Why have humans turned forests into farms?

How are values and beliefs reflected in physical environments?

Is a farm a ‘better’ use of land than a forest?

Me tiaki pēhea nei te mauri?

What is your fertile question?

Image description:
The beginning of a bush burn on Puketora Station, in the East Coast region. Photograph taken by Frederick Ashby Hargreaves between 1900 and 1920.

Find out more at:
bit.ly/puketora

Or try searching:
Forest burning