Title: Productive thinking - Altafkeer Alentaji : a practical model to generate creative ideas / Nabeel Albahbooh.

Author: Albahbooh, Nabeel, 1978- author.

ISBN: 9780473456467 pbk

Edition: First edition

Physical Details: pages ; cm

Summary: "The natural tendency to solve problems is to choose the first solution that comes to mind. But the disadvantage of this strategy is that it may lead you to the gulf, or you anticipate another problem worse than the first ... The best strategy for solving problems is to choose the most attractive ways by generating a number of ideas or concepts. This book focuses primarily on developing the capacities and potentials to think and solve problems effectively, using a detailed presentation of the theory of "productive thinking" that is used to generate new ideas ... It is important for innovation, growth, capacity building and differentiation. The philosophy of productive thinking is that success in our business, our professional and personal lives focuses on what we think more than we know ... If we can develop thinking skills, generate more choices, and then evaluate these options more effectively, we can all live a more productive life. Productive thinking is dedicated to times when you need new ideas to meet the challenges ... You may not be willing to invest the effort to move from good to good, but you will definitely want to change for the better"--Provided by publisher.

Summary "Emma Gilkison is thrilled to be pregnant. She and her partner Roy have been trying for a year and finally it's happened. But during a routine twelve-week ultrasound she notices something strange: it looks as though their baby has a marble rolling on his chest. In fact, the baby's heart is growing outside his body – an extremely rare and usually fatal condition called ectopia cordis. The couple immediately begin researching the possibilities for surgery. When this is finally ruled out Emma is almost twenty weeks pregnant. They now face a heartbreaking decision. Should they end the pregnancy, or continue in the knowledge their baby will die? From different cultures – Emma raised in New Zealand and Roy in Peru – they walk an emotional minefield as they struggle to agree on a way forward. Seeking help and spiritual counsel from people of many different views and beliefs, they find hope, meaning and consolation in unexpected places. The Heart of Jesús Valentino is an extraordinary story about a young couple forced to go beyond their everyday experience and confront head-on issues of life and death. Powerful, honest and beautifully written, it moves all who read it, and is creating ripples in the medical world"--Back cover.

<td>&quot;This book is published to mark the opening of the Ko Rongowhakaata: The Story of Light and Shadow exhibition at Te Papa, which represents the culmination and breadth of Rongowhakaata history and whakaaro (considerations) and has the significant meeting house Te Hau ki Tūranga as its central statement of identity and aspiration. The book showcases more than 60 Rongowhakaata taonga, and its text, in English and te reo Māori, focuses on key threads including innovation and kaitiekitanga (sustainable processes). It also explores layers of encounter within Tūranga – Rongowhakaata and Gisborne iwi first encountered the British in 1769, during Captain Cook’s arrival in Poverty Bay – and the impacts of those encounters on the shape and position of the iwi, and indeed modern New Zealand, today&quot;--Publisher information.</td>

Contents Introduction : Family, race and narrative -- Section I. India : separations. Tea plantation families of northeast India -- St Andrew's colonial homes -- Section II. New Zealand : settlement. 1910s : pathway to a settler colony -- 1920s : working the permit system -- 1930s : decline and discontinuance -- Section III. Transnational families. Independence -- Recovering Kalimpong -- Conclusion : a transcultural challenge.

Summary "A 20th-century saga of interracial Anglo-Indian tea dynasties prised apart and scattered as far away as New Zealand"--Provided by publisher. "In the early 20th century, the 'problem' of interracial relations between British colonials and natives was a hotly debated topic in British India. One Scottish missionary's solution was to isolate and raise the mixed-race children of British tea planters and local women in an institution in Kalimpong, in the foothills of the Himalayas, before permanently resettling them--far from their maternal homeland--as workers in New Zealand. Historian Jane McCabe leads us through a compelling research journey that began with uncovering the story of her own grandmother, Lorna Peters, one of 130 adolescents resettled in New Zealand under the scheme between 1908 and 1938. Using records from the 'Homes' in Kalimpong and in-depth interviews with other descendants in New Zealand, she crafts a compelling, evocative, and unsentimental yet moving narrative--one that not only brings an untold part of imperial history to light, but also transforms previously broken and hushed family histories into an extraordinary collective story. This book attends to both the affective dimension of these traumatic familial disruptions, and to the larger economic and political drivers that saw government and missionary schemes breaking up Anglo-Indian families--schemes that relied on future forgetting"--Provided by publisher.

<td>This book offers parents an understanding of the key tools required to give your child the best start in learning to read and write. It is based on the simple concept that how you talk, read and write with your child will directly affect their success in reading and writing for the rest of their lives. Frances Adlam is an educationalist who has vast experience in guiding parents to raise a child who thrives at reading and writing. In this book she shares toolkits of key ideas that you can use to enhance this process. You will be encouraged to know that your child's aptitude for learning to read and write at school is largely shaped by the language, reading and writing experiences you offer her or him from birth, something that is easily achieved by any engaged parent. Frances also explains how to work with children with learning differences, such as dyslexia. Weaving together science-based evidence with her work in the field of education, Frances shows how, in this busy, technologically based world we live in, the way to grow a child's brain for success in reading and writing is based on child development principles of positive relationships, communication, language and self-expression. Raise Your Child to Read and Write is an indispensable guide for all parents of children from birth to seven years, who want to optimise their child's learning development.</td>

Summary  Laid-back Kiwi humour at its best, this will have you laughing out loud and cringing in recognition at the same time. Based on the hugely popular Facebook page 'Shit Towns of New Zealand', this book describes New Zealand's towns and suburbs from the affluent to the effluent, the rural to the urinal, profiling all the best places not to visit, or heaven forbid, live. Slagging off our towns is as much a national pastime as binge drinking and ball sports. Ever since a Dutch bloke in a sailboat did a drive-by and claimed to have discovered the place, New Zealanders have revelled in taking the mickey. The towns and cities reviewed here have been carefully selected using an exacting set of scientific criteria, combined with extensive field research and a healthy sense of humour.

Summary Amphibians are among the most threatened groups of animals on earth. In part due to their highly permeable skin, amphibians are highly sensitive to environmental changes and pollution and provide an early-warning system of deteriorating environmental conditions. The more we learn about the impact of environmental changes on amphibians, the better we as humans will be able to arrest their demise, and our own.

Summary: We Had One of Those Too! is a celebration of the cars commonly seen on New Zealand roads during the golden age of motoring, from 1950 through to 1970, and before cars started to all look and drive the same. Following on the bumper of its best-selling companion We Had One of Those! This book is filled with a further collection of cars that Kiwis loved and drove during these decades. Beautifully illustrated with the car sales brochures of the period, this classic artwork also forms a chronological survey of design trends. Accompanying the brochures are descriptions of each car that mix technical details with social history. These were the cars we kept for years that carried us back and forth to work, took us on holidays, to rugby matches, to the shops and the pub. Included are British models such as the Jowett Javelin, Austin Atlantic, Rover 90, Jaguar E-Type and the Triumph Spitfire, American makes such as the Ford Mustang and the Chevrolet Camaro, the Aussie Holden Torana, and European cars such as the Volkswagen Karmann Ghia and the Fiat Crusader. Now mostly disappeared from New Zealand roads and rarely seen, these cars are still held in fond regard – We Had One of Those Too! is nostalgia on four wheels.

Author  Williams, Suzy, (author), author.
ISBN  9780994132321

Physical Details  164 pages ; 23 cm
Summary  "This book tells the life of Suzy Williams, who grew from British army childhood to today being a recently retired New Zealander, who shares seven marriages between her and her spouse of twenty-seven years. Suzy suffered from serious childhood sexual abuse, followed by a series of three marriages and various relationships where she was abused, used, faced crisis's, was life threatened and cast aside over a period of forty years. These 'forty years of adventure' are full of the strangest and worst events and situations that would, at the very least, scare-to-death, or at worst seem un-surmountable to a normal person. Sometimes they are outrageously funny or weird, but nevertheless are true. You would think that anyone exposed to these events, that cut-to the bone, would preclude this anyone ever being able to overcome and live a half-decent life, without being a mental wreck. And yet Suzy does overcome, with divine assistance, when all other avenues and options had failed her. She shows others living her old life and circumstances that they too should not succumb but be overcomers like Suzy.
Answers to YOUR real-life questions are here. This book should have appeal to anyone, male or female, rich or poor, secular or any religion; that whatever their circumstances are 'now' they too can fight their way out of oppression and find their way to happiness. Counsellor's, those needing counselling, those who find unanswerable questions in their life and those looking for inspiration or to give inspiration need to take a leaf or two from Suzy's book"—Back cover.

Title Tart & bitter : four decades of dining nightmares / the best of David Burton in the Dominion Post.

Author Burton, David, author.

ISBN 9780947503970 print

Physical Details 155 pages ; 24 cm

Summary Over his long career as a restaurant critic, David Burton has written approximately 2000 restaurant reviews for The Dominion Post and its predecessor The Evening Post, as well as Cuisine magazine. Of these, the vast majority have been either positive or at least mixed. However, working on the principle that as much as people might affect to publicly disapprove of negative criticism, in fact they secretly thrive on it, Tart & Bitter is a selection of what he calls his ‘absolute scorchers’. These reviews span four decades from the 1980s, and along with small nuggety bits from many of his equivocating columns, build a highly entertaining picture of the most ground-breaking era of New Zealand’s restaurant history. Acerbic and hilarious, these reviews feature a roll call of enraged chefs and owners, a stream of defamation threats in the era before the law changed, and an insightful glimpse into the worst moments of Wellington’s restaurant culture. Anyone interested in New Zealand food will delight in this wicked and compelling book.

Physical Details  xvi, 268 pages : illustrations (some coloured) ; 24 cm
Summary  "From the Old Mill Disco in Timaru to San Francisco’s ACT UP protests, through Jazzercise and drag, AIDS and homosexual law reform, I Have Loved Me a Man takes readers inside the social revolution that has moved New Zealand from the 1960s to the present day through the story of the one, the only, queer Māori performance artist: Mika. Mika grew up in Timaru, was adopted into a white family, and learnt Māori culture from the back of a cereal box. He discovered disco in the 1970s, worked with Carmen, Dalvanius Prime, Merata Mita and others to develop outrageous stage shows that toured the world, played a policeman on television in Shark in the Park and came out on screen with Harvey Keitel, playing a takatāpui role in Jane Campion’s Academy Award-winning film The Piano. Mika has never been in the closet: his life has been an ongoing production of both the fabulous and the revolutionary. This highly visual book interweaves archival and historical research with images hand-picked from Mika’s extensive archive to reveal the life and times of a queer brown boy from Aotearoa who took on the big white world"--Publisher information.

Summary
"Savaged to Suit: Māori and cartooning in New Zealand is a pioneering study by Paul Diamond. In the earliest cartoons featuring Māori, they appeared as fearsome savages; today they are likely to be drawn in corporate-world suits. The book concentrates on the period from the 1930s to the 1990s, but also looks back to the first cartoons showing Māori and includes 21st century images. Savaged to Suit looks at how Māori and Māori culture and life were seen by cartoonists in a succession of stereotypes over many decades of changing perceptions and attitudes. The book considers how these stereotypes criticised Māori and their culture – sometimes savagely – to 'suit' cartoonists' agendas. Chapters deal with cultural practices, material culture, Māori language, politics, the Treaty of Waitangi, Māori in time of war, and the significance of sport. Paul Diamond also looks at the work and approaches taken by the small number of Māori cartoonists. The book features 250 cartoons – the first ever collection that captures the attitudes and feelings of each period and underlines the importance of editorial cartoons as valuable historical sources"--Inside front flap.

Summary "The small, run-down town of Eden is the only place Jenny Burns has ever called home. The roots of the trees are in her bones, the air of the mountains is in her breath, the lakes and rivers are in her blood. And that's why, when her father loses his job and tells Jenny that they may have to move on from Eden, she knows she can't let that happen. The fever of New Zealand's gold rush still runs in the veins of Eden, and everyone knows the legend of Doc Magee: how he found the largest gold nugget anyone had ever seen and hid it somewhere in the hills before he disappeared. Jenny and her best friend, Pandora, know that if they can find the gold, it'll solve all their problems. But the way is fraught with mysteries, riddles, and danger—and those are just the threats they know about. Before her quest is over, Jenny will have to face challenges from within as well as from without"-- Publisher's website.

Summary  "Describes the historical background for the decision of Ngaiterangi warriors to join the fighting against the British, including their attacks on south Auckland settlers and troops. Ngaiterangi fought as part of a pre-Treaty alliance, formed during the bloody inter-tribal wars of the 1820s and 1830s. The reasons why almost 2,000 British troops were sent to Tauranga in 1864 are more straightforward. Tauranga was not only an important staging post for tribesmen from the East Coast and Bay of Plenty on their way to fight alongside the Kingite rebels in the Waikato, but was also supplying the Kingites with food and gunpowder. It was to stop all this and to impose law and order in what was a rather lawless place that the British carried out a military campaign, in co-operation with the loyal Arawa tribe, in and around Tauranga in the first half of 1864."--Back cover.

It is more unusual to hear conversations in an unknown language, yet understand them. It is most unusual to view events on the other side of the world in real time as you sleep. Yet all these happened to Blake, starting the night of his tenth birthday. In his innocence he thought others would believe his story. He soon learned such things were best kept to himself. Summary  "Daisy was a young, naïve sheltered woman who, through a tragedy, was pushed into a world of abuse and torment at the hands of a man she thought she was in love with. Alone, scared, and helpless, she prayed for help. That was until she received a telephone call which changed her world, and led her to the bright lights of Auckland. Daisy thought, finally she was safe. Nothing would prepare her for what was to follow. From out of nowhere, she met a man who would give her a reason to live, laugh, and learn to love. Was she strong enough to believe that beautiful things came to those who dared to dream? Or would the memory of her abuse etched into the depths of her mind take control, and send her back to her secret dark place, alone and frightened once more. Could the light of a rainbow shine brightly from the depths of a cold gray nothing? Or would she remain forever in the shadows"--Back cover.

Summary: "Be very afraid because Vampires do walk the Earth and they are a lot more evil and wicked than attested to in legends. These ‘night walkers’ or demons of the night don’t burn in the sunlight, and they walk amongst us during the day with all the charm and beauty of youthful longevity, but this charismatic façade cloaks a malevolent alienity which thirsts and sups on our blood and which if given the opportunity will also rape or tear at our flesh in a horrific bloody primeval ritual that is deeply rooted in their dark and sinister past. From amidst this evil there emerge a few lesser vampires with an affinity for mankind who are ruthlessly hunted down to be stilled into a living purgatory, but from one of the survivors two unique children are bred who develop near-magical talents which install fear into the ‘night walkers’ and which aids them in their attempt to rid the world from such malevolence"--Back cover.

Summary  "Another stand-alone SF thriller in the Red Tide series. Roland and Erik Borg and their rambunctious telepathic cat Telesphorus, appear to have taken on more than they had expected when they reluctantly accept an assignment to investigate a series of headless male victims. Dubbed the 'Red Queen' killings, they appear to be without motive or commonality, and the means of egress to the crime scenes challenges any reasonable explanation. Unfortunately a freak incident dampens Roland's considerable paranormal skills and their efforts and safety are seriously put at risk. With the horrific killings accelerating and the mystery deepening, they have to call on a couple of clairvoyant friends to assist them while Roland struggles to regain his skills.

Physical Details 396 pages ; 23 cm.
Summary "As the young disoriented Simon Hadley finally gets a grip onto his repressed sorcery skills, he puts all of his efforts into finding his missing friends. Eventually, reunited, they strive to avoid recapture as they also try to come to terms with the different society that is emerging under the umbrella of the Directorate Treaty. Their previous adversary, Ithamar, the black modern-day sorcerer, has been killed by the Ark, but the wealthy and ruthless cartel that he allied with is achieving repressive power throughout the western world, with their contrived imposition of the widespread anti-terrorist Treaty. In the past two years the world has split into two diverse groups, and as events escalate out of control to a likely nuclear confrontation, a remnant of the ancients' magic intervenes to assist them in escaping this turmoil into the far reaches of outer space. As they struggle to make a place for themselves in a warring feudal society, Simon realizes that have followed the ancient footprints left by the alien Carzars, and begins to accept the concepts of the prophecy devised by these aliens in antiquity, which explains his checkered background and foretells of an enigmatic future"--Back cover.

"When a catastrophic event rips an entire continent apart and obliterates it from existence, events occur which ripple through two disparate worlds. As a dynasty of peaceful wizards is terminated abruptly on one world, an adverse dynasty of evil sorcerers rises in another. With the Gateway between the two worlds destroyed, any survivors would now be cut off from the font of magic, but would a scion of this vanquished family be acceptable to the Source as the successor? If so, would he have the wisdom and skill to successfully confront another font of magic permeated with malevolence and wickedness, and evil that threatens not only the Tamaran continent but even the lands beyond the All Waters? As these events swirl unknowingly around Djorn the Outlander, he recovers consciousness from a blow to the head, and finds himself lying on a parched rugged mountainside in the heat of a blazing sun, and realizes that he hasn't any idea of whom or where he is. He certainly isn't prepared for his encounter with the telepathic alien native species, but fortunately, finds them intelligent and friendly. They lead him to mankind who are the dominant inhabitants of this continent, but he quickly learns that both species are in mortal danger by the rapid rise of a cult of dark and powerful Sorcerers. Inevitably he gets caught up in the events sweeping across the continent, as the Imperial forces allied to the dark Sorcerers continue on their quest to invade and conquer the ancient independent kingdoms and to vanquish the druids"--Back cover.

Connell, grandson of Wolfhaven's chief, is hungry for adventure; and eager to explore the world beyond the boundaries of where he grew up. Is this a plan set for failure? Only Lupa, Goddess of Wolves, can know; for it is she who bends destiny to her will. Thayer, heir apparent and Connell's older brother, has found love with Lena - Mistress of the Moon - and daughter of Silver Ridge's alpha. Yet, the course of true love never runs smooth. Lena is matched to another. A wolf of her father's choosing. Fierce and strong, Kellan is Arden's second and will make the perfect mate. If only Lena wished it. Silver Ridge, a world of zealotry and submission, is no place for a freethinking female. Especially not one, whose lover whispers of a world beyond her father's reach. Will Connell's dreams of freedom and adventure be thwarted, as Thayer and Kellan challenge for the right to claim Lena as their own? Or will Lena resolve to put the traditions of her pack and the demands of her father over those of her own heart?"--Back cover.

Summary: "The Shahar Chronicles is a series following the life and destiny of the sorcerer, Simon Hadley. Fairy tales and magic are usually found in the realm of fantasy, but that all changes when an archaeological dig unearths things that would have been better left buried. Ancient artifacts created millennia ago by aliens, restores some magic to the world, as two disparate sorcerers begin to wield power that could twist all the preconceived laws of nature. Adopting the name of a Hebrew High Priest of ancient biblical times, one of these sorcerers seeks ascendancy and power, and allies himself with a cartel of corrupt wealthy moguls. His antagonist is an unsuspecting young man who is struggling with his bizarre magical inheritance, and this reluctant twenty-first-century magician moves to confront and resist this growing font of evil. Such power comes with a price and a purpose, but neither adept is cognizant of the magnitude of the ancient prophecy which is unfolding around them. Plans set in place millennia ago are slowly and intricately falling into place and unleashing events that should eventually intervene to prevent the impending chaos that threatens two universes"--Back cover.

"Bobby Baxter is a gifted student with a roguish and mischievous personality who starts a medical internship just before his twenty-third birthday, and after the years of being intensely immersed in serious study, he had a lot of living and sex with which to catch up. He reunites with his hometown best buddy who is of the same impish and happy-go-lucky disposition as himself, and who like him can often see the humor in a situation where others can see only a dilemma, and with whom he soon develops an intense relationship. After he accepts the position in the small quiet town, they both move there, and soon discover that it isn’t at all like it seems, and as they scratch the surface of its secretive side they are swept up into the periphery of an alternative lifestyle of sex, greed, and violence"--Synopsis.

Summary: "In Northwest North America, it is the beginning of the election season for the twenty-third century. There are political rallies and speeches throughout, but also, an alarming rate of violent riots. Even more distressing is that none of the demonstrators remembered why they rioted. Dr. Kailyn DeKendran, head of the Acoustic Research Department, and her sister Jayanta, are drawn into the fray, both trying to understand what is behind the riots. When Kailyn disappears, Jayanta, Kailyn's wife Rhyannon, and her star student Caryl, band together to find the doctor. and unravel the cause of the riots. Time is running out, and the riots are getting more violent. Will they find Kailyn before it is too late to put an end to the madness that has overtaken them?"--Back cover of print version.

Summary: "Rick Edwards' young life is turned upside down when his dad returns from the war and the family moves from Aunt Marge's Idaho farm to Southern California. There, surrounded by the river bottom and the orange groves, with the beach, mountains, and desert a short drive away, Rick discovers a cadre of friends. Confronted with their fathers at home instead of at war, new neighborhoods, new threats—nuclear holocaust, polio, a war in Korea—the boys unite as The Dead Possum Gang. Together, they face the mysteries of boys becoming men. When Diane moves in next door to Rick, she brings her flute, friendship, and danger in the form of her step-brother, Larry. After tragedy strikes the Dead Possum Gang, the boys discover what friendship, loyalty, and life's hard lessons are all about"—Publisher's website.

Summary "This is a second dangerous red tide paranormal adventure, where Roland and Eric Borg accept an assignment from their mysterious secret service benefactor. Along with scores of other women, the daughter of an influential tycoon has been abducted under strange circumstances, and there is a call for an unorthodox approach in the investigation. A road accident, a serial rapist, and a gay accountant are all in the mix of a conspiracy to stretch the imagination. As their Borg antagonists begin to seek them out, the Borg cousins are stunned as the fabric of time and space are warped into other realities, as Roland’s alienity reacts frantically to protect them from marauding and ruthless criminals. Gradually, the investigation moves forward as the cousins unmask the beast who is behind the scores of missing woman, and they discover an adversary with skills to match their own. All is not what it seems and what they uncover defies belief, and is so explosive that it proves to be a secret which should be sealed and forgotten"--Synopsis.

Summary  "Forced into a corner by her family, Kendall Essex has one option if she wants peace. She leaves her Devon home to visit her friend in Churchill, Manitoba. While she’s aware her ostrich-head-in-the-sand plan isn’t the best, she hopes for breathing space from familial pressure and distraction. The big, burly Hallsten brothers provide that and more. Half-breed Saxby Hallsten has never fit in the polar bear shifter world. If he had his way, he’d never return to Churchill, but personal business forces him to venture north. His two younger half-brothers—both full polar bear shifters—are ecstatic at seeing their home and family again, but the memories of the past haunt Sax. The only good thing about Churchill is meeting Kendall, but even she presents a dilemma because both Sax and his two brothers are attracted to her. She’s curvy and smart and the perfect woman for them. Persuading her to date them takes finesse and creative strategy. Coaxing her to accept them as a package deal might take a miracle since she knows nothing of shifters. But one night Kendall disappears, and the Hallsten brothers’ secret collides with Kendall’s past and her future. Ignoring trouble is no longer the solution if any of them want a happy-ever-after in this non-traditional relationship."

Summary "Be very afraid because Vampires do walk the Earth and they are a lot more evil and wicked than attested to in legends. These 'night walkers' or demons of the night don't burn in the sunlight, and they walk amongst us during the day with all the charm and beauty of youthful longevity, but this charismatic façade cloaks a malevolent alienity which thirsts and sups on our blood and which if given the opportunity will also rape or tear at our flesh in a horrific bloody primeval ritual that is deeply rooted in their dark and sinister past. From amidst this evil there emerge a few lesser vampires with an affinity for mankind who are ruthlessly hunted down to be stilled into a living purgatory, but from one of the survivors two unique children are bred who develop near-magical talents which install fear into the 'night walkers' and which aids them in their attempt to rid the world from such malevolence. To do this, they need to discover the source of these Vampires, so they and three others undertake a quest to find the long forgotten mountain stronghold of their mysterious and no doubt powerful progenitors"--Synopsis.

Summary "It's 2037. Humans worldwide are losing their jobs to artificial intelligence. Everyone needs money to survive, including Eden Shepherd, who agrees to spend a year inside a biodome experiment with 11 popular kids from her high school, plus Adam Turing, the most hated nerd in school. Eden and her friends are each paid one million dollars cash up front to stay inside the biodome for a year. Who wouldn't say yes? It begins well, with a delivery of junk food, no curfew, and Eden hopes to finally lose her virginity to somebody popular. The trouble is, robot scientists built the biodome over an abandoned suburb. Here there are no supermarkets, no electricity, no food or drink when the snacks run out. No bank for Eden to keep her million safe from her enemies – or her friends. There is no panic button when the group descends into anarchy and Adam's crew of outcasts violently establish a new pecking order. When money can't protect her, Eden must protect herself – as well as the baby Adam put inside her"--Moneyland.

Summary  "Estranged from his aristocratic family for choosing art over a third son's proper path, Mr. Clayton Irving lives in wretched circumstances. His only joys are his friends and an extraordinary talent for sensual portraits, until the perfect opportunity arises: paint the empress Lady Susanna Fenton. All his financial woes gone... if he can hide his fierce craving for her - and even more forbidden - her husband Lord Joseph Fenton. In the eyes of the world the Fentons have it all: staggering wealth, position, and a caring union. Yet their smiles hide a marriage broken by secrets and pretense. The wicked portrait is a last effort to save it, and Susanna and Joseph soon discover that sinfully handsome Clayton is key to a passionate and happy new start for them all. But secrets always reveal themselves, and those who break the rules are punished. Can an unconventional ménage truly defy all for love?"

Author: Dillon, Kerry Hugh, 1936- author.

Summary: "A sixty-thousand-year old artifact and a brilliant but indifferent researcher set the scene for a series of paranormal acts which seriously challenge the concept of what mankind views as normal. When Roland Kendrick accompanied his fellow journalist to Portland for a long weekend break, he is unprepared for the events which subsequently unfold, and he finds himself on the periphery of a series of brutal murders. This misfortune propels him right into the midst of it, and the rapidly mounting danger causes him to flee into the unknown where he skirts around a dark underworld of greed, sex, and violence. Since adolescence, he had developed a weird psychic warning of danger which he calls his red tide, and now this talent narrowly assists him to avoid his assailants. His subsequent friendship with an aggressive blond Norseman and a rambunctious cat might make for an unholy and unlikely alliance, but they are both well suited to assist him to cope and survive in this threatening lifestyle, and slowly the bond between them develops into a formidable force. Gradually his heritage comes to the fore, and he develops more latent and strange psychic and paranormal abilities which assist them in their struggles against their assailants, and they set out to confront them and to discover what secrets these evil cultists strive so viciously to conceal"--Synopsis.

Summary  "Roland and Erik Borg and their rambunctious telepathic cat Telesphorus, appear to have taken on more than they had expected when they reluctantly accept an assignment to investigate a series of headless male victims. Dubbed the 'Red Queen' killings, they appear to be without motive or commonality, and the means of egress to the crime scenes challenges any reasonable explanation. Unfortunately a freak incident dampens Roland's considerable paranormal skills and their efforts and safety are seriously put at risk. With the horrific killings accelerating and the mystery deepening, they have to call on a couple of clairvoyant friends to assist them while Roland struggles to regain his skills"--Synopsis.

Summary  "As the young disoriented Simon Hadley finally gets a grip on his repressed sorcery skills, he puts all of his efforts into finding his missing friends. Eventually, reunited, they strive to avoid recapture as they also try to come to terms with the different society that is emerging under the umbrella of the Directorate Treaty. Their previous adversary, Ithamar, the black modern-day Sorcerer, has been killed by the Ark, but the wealthy and ruthless cartel that he allied with is achieving repressive political power throughout the western world, with their contrived imposition of the widespread Anti-terrorist Treaty. In the past two years the world has split into two diverse groups, and as events escalate out of control to a likely nuclear confrontation, a remnant of the ancients' magic intervenes to assist them in escaping this turmoil into the far reaches of outer space. As they struggle to make a place for themselves in a warring feudal society, Simon realizes they have followed the ancient footprints left by the alien Carzars, and begins to accept the concepts of the prophecy devised by these aliens in antiquity, which explains his checkered background and foretells of a long and enigmatic future"--Synopsis.

Summary: "Unsolved deaths. Untold treasure. Can she uncover the secret of her inheritance before dark forces claim another victim? Graysie Castellanos is ready to take her final bow. When the traveling singer inherits a rundown mine, she thinks it's her golden opportunity to provide her adopted daughter with a happy childhood and a prosperous future. But their bright new beginning crumbles underfoot when the townsfolk of the Sierra Nevada mining town start dropping dead of mysterious causes. If Nathan Russell had listened to his gut, he'd have cleared out of Grass Valley before the first corpse turned cold. But the Aussie-born adventurer refuses to abandon the gorgeous singer and her young child to their doom. And when his old rival arrives in town looking to stir up trouble, he only gets pulled deeper into the mystery of the dark forces taking control. With no choice but to press forward, Graysie and Nathan must solve the riddle of the deaths before the shadowy culprit adds their names to the tombstone"--Back cover of print version.

"The natural tendency to solve problems is to choose the first solution that comes to mind. But the disadvantage of this strategy is that it may lead you to the gulf, or you anticipate another problem worse than the first ... The best strategy for solving problems is to choose the most attractive ways by generating a number of ideas or concepts. This book focuses primarily on developing the capacities and potentials to think and solve problems effectively, using a detailed presentation of the theory of "productive thinking" that is used to generate new ideas ... It is important for innovation, growth, capacity building and differentiation. The philosophy of productive thinking is that success in our business, our professional and personal lives focuses on what we think more than we know ... If we can develop thinking skills, generate more choices, and then evaluate these options more effectively, we can all live a more productive life. Productive thinking is dedicated to times when you need new ideas to meet the challenges ... You may not be willing to invest the effort to move from good to good, but you will definitely want to change for the better"--Provided by publisher.

Summary  "When Djorn recovers consciousness lying on a parched rugged mountainside in the full heat of a blazing sun, he realizes that he hasn’t any idea of whom or where he is. As he gathers his wits about him and starts on the long climb down, the landscape changes and his descent takes him down into the lush valleys below. Faced with worrying unfamiliar vegetation, his fears are compounded when he is suddenly confronting by a frightening alien creature. He is amazed to discover that the creature is telepathic and friendly, and that despite its alieninity and appearance that it is sentiment and highly intelligent. He is further stunned when it solemnly informs him that he himself is tinged with an aura of sorcery, but although such iniquity is at present subjugating much of the land, it is prepared to accept that he is bereft of such evil. After receiving some brief disputed hospitality in its village, he is given some helpful instruction and sent on his way to integrate with those of his own kind in the plains further below, along with the warning to avoid the lands and conquests of the dark emperor and his malevolent living god. Unfortunately his journey is intercepted by fate, and he is inexplicably drawn into a conflict of imperial brutality and powerful black sorcery and magic, that propels him into a bitter struggle to survive"--Synopsis.

Summary  "When a catastrophic event rips an entire continent apart and obliterates it from existence, events occur which ripple through two disparate worlds. As a dynasty of peaceful wizards is terminated abruptly on one world, an adverse dynasty of evil sorcerers rises in another. With the Gateway between the two worlds destroyed, any survivors would now be cut off from the font of magic, but would a scion of this vanquished family be acceptable to the Source as the successor? If so, would he have the wisdom and skill to successfully confront another font of magic permeated with malevolence and wickedness, and evil that threatens not only the Tamaran continent but even the lands beyond the All Waters? As these events swirl unknowingly around Djorn the Outlander, he recovers consciousness from a blow to the head, and finds himself lying on a parched rugged mountainside in the heat of a blazing sun, and realizes that he hasn't any idea of whom or where he is. He certainly isn't prepared for his encounter with the telepathic alien native species, but fortunately, finds them intelligent and friendly. They lead him to mankind who are the dominant inhabitants of this continent, but he quickly learns that both species are in mortal danger by the rapid rise of a cult of dark and powerful Sorcerers. Inevitably he gets caught up in the events sweeping across the continent, as the Imperial forces allied to the dark Sorcerers continue on their quest to invade and conquer the ancient independent kingdoms and to vanquish the druids"--Synopsis.

Summary "What if all your dreams—the good ones and the nightmares—came to life in the real world? Heaven is a Dream Weaver, and that is her reality. When she wakes up, she never knows what will greet her or her best friend and roommate, Syl. It could be a sexy stripper or a monster from another dimension. When Syl suggests a Dream Catcher to help her control the dreams, Heaven is wary until she meets the alluring Maya. Heaven knows the government-run Dream Center hasn’t given up on harnessing her powerful abilities for their own nefarious purposes. She also knows that Maya could be her only hope. Maya introduces Heaven to her sister, Leah, and Heaven soon learns that Leah has her own agenda related to the Dream Center, and she’ll do anything to see it through. Between the government, the powerful Dream Catching sisters, and her own nightmares, time is running out for Heaven. She wonders who she can trust. Are her growing feelings for Maya real, or just another dream? Can this lovely Dream Catcher protect her or is Heaven truly on her own?"--Back of the book.

Summary "Final report of the Waitangi Tribunal (permanent commission of inquiry) concerning the Crown's response to the wreck of the MV Rena on Otaiti (Astrolabe Reef). It follows on from the Tribunal's interim report on the same issue, which found that the Crown's consultation process with Māori in preparation for deciding the resource consent application to leave the wreck on the reef had breached the Treaty of Waitangi principles of good faith and partnership. The Tribunal found that the Crown has failed in its duty to act reasonably, honourably, and in good faith, and it made recommendations designed to remedy the prejudice caused to the claimants"--Publisher information.

Summary  "A young English labourer left Liverpool looking for a better life in Australia. He met and married a young woman not long after he arrived but the relationship was doomed from the start. He decided life would be better on the other side of the ditch, so he boarded a ship and sailed for New Zealand. Arriving in 1953, he found lodgings in a boarding house in Auckland and work in the city. He also found the love of his life – the eighteen year old daughter of the woman who ran the house where he lived. They became lovers and soon talked of marriage but he neglected to tell her, in case she left him, that he was already married and trying to get a divorce. His girlfriend became suspicious of his actions and eventually she and her mother cornered him about his reticence. After learning he was unavailable, his girlfriend left him and began seeing other men. But he was determined to win her back, though she wasn't averse to him buying her clothes and meals. One day he hit on a plan that would make her see he was worthy, only it went horribly wrong – a terrible accident. And for that, he paid with his life. The government had the chance to sentence him to manslaughter, but instead they gave him the death sentence. The conservative National government felt that the ultimate punishment would send a powerful message to those indulging in such hedonistic lifestyles. They were determined to get political mileage out of it. He was murdered because it was politically advantageous in the wake of the morals (Mazengarb) report and community anxiety over juvenile delinquency of the 50s" -- Publisher's website.

Summary  "The High Kingdom is now the Luccelli Empire, and Simon the Sorcerer is content in his home at Torstein Tower with little interest in the affairs of the outside world. The powerful magic of Haadis and the ancient installations of the Carzar aliens, provide him with countless rewarding days of study. Now as a Sorcerer of considerable power, he faces pleas from King Brad to assist the Empire in repelling a barbaric invasion from the Divine Union in the south, which is being led by the evil and ruthless Godchild Sorcerer. Previous unpleasant events leave him hesitant to intervene until three incidents reshape his thinking. Firstly, through an engineered twist of time, his understanding of reality is shattered when he finds himself in the presence of the most omnipotent creature to ever exist in the universe. Now he learns the reasons for these transposed Haadis civilizations and the importance that he holds in prophecy. Secondly, he encounters an evil species so horrendous and powerful that the fabric of the Dome is threatened. Finally, he discovers the true identity of the Godchild and is no longer reluctant to come to the aid of the Empire."

Summary: "The hour is late. The candle is low. Tomorrow I will see whether it is my friends or a ship homewards I meet. But I must finish my story for you first. My future, my descendant, my mokopuna. Listen. 'So begins the tale of James Poneke: orphaned son of a chief; ardent student of English; wide-eyed survivor. All the world's a stage, especially when you're a living exhibit. But anything can happen to a young New Zealander on the savage streets of Victorian London. When James meets the man with laughing dark eyes and the woman who dresses as a man, he begins to discover who people really are beneath their many guises. Although London is everything James most desires, this new world is more dark and dazzling than he could have imagined."
