Leho be able to save his family?

Summary "When Debbie's grandmother gives her a copy of her forefather's old sea journal, she finds it fascinating. While Debbie's own diary tells of 1960s school life and troubles with her friends, excerpts from the diary of 1841 tell of the hardships of life on an emigrant sailing ship. At home, sick with glandular fever, Debbie feels transported back in time. Is it the fever, or is her long-dead relative trying to tell her something? Following a trip to visit relatives, Debbie boards the ferry to return home to Wellington. It is April 1968. The ferry's name is Wahine" --Publisher information.

Language  English with te reo Māori translations.

Summary  "Wheke means octopus in te reo Māori. For many cultures around Te Moana-nui-a-Kiwa / the Pacific Ocean, this resourceful, resilient, adventurous creatures is a symbol of early voyages of exploration and migration from the Polynesian homelands of Hawaiki. In Aotearoa New Zealand, conventional art history tells the stories of art that ties us to Britain and Europe. Te Wheke looks in a different direction - from the Pacific outwards. In this selection of art from the collection of Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū and beyond, Te Wheke opens up conversations about the journeys, tensions and connections that shape our past, present and future"--Back cover.

ISBN  0995113556
9780995113558 paperback
Format  304 pages : illustrations ; 24 cm
Summary  A fascinating deep-dive into the development of the Silver Ferns' traditions, the evolution of team culture and the nuts-and-bolts of leadership at an elite sporting level. The 12 legendary players and coaches interviewed - including Lois Muir, Leigh Gibbs, Sandra Edge, Bernice Mene, Ruth Aitken and Casey Williams - candidly discuss the highs and lows of their careers, and of the Silver Ferns, the effect of the intense rivalry with Australia, coping with gut-wrenching losses, and the resilience of players and coaches. For the first time the perspective of these key actors is the subject of serious analysis, and the book is a real insight into the psychology of a women's highperformance team. As such, it provides a practical guide for developing team culture and leadership for netball coaches at all levels. It also includes comments from Farah Palmer and Noeline Taurua on women in sport and leadership, and a brief history of New Zealand netball, including the gains and losses as netball moved into a semi-professional era, and the struggles for sponsorship and for media recognition, despite it being New Zealand's most popular team sport.

Summary  "Kidnapped as a young girl, her psychic powers harnessed by a madman, Memory lives a caged and isolated existence . . . until she comes face-to-face with a wolf. Labelled an empath by her bad-tempered rescuer, Memory knows that her 'gift' is nothing so bright. It is a terrible darkness that means she will always be hunted. But Memory is free now and she intends to live. A certain growly wolf can just deal with it. Alexei prefers to keep his packmates at bay, the bleak history of his family a constant reminder that mating, love, hope is not for him. But Memory, this defiant and fearless woman who stands toe-to-toe with him awakens the most primal part of his nature -- and soon, he must make a choice: risk everything or lose Memory to a murderous darkness that wants to annihilate her from existence . . ."--Publisher information.

- ISBN: 1787823016
- Format: 7 CDs (approximately 6 hr., 53 min.) : digital ; 12 cm
- Summary: Cynthia is twenty-one, bored and desperately waiting for something big to happen. Unemployed and living with her father, her existence is self-absorbed yet meaningless; her days absorbed by reality TV, social media and an obsession with her striking fitness instructor Anahera. When Cynthia suggests they run away together, it's not long before Anahera arrives at her door, ready to throw in the towel on her job and her marriage. With the contents of her father's bank account and her beloved dog Snot-head in tow, Cynthia escapes with Anahera to the beautiful Paihia, where they dock their new home - a claustrophobic old boat named BABY. Here, Cynthia dreams they will live in an idyllic state of love, but fails to consider several factors - and it's not long before events on an empty island turn their life together in a different direction.

Title  A conversation with my country / Alan Duff ; read by Alan Duff.
Creator  Duff, Alan, 1950-
ISBN  9780655632351 A$98.95 library ed.
Format  5 CDs (approximately 5 hr., 15 min.) : digital ; 12 cm
Summary  A fresh, personal account of New Zealand, now, from one of our hardest-hitting writers. Following Once Were Warriors, Alan Duff wrote Maori: The Crisis and the Challenge. His controversial comments shook the country. A quarter of a century later, New Zealand and Maoridom are in a very different place. And so is Alan - he has published many more books, had two films made of his works, founded the Duffy Books in Homes literacy programme and endured 'some less inspiring moments, including bankruptcy'. Returned from living in France, he views his country with fresh eyes, as it is now: homing in on the crises in parenting, our prisons, education and welfare systems and a growing culture of entitlement that entraps Pakeha and Maori alike. Never one to shy away from being a whetstone on which others can sharpen their own opinions, Alan tells it how he sees it.

Summary  When Hazel is given the chance to parachute into Nazi-occupied France, she seizes the opportunity to do more for the British war effort than file paperwork. Alongside her childhood friend, French-born Rose, she quickly rises up the ranks of the freedom fighters. For Rose, the Resistance is a link to her late husband, and a way to move forward without him. What starts out as helping downed airmen becomes a bigger cause when they meet Sophia, a German escapee and fierce critic of Hitler who is wanted by the Gestapo. Together, the three women will form a bond that will last a lifetime. But amid the turmoil and tragedy of warfare, all three risk losing everything, and everyone, they hold dear. Will their united front be strong enough to see them through?

Summary YOU TOOK ME AWAY FROM EVERYTHING I LOVED. IF YOU HADN'T TAKEN ME AWAY ... THEN MAYBE IT WOULD NEVER HAVE HAPPENED. On the New Year holiday, Widow Hazel opens her home on a Northland beach to her adult children - Sully, Anthony, twins Molly and Joe, and their families - who have come together from Australia, New Zealand and the Middle East. But like with all families, there is bad history. Molly is dreading having to spend time with her mother but she is pleased her son will see his cousins, and is looking forward to catching up with her brothers ... Joe in particular. A lot can happen over the course of a few days under the summer sun, as family tensions intensify and relationships become heightened. And Molly and Joe will not be the only ones with secrets that must be kept hidden ...

Summary  Food, family and fresh new beginnings. On the outskirts of a quiet hamlet on the New Zealand coast, Lia and her friend Anna work serious hours running their restored 'villa' cafe. The busy season, they know, is just around the corner. There are plenty of other things distracting them too. Anna is about to marry Lia's twin brother; Lia's older half-brother, who lives hours away on the family farm, looks like he might be disinherited by their curmudgeonly father; and Lia's ex-boyfriend seems not to understand it's over. And there's all the delicious cooking. Then when a gorgeous stranger taps on Lia's window near midnight and turns out not to be a serial killer, it seems a healthy new distraction could develop. But the past won't let them be, and when Lia's ex becomes dangerous, beginnings start to look like endings. Not only is the special connection between Lia and her twin tested, her fledgling romance looks like it might be just too complicated.

Summary  At the height of World War II, the British Air Transport Auxiliary need help. A group of young women volunteer for action, but the perils of their new job don't end on the tarmac. Things are tough in the air, but on the ground their abilities as pilots are constantly questioned. There is friction from the start between the new recruits. Spirited American Lizzie turns heads with her audacity, but few can deny her flying skills. She couldn't be more different from shy, petite Ruby, who is far from diminutive in the sky. It falls to pragmatic pilot May to bring the women together and create a formidable team capable of bringing the aircraft home. As these very different women fight to prove themselves up to the task at hand, they are faced with challenges and tragedies at every turn. They must fight for equal pay and respect while handling aircraft that are dangerously ill-equipped; meanwhile, lives continue to be lost in the tumult of war. Determined to assist the war effort doing what they love, can May, Lizzie and Ruby put aside their differences to overcome adversity, and will they find love in the skies?

I wasn't enjoying the afternoon of 23 February even before I learnt that my husband was having an affair. The news of her husband's infidelity comes as a nasty shock to Jenny Reynolds, part-time building control officer and full-time mother, even though, to her surprise and embarrassment, her first reaction is relief, not anguish. What really hurts is her children's unhappiness at the breakup, and the growing realisation that, alone, she may lose the family farm. This is the story of the year after Jenny's old life falls apart; of family and farming, pet lambs and geriatric dogs, choko-bearing tenants and Springsteen-esque neighbours. And of, just perhaps, a second chance at happiness.

Summary: "Founded by Fred Tomas, who has worked in the craft beer industry for over 10 years, Beer With Us is an opportunity to give back to the people and businesses who have supported him in the past. With the generous support from Planetwine and Beertique we offer contact-less delivery of your favourite craft beers while knowing you have helped small business ... Beer with us is a not for profit set up to support craft breweries and hospitality venues in the wake of the Covid-19 pandemic. These industries have been decimated by the lock down and this is our small way to help these businesses weather these strange times."--about us page.

Title: The conversation: academic rigour, journalistic flair.
Publishing Details: [New York] : The Conversation Media Group Ltd
Format: Web site.
Frequency: Irregular
Publication Numbering: Began in 2014?
Summary:
"The Conversation Global launched as a pilot project in September 2016. The Conversation is an independent source of news and views, from the academic and research community, delivered direct to the public ... Access to independent, high-quality, authenticated, explanatory journalism underpins a functioning democracy. Our aim is to allow for better understanding of current affairs and complex issues. And hopefully allow for a better quality of public discourse and conversations. We have introduced new protocols and controls to help rebuild trust in journalism. All authors and editors sign up to our Editorial Charter. And all contributors must abide by our Community Standards policy. We only allow authors to write on a subject on which they have proven expertise, which they must disclose alongside their article. Authors’ funding and potential conflicts of interest must be disclosed ... The Conversation was started in Melbourne, Victoria, by two co-founders: Andrew Jaspan and Jack Rejtman. The innovative technology platform and development team is based in the university and research precinct of Carlton. Our Global Newsroom is based in New York. We also have editors in Paris and Tokyo. Our team is part of an international network of editors from our dedicated sites in Australia, the UK, US, Africa, France and Canada. The Conversation is a free resource: free to read (we'll never go behind a paywall), and free to share or republish under Creative Commons: --who we are page."

Publication Numbering Began in 2017?

Summary "The Maxwell Fernie Trust was established to realise one of Maxwell Fernie's great hopes – that his musical legacy of organ music and choral polyphonica would continue long after he had gone. With this in mind, the Trust aims to foster interest and awareness of organ music and choral polyphonica (music of the late Middle Ages and Renaissance) by archiving and sharing the large body of work and music Maxwell produced in these fields. As well, the Trust also grants scholarships in Maxwell's name to young, up-and-coming New Zealand organists and conductors to help them gain further experience and exposure" -- home page.

Summary: "New era resolutions is a Nelson, New Zealand initiative set up by people who wanted to create a platform where resolutions for 'greener' & 'gentler' post-lockdown lifestyles can be shared. The website invites us to focus on the silver linings of the devastating Covid-19 pandemic and offers a means to hold on to promises we made ourselves while we pondered 'life after lockdown'. It expresses the hope that if we control our patterns of consumption, and act in a more considerate way towards each other and our environment, it might help prevent the biggest issues of our time – climate change and ecological collapse – from being eclipsed by the added crises of health and economy"—about page.
